Picnics in Order Over Coming Weekend

PICNICS will be very much on the schedule for Salem residents this weekend, and whether the weather cooperates or not, meals will be eaten out-of-doors.

One of the most characteristic habits of us westerners is that we carry out our outing plans whether or not the weatherman predicts fair and warmer. For the past few weeks "standing room only" signs have been in order at the regular picnic grounds, especially at Silver Creek Falls where a gentle rain is only confused with the mist from the falls. Many women have formed the habit of serving the heavier meal on Saturday night, with some meat like a roast, which is sliced cold and added to the Sunday picnic lunch. It makes a pleasant holiday for the family cook, because most preparation is done the day before. Those who prefer to stay at home on Sunday, will have some of the roast left in the cooler for dinner.

Preparing the picnic meal at the campground with a minimum of work ahead of time is preferred by most families because cooking over the fire for real outdoor cooks, is more fun than on the home range. Assembling the salad, spreading the bread and slicing the meat at the campground is really fun, and things can be put together a good deal faster too, because less style is required.

Miss Gwen Gallaher Is Honored at Shower

Miss Lorene Tompkins was hostess for an informal surprise party last night at the Delta Phi sorority house in compliment to Miss Gwen Gallaher, bride-elect of Ralph McCullough. A miscellaneous shower honored Miss Gallaher and she found her gifts in a fish pond. An aquarium motif was used in the decorations. Gold fish bowls floating with flowers were placed about the rooms. The evening was spent informally and supper served at a late hour.

Those bidden to honor Miss Gallaher were Mrs. Fred Alban, Mrs. Harriet Stiegerwald, Miss Harriet Childs, Miss Catherine Ringe, Miss Mary Jeannette Sargent, Miss Dorothy Dingie, Miss Barbara Crookham, Miss Roberta Miles, Miss Anna Mae Unrath, Miss Helen Purvine, Miss Marjorie Thorne, Miss Wanda Landon, Miss Ruth Tsharner, Miss Frances Faber, Miss Rosemary Huffman, Miss Martha Herman, Miss Annette Jordan, Miss Melba Rlopelle, Miss Helen Woodfin, Miss Loye Bogardus and Miss Tompkins.
