Special Program Slated, Hubbard

HUBBARD, March 25—Easter will bring a special program in the Sunday school and regular church services will be merged into one service, at which time members of the Sunday school will give an Easter program. The pastor's sermon will be included in the program, as will several numbers from the primary department, a song from each class, several vocal and instrumental solos and a play, "We Carry On," by a cast of 10.

The play will follow the morning sermon. After the services a community basket dinner will be served in the L. O. O. F. hall dining room, under the direction of the Federated church guild. Those in charge are Mrs. Glen Larkins, Mrs. H. E. Adams, Mrs. George Leffler and Miss Kathryn Hauk. Everyone is invited.

Good Attendance Is Had At Assembly of God Meet This Week at Silverton

SILVERTON, March 25—The fellowship meeting of the Assembly of God churches of northern Oregon, sponsored this week by the local assembly of which Rev. O. R. Cross is pastor, was well attended. The Knights of Pythias hall, where the meetings were held, was filled and around 150 enjoyed the fellowship lunch set-togethers.

There were about 25 pastors present, representing territory from Springfield to Toledo and to Camas, Wash. Among the speakers were Rev. Wesley Kaufman, formerly pastor of the Assembly of God church at Astoria, who spoke on "The Revelation of Christ" and Rev. Albert Dolard of Corvallis, who's subject was "On the Perfection." The programs included special music.

Another Work of Art Stolen From Corvallis Campus

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, March 25—"Little Nude Figure," a priceless original of James McNeil Whistler, from the collection of Leasing J. Rosenwald of England, was removed from its frame in Kidder hall on the O. S. C. campus sometime before 9 o'clock this morning, Professor J. Leo Fairbanks, head of the college art department, reported to the Corvallis police department today.

This is the second time in three weeks that art work on exhibit in Kidder for the benefit of students and townspeople has been stolen, according to members of the art department instructional staff.

The local police were given all available clues and will attempt to stop this vandalism.
