Bright Meteor Is Noted by Bradley

The brightest meteor noted here in several months was reported last night by B. L. "Buck" Bradley, local amateur astronomer. Red-tinted, it drifted acros? the northern sky from east to west and left a plume of light trailing behind that remained visble for several seconds.

At the time Bradley was in his garden observatory adjusting a new six-inch reflector telescope which he has set up on a new graduated, screw-controlled mounting which was constructed by students in the Salem high school machine shop. The machinists' class will build a similar mechanism next year to use with a school telescope, the eightinch mirror for which Bradley contributed.

Bradley announced he would esume his summer open house schedule tonight and the public would be welcome to visit his observatory and view the stars and planets through his telescopes each Wednesday night from 9 to 11 p. m. The Bradley home may be reached by driving south on South Commercial street past the city limits to Waldo avenue, there turning east to the last house on the avenue.

On Prunes Set

Minimum of $27.50 More Than Double That of Previous Season

Control Board Declares Crop Short, Market Good at Present

Members of the Oregon Prune Control Board, Inc., emerged from an all-day session here yesterday with announcement that the uniform minimum price on fresh Italian prunes for canning or barreling for their members will be $32.50 per ton for prunes 16 to the pound and larger.

For prunes smaller than 16 to the pound, the minimum price set was $27.50. This returns the deal to the old size classification. Minimum prices for the 1937 crop are based not on any grade system, in contrast to last year's basis, but are on "orchard run prunes, with rotten, decayed and unmerchantable prunes out," the board decreed.

Confer With Buyers Before Decision

The price was announced following a conference with buyers of fresh prunes, the joint discussion lasting until nearly 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The top price fixed for the control board members this year is almost double the average of $17 per ton received last year. The prices ranged differently on sizes last year, with $20 the top on 12 or larger prunes, $17.50 for 13-15's; $15 for 15-17's; and $12 for 17's or smaller.

Prospect of a much smaller crop than last year, small carryover of last year's heavy pack of canned prunes and fact that canners have already made offers way above the last year's green prune price, were among factors creating the $32.50 and $27.50 prices on prunes this year.

Congress to Face Tax Dodger Issue

Presidential Message Is Signal for Measure to Curb Evaders

WASHINGTON, June 1-(AP) -Congress levelled the double bar rels of publicity and legislation tonight at wealthy persons whom President Roosevelt accused of dodging taxes.

Soon after Mr. Roosevelt de manded "evil practices" be stopped, the senate adopted a resolution for an investigation. Leaders said the inquiry would lay the facts before the public and furnish the basis for laws to cir-cumvent the "elever little schemes" by which tax payments are avoided.

The measure, establishing a joint committee of six senators and six members of the house to conduct the inquiry, was introduced in the house as well, with favorable action there expected in a day or so.

In his message, President Roosevelt included a letter from Secretary Morgenthau relating some of the methods of the alleged tax dodgers-numerous personal cor-porations, incorporation of yachts, racing stables and the like. Congress, as well as the presi dent, was plainly indignant. From every action came quick statements of sympathy with the chief executive's purpose and of deter-(Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Committee Is to Draft Power Bill

WASHINGTON, June 1.(AP)-The house rivers and harbors committee undertook today to write administrative legislation for the Bonneville power and navigation project on the Columbia river, guided by four proposed measures and testimony taken at lengthy hearings.

All measures provide for a reservation of 50 per cent of the power for a period varying from 1 to 3 years for public bodies and cooperatives. All leave final say as to rates in the hands of the power commission.

Chairman Joseph Mansfield (D-Tex.) of the committee indicated it would be some time before the group would have the measure ready for house consideration. Legislation must be enacted this session as power production starts late in the year.

Compromise However Is Reported as Pledge Given Opponents

President Agrees to Put

Although no officials were available for comment late last night when the house of representatives passed the work relief bill, it was believed here that terms of the compromise would enhance the prospect of a favorable arrangement in connection with the Oregon capitol project, especially in view of the mention of PWA projects the government had "a moral obligation" to complete.

Acting Speaker Vinson (D.

Working many hours overtime -most of them dinnerless and weary—house members stripped from the bill amendments which would have set aside $505,000,-000 of the total for PWA under-voted, would have tied the presi dent's hands, restricting his free dom to allot the money to such work relief projects as he deemed advisable. The house also defeated ar amendment previously approved which would have cut $2000 from the $12,000 salary of Harry L. Hopkins, workers progress administrator. The vote to restore the $12,000 figure was 272 to 96.

Fighting for reversal of the votes on the earmarking amendments, Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex) contended they would force more than 630,000 workers off the WPA rolls. The administration's argument was that if the funds were earmarked for projects requiring much material, there would not be enough pay for the jobless.

The Texan staved off final action on the measure last Thursday and spent the interim in con-ferences with President Roose-velt and leaders of the coalition which had forced adoption of the amendments.
