Plan Parking, Leslie—Development of a hedge-surrounded parking area on the Leslie Junior high school grounds immediately west of the new auditorium is contemplated by the school board, according to Superintendent Silas Gaiser. Plans for the parking lot, prepared by Lord and Schryver, landscape architects, call for a crushed brick surfacing, a clipped hedge surrounding the area and an entrance from Howard street. Widening of streets around the school has been discussed but virtually abandoned because of the impossibility of also widening approaching streets.

The week's second jury trial, that of the suit of Fred A. Legge against Lahan A. Steeves, will be resumed at 9 o'clock this morning with defense counsel expected to move for non-suit. Parents Rally Behind Accused

The Brockelhursts, parents and son

Facing a possible death sentence for the slaying of a wealthy planter of Lonoke, Ark., Lester Brockelhurst was comforted by his parents when they visited him in his jail cell, above. Brockelhurst allegedly committed three murders during a "crime honeymoon" on which he was accompanied by a neighbor girl friend from Rockford, Ill.

Opposing Lawyers Trade Challenges Of Authority; Lafky and Crawford Raise Question As to Each Other's Status in Case

Herman E. Lafky, attorney of record for Pearl and Emily Wood and Wilnot K. Moll in a mortgage foreclosure suit brought by Gordon K. Moll and Jennie M. Ferguson, filed a motion in circuit court yesterday for an order requiring E. L. Crawford, plaintiff's counsel, to produce and prove the authority under which he appears in the matter. His motion and supporting affidavits are similar to a motion and affidavit filed against him recently by Crawford.

In rejoinder to Crawford's motion, in which Lafky's authority to represent Wilnot K. Moll was questioned, Lafky alleges Crawford "did solicit said Wilnot K. Moll to join in said foreclosure proceedings" notwithstanding that he had refused to join with plaintiffs.

Whereas Crawford had referred to a letter purportedly written by the Defendant Moll intimating Lafky had been urging his legal services upon him, Lafky submitted an affidavit by Defendant Pearl Wood stating that Moll had received a letter from Wood stating that "I can not persuade my fellow heirs to give you more time . . . please do write me a letter and let me have a letter from your lawyer at once."

Wood's affidavit further says that "based on said letter, when I engaged Mr. Herman E. Lafky, as my attorney, I requested and authorized him, in behalf, to also file an appearance in these proceedings, in behalf of said Wilnot K. Moll."

The status of Earl Fehl, ex-Jackson county judge now on parole from the Oregon state penitentiary, is no different from that of other prisoners released from the institution under similar circumstances. W. L. Gosselin, member of the state parole board, declared Wednesday.

Gosselin said Fehl received a parole upon serving his minimum sentence and that his maximum term of four years would expire in August of this year. Since Fehl was paroled he and his friends have sought to obtain for him an unconditional release. Under the provisions of Fehl's parole he was not to return to Jackson county until his maximum sentence had expired. This restriction was eliminated temporarily a few days ago so that Fehl might go to Medford and appear as a witness in a lawsuit in which he was interested. Fehl was received at the penitentiary following conviction for ballot thefts in Jackson county.

Nelscott Church Dedication Looms

NELSCOTT, Oregon, June 9.—The North Lincoln Community church will be dedicated next Sunday, with services at 11 a. m. and 2:15 p. m. Dr. Norman K. Tully of Eugene will preach and Mrs. Josephine Albert Spaulding of Dallas will be the soloist. Revs. Alfred M. Williams and Henry L. The Nelscott field was allocated to Presbyterians last year to erect a community church. The board of National missions and the Presbytery accepted the allocation and proceeded to organize a parish for the unchurched sections of north Lincoln county. Members in the church include residents of nearly all the communities in this section. Several new members are to be received next Sunday.

The new building and furnishings has cost about $4000, of which the Presbyterian board in New York gave $1000, the citizens and property owners about $300. Willamette valley churches about $600 and the balance was given in discounts and in presents of individuals and societies. The site for the church and the masonry to be erected later, was a donation from the Nelscott Land company.
