

Bearcats Vanquish Orangemen Twice More

Double Header Win Lengthens Supremacy Record to 4 Years As Annual Series Completed

Rally in Ninth Needed to Win Last Contest Though Oregon State Held to Four Hits in Each Game; Scores at Corvallis Are 9-2 and 5-4

WILLAMETTE university kept its baseball superiority over Oregon State college intact yesterday as it took both ends of a double-header 9-2 and 5-4 to sweep the series and make the fourth year that the Beavers have failed to crack through the Bearcats.

The Beavers came the closest to breaking the Bearcat series of wins, now extended to ten in four years, in the last game only to see Willamette stage a two-run rally in the ninth to win. Willamette was in trouble in the first two innings of the first game when the wildness of Pitcher Walter Weaver gave the Beavers two runs but Larry Nunnenkamp, junior hurler, took the mound to limit the Beavers to three hits the rest of the way in as his mates pounded three Beaver pitchers for 15 base blows.

Boy, what scenery! If any of you golfers failed to motor out to the Salem Golf club yesterday, you missed something! For those familiar fairways had become part of the Willamette river.

It's true, the golfing was difficult. Such fairways and greens as were above water were in excellent condition, but it was something of a problem to figure out nine holes. A suggested course is something like this: Play No. 10, par 4; play over to 13, par 3; play down 13th fairway to 14, par 5; play 13, par 4; across-lots to 16, par 3; play 17, par 4; play 18, par 5; play 10, par 4; back to nine, par 4. There's a nine-hole course, par 36. Plenty sporty with brand new water hazards. The only trouble is you'll meet people.

But the trip out there is well worth while, just for a glimpse at the part of the course you can't play. Of course by today, the water may have gone down some, but any loss in scenery will be compensated by increased playing area.

Yesterday there were two veritable rivers pouring across the lower portions of the course, one cutting off the first green and the ninth tee, the other boiling in from the woods alongside the eighth green. They quickly unite and spread out nearly a quarter of a mile wide, lapping at the edge of the seventh green, covering the 11th fairway and green completely. Water was still, we estimated, two feet over the highest point on the fourth green and about one-third of the 11th. It had already receded a foot.

One of the queerest things is to discover that the seventh green is actually lower than the eighth, despite that downhill appearance of the eighth fairway. And the water coming out of the woods near there appears to run uphill.

But it ought to all run away the early part of this coming week and clear the stage for the kick-off of formal competition this season: the qualifying round of the Active club's third annual city tournament, which opens Saturday the 24th and runs through Sunday, May 2. All through May things will be popping with match rounds of this tournament and also inter-city contests scheduled for each week.

Javelin Mark Is Bested by Terry

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 17—(AP)—A national intercollegiate record was shattered, four other meet records were broken, the great Glenn Cunningham met defeat at his pet distance, and the University of Indiana ran hog wild in the relay events as midwestern and southwestern track and field acts wrote another vivid chapter in Kansas relay history today.

Alton Terry, tall, lithe Texan from Hardin-Stimmons, hurled the javelin 229 feet 2 3/4 inches to better the national intercollegiate mark of 226 feet 3 3/4 inches he set in 1936.

Coach Lodell admitted strength in one event, however, and that is the high jump. He also has hopes for a good showing in the sprints and distance relays.

Duane Ackerson, who scaled 6 feet 3 inches, led the jumpers in training this week. Other high jumpers listed for the coming competitions are Hal Hessig and Pete Beamer.

A pair of sophomores are outstanding among the sprint prospects. They are Bob Leslie, former Klamath Falls prep speedster, and Bill Hoyer, former sprinter of Benson Tech, Portland.

The Hultenbergs went into Valsets on the speeder after running through high water by "starter-power" to get to the railroad. Roads into Valsets are impassable.

Hultenberg stated that the pond is dropping rapidly and is clearing up. It was high and roily when they arrived at Valsets Wednesday afternoon.

Gunther Will Oppose Moran

Otis Clingman to Return, Meet Young Tarzan in Opening Contest

Sailor Moran, the pug turned wrestler, will attempt to lower the boom on another reputed cleanie Tuesday night when he meets Jos Gunther of Nashville, Tenn., in the main event of the American Legion's weekly wrestling show.

Moran claims three middleweight championships, coast, New England and Gulf states, while Gunther at one time held the world's middleweight championship. Both are still rated tops in middleweight circles.

With Harry Elliott back in a referee capacity Moran may be somewhat handicapped by having to soft pedal the rough stuff. Moran defeated Elliott last week after the Eugene grappler had outwrestled him through all of the match.

Tommy Tassia, Italian grappler who made his first appearance here last week, will return in the semi-windup bout spotted with the devilish Fritz Ludwig, mean man from Germany.

Otis Clingman, former navy champion and great favorite with Salem fans, will return to the armory arena after several months' absence to tangle with Young Tarzan, a newcomer, in the 30 minute opener.

The Belligerent Baseball Boys

By BURNLEY

SPRING training is over, and if the regular campaign packs half as much punch as the pre-season period, anything is liable to happen.

The word "punch" is used advisedly. There have been more wars and rumors of war among the baseball boys this spring than we can remember. It's getting so that the fans go out to the ball game when they want to see a good battle instead of purchasing ducats for a prize fight.

The most celebrated knuckle-tossing interlude of the spring campaign was the skirmish between the St. Louis Cards and a couple of sports writers. Dizzy Dean led the attack on the scribes, with a couple of well-placed shoves, but took it on the lam when fists started flying. The other Gashouse lads ganged up on the writers, knocking them with spiked shoes and musing them up slightly, but no serious damage resulted.

"Boiling Boileigh" Grimes, the unshaven boss of the Dizzy Dodgers, has been the center of several small-sized riots this spring, and it looks as if there will be plenty of excitement at Brooklyn games with Grimes in their tossing adjectives and punches.

Old Hurly Burly chased a baseball writer from the field for rooting against the Dodgers (we sports writers have been taking quite a kicking around, of late). Grimes also got into sundry more or less serious squabbles with various umpires and rival pilots, notably Charley Dreesen, of the Reds.

Three Salem Men Still in Tourney

Three Salem high boxers won their way into the finals of the Eugene News Golden Gloves tournament by winning their semifinal bouts at Eugene Friday night.

Dale Breedlove, 125, won a decision over Jones, Toledo. Wallace Larion, 105, decisioned Warner, Springfield. Richardson, 125, decisioned Orr, Springfield.

Salem's two losers were Rex Layton, who lost to Warner of Springfield in the 135-pound class, and Smith, 147, who lost to Linder, Springfield.

Hultenbergs Make Good Trout Catch

Fooling the experts who said it wasn't possible to catch fish in such weather, Carl Hultenberg and his son, Bud, came back to Salem yesterday from Valsets with a limit catch of 80 trout for two days' fishing.

The fish, the smallest of which measured 11 1/2 inches, were caught in Valsets pond, some of them during a heavy hailstorm. Hultenberg reported that most of the fish were caught on salmon eggs, a few on worms and very few with flies.

The Hultenbergs went into Valsets on the speeder after running through high water by "starter-power" to get to the railroad. Roads into Valsets are impassable.

Hultenberg stated that the pond is dropping rapidly and is clearing up. It was high and roily when they arrived at Valsets Wednesday afternoon.

Major League Openers Loom

Three Games Set Monday, Others Tuesday; Both Races to Be Good

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—The familiar sound of the drum beats and the base hits, the old war cry of the clans and the crowd, draws closer for 1937 in the major panorama of American sports.

Baseball's big leagues start the championship season Monday and Tuesday.

President Roosevelt will throw out the first ball Monday for the American league's solo opener in Washington. The Boston Bees and the Philadelphia Nationals will celebrate patriots' day by playing two games in Boston. This novelty will be followed on Tuesday by a seven-game program, rounding out the getaway festivities.

If there's a fair break in the weather, close to 250,000 fans may witness the double barreled openings. The world champion Yankees entertaining Washington on Tuesday in their home ball-turk, should draw the biggest turnout, perhaps 50,000. Capacity or near capacity crowds likely (Turn to page 13)

Husikies Sweep Oakland Races

Varsity Beats Bears and Jayvee Breaks Record For Three Miles

OAKLAND, Calif., April 17—(AP)—Wind-chopped waters of Oakland estuary today, University of Washington sounded a stirring challenge to the collegiate rowing world with a triple beating of the finest eight-oared crews assembled this year under the banner of the University of California.

Freshmen, junior varsity and varsity—Washington swept the estuary. Not one of the races was even close. In each race, California trailed almost from the start.

The varsity three-mile grind, climaxed an all-around triumph such as took place when the old time rivals met in Seattle last year, finished with Washington five lengths ahead. The time was 14:55.

With exception of Coxswain John Rosecrantz it was the same varsity crew which won all its races in the United States last year, including the national regatta at Poughkeepsie, then defeated the world's best in Olympic competition at Berlin.

The Huskies' junior varsity crew rowed the three-mile course in 14:49, six seconds faster than the varsity, to set a new estuary record. The old mark was 14:53, made by the Washington varsity of 1931.

The Washington first year men stroked their way to a two-length win over the California yearlings over a two-mile course. The north-erners were timed in 9:41 1/2.
