Scene of Spanish War Crisis

Graphically portrayed on the above map of southern Spain and the Mediterranean Sea are the two events which have spread rumors of an impending international war in Europe. On May 29 Spanish loyalist planes assertedly bombed the German warship Deutschland near Palma, killing 25 of her crew. On May 31 five German battleships bombarded Almeria, Spain, in reprisal for the bombing of the Deutschland. Seventy of the residents of Almeria were killed and 200 were wounded.—International Illustrated News photo.
