and juvenile department, the shoe department, and a department of fashion accessories for women. On the second floor are women's apparel and sportswear, piece goods, notions and domestics.

The basement differs from many store basements in that it has full height, adequate lighting and constant ventilation. It accommodates hardware, sporting goods, tires and auto accessories, plumbing goods, farm equipment, paints and a new wallpaper department.

The home furnishings department is on the third floor with complete stocks of home furnishings and floor coverings. On the mezzanine floor are electric appliances, radios, refrigerators, washers, ranges and stoves. The spacious office is also on this floor.

Reserve stocks are carried on the fourth floor.

An elevator and broad stairs permit movement from one floor to another.

Lighting, Ventilation Latest Type

The latest word in planning is provided in the store lighting and venting. Abundant illumination is provided for every foot of the sales floor, to enable customers to see exactly what the merchandise is. A battery of large electric fans furnish ample air circulation to provide comfort in all weather. In cold weather warm air is discharged just over the main entry, which gives a warm greeting to customers and stops cold air from chilling the room when the doors are opened.

Counters and show cases are of light walnut in modern design. Display fixtures are in chromium.

Manager of the new store is Barkley A. Newman, who has held the position since April, 1931. Newman is a native Oregonian, born near Albany. Later he lived in Washington and in Canada, but returned to Albany to finish grade and high schools.

After further schooling in Chicago, Newman entered the display and advertising field in 1920 and worked in department stores in several different cities. His first management was in Bend. Then he became connected with the Ward organization and became manager at Klamath Falls in 1929, transferring to Salem two years later.

Champog Celebration On Fourth Is Planned

PORTLAND, June 2—(AP)—Champog park, scene of Oregon's founding of a state government, will have its largest gathering in history on July 4. Milton A. Miller, chairman of the Champog park commission, said various civic and veteran organizations would participate in patriotic ceremonies.

Vicar Who Defied Officials to Marry Famed Pair

Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, "poor man's parson" who jeopardized his ecclesiastical career by volunteering his services to marry Edward, Duke of Windsor, and Mrs. Wallis Warfield. The minister posed at Monts, France, with the Monts chief of police who had charge of the Surete National guarding the persons of the duke and his American-born bride.—International Illustrated News radio-sonograph.

plea for privacy to work out their own happiness departed for honeymoon in Austria.

Two simple services united the couple, whose romance roused Britain's mighty empire to grave debate over the rights of constitutional monarchs and led Edward to quit the throne of his father because he could not have the radiant Wallis as his queen.

The rotund country doctor and mayor of Monts, Charles Mercier, read the civil service prescribed by French law before required witnesses in the chateau salon. The willful "poor man's parson" who ignored the Church of England's opposition to remarriage by the twice-divorced Mrs. Warfield, read the religious service. He was the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, vicar of St. Paul's church, Darlington, Eng.

Bush School Has First Graduation

Departure of the first sixth grade class from the new Bush school was the occasion for exercises at the school Thursday. Eighty-eight sixth graders will leave the school to enter junior high next year.

Taking part in the program were Albert Castillo, Jack Barsch, Patsy Meisinger, pupils, Miss Meusey and Miss Srinio, sixth grade teachers.

The sixth grade certificates were presented by Mrs. Bernice Skeen, principal.

Loan Association Loses Court Case

Circuit Judge Earl C. Latrette of Oregon City has decided in favor of the First National bank of Salem and its receiver in the suit brought by the State Savings & Loan association, according to word received by Custer E. Ross, attorney for the bank.

The decision holds that checks aggregating $30,330 against the association's account in the old bank, representing installment payments toward purchase of the Guardian building, were properly issued. It also allows a $2500 counter claim which the bank made against the association.

The balance of the $62,000 purchase price on the Guardian building has never been paid to the bank. In suing, the association claimed its board of directors authorized issuance of checks beyond its power, that the sale was not made in good faith but in order to give the money to the bank.

Graduation Held By Police School

The United States is trying to control the activities of a criminal population aggregating 5,000,000 persons with combined police personnel of only 75,000 officers, Leon V. Jenkins of the Portland police bureau declared at the Salem Lions club luncheon here Thursday noon in a "graduation" address on behalf of 18 officers and a justice of the peace who recently completed a training course here.

Those who received diplomas presented by Jenkins were:

Sergeants Asa Fisher, J. L. Cutler and Donald Nicholson, Patrolmen W. M. Overgard, Alse Wintersteen, Walter Kestly, Harold Deacon, Hobart Kiggins, Frank Reeves, Louis Burgess and George Edwards, Detective E. C. Charlton, Radio Operator Donald Pouljate and Special Officer Robert Waunch of the Salem police force; Officer Fred LaDue, West Salem; Justice of the Peace E. A. Weddie and Chief A. B. Mosler, Independence; Chief Lloyd W. Shriner, Oswego; and J. F. Reidy, state prison guard. Absentee graduates of the school included Patrolmen Paul Nicholson and Claude Litchfield, Salem; Chief Alfred Ashland, Woodburn, and Chief Verd Schrank, Monmouth.

The commissioners received favorably a suggestion from George Buck, Multnomah county roadmaster, that $100,000 previously allocated the county would be used for a new route to link the upper and lower Columbia river highways, via St. Johns bridge, rather than for the improvement of Columbia-boulevard.

WASHINGTON, June 3—(AP)—

Diploma-Equipped Police Get Action

To the Salem police department, individually and collectively, Norman B. Olson, 1590 North 19th, appeared to be navigating in an intoxicated condition so they, nearly 20 strong, arrested him and escorted him to the police station where he was booked on drunkenness charges.

Olson had the misfortune to run into nearly the entire Salem force as they were leaving The Quelle restaurant after receiving their certificates from the recent police school at a Lions club luncheon.

Among Olson's possessions was a courtesy card from the Atlantic City, N. J., police department. The Salem force is considering issuing him a similar card.

4 MILES IN 5 ARE STOP-AND-GO

It's the costliest kind of driving you do

STARTING UP after just one stop can waste enough gasoline to take you 1/2 of a mile. To cut down the high cost of stop-and-go driving around town, Shell engineers have developed a way to "balance" gasoline. By this balancing process the entire chemical structure of gasoline is rearranged. Actually it is made "digestible" for your motor, just as food is made digestible for you by cooking. When you're starting, shifting, accelerating—at all times—your motor gets the full benefit of Super-Shell's high energy content. "Motor-digestible" is the best way to describe this gasoline. Try a tankful of Super-Shell at the Shell dealer in your neighborhood.
