Crash Case to Finish Today

Schlicker, State Motors
Opposed in Action;
Klett Decree in

Testimony was virtually completed in Judge McMahon's court yesterday in damage suit brought by August Schlicker against State Motors, in which the defendant has filed counter claim. The case may go to the jury late this morning.

Plaintiff, according to the testimony, was driving a demonstrator car of the defendant company when he had an accident on the Pudding river bridge, six miles east of Salem, and in the accident he suffered a broken knee cap. Schlicker claimed the car was defective and further that acts of the agent of the defendant riding with him contributed to the accident. Defendant company denied these allegations and asked reimbursement for damages to the automobile.

Judge L. G. Lewelling will be here from Albany today for motion day in the equity department of circuit court.

Interlocutory decree handed down yesterday in the suit of Bertha Klett and others against Bertha Eckerlen and others, orders Sheriff A. C. Burk, as referee to sell at public sale property in question, which is a portion of the North Commercial street former location of Bishop's store. The decree orders division on this basis: To defendant Bertha Eckerlen, one-tenth; to plaintiffs, Bertha Klett, one half, and Matilda Cornell, Mary Welch, Leoneline Nadon and Eugene Eckerlen, each one-tenth, with Eugene Eckerlen's share subject to a mortgage of $1341.04.

Bandaged Strikers in Court After Labor Riot

Scene at arraignment

This unusual closeup of four of the 40 strikers who were charged with conspiracy after the fierce Republic Steel Co. battle in Chicago in which six men were killed provides graphic evidence of the bitterness of the clash which left these and others seriously injured. While company officials blamed Communists for the riot, Van A. Bittner, Chicago regional director of the C. I. O., charged company police with precipitating the clash and denied there were any but Republic workers in the union.

Joseph N. George Pneumonia Victim

Word of death of their son, Joe Norman George, in Seattle, Wash., last Friday, was received here by Mr. and Mrs. David George, 1519 Mill street. Services were held yesterday in the northern city.

Joseph George was a Salem resident for nearly all of his 31 years. He was born at Pomeroy, Wash., June 15, 1906. He was married and the widow, Esther, survives, as do the parents, brothers, Sherman of Yamhill, and Elmer of Dallas, Claborn, Jewell, Henry, Leland, Vernon, and one sister, Alice, a grandmother, Mrs. Elva Smith of Salem, several aunts and uncles.

Death resulted from an attack of pneumonia.

298 Names Added To Recall Lists

Petitions in the Sigmund recall movement bearing 298 signatures were filed with the county clerk yesterday by Jay Baker. This brings the total signatures filed to 1998. Petitions will be checked by the county clerk's office and until this is done the percentage of those complying with the law in this matter will not be ascertained.

To recall to go on the ballot, must reach 4166 correct petition signatures.

Meyers Alibi not Broken by Probe

The case against William Meyers, Salem, who has spent 14 days in the county jail, facing a charge of slaying two men in Pennsylvania in 1921, was still without developments last night, although two officials sent to extradite him have spent two days here examining the situation.

Yesterday, sheriff's office attaches indicated they did not believe extradition would be granted on the evidence to date. The state troopers, Corporal Santilli and Private Gee, working on the case, took pictures of the prisoner, and interviewed persons for whom Meyers had worked. They indicated that Meyers' alibi he was in California at the time of the Proctor county, Pa., slaying, was holding up strong.

If nothing further occurs in the case, Meyers will probably be released at the end of the week, when his original 20-day commitment expires. He has protested his innocence all along, as has his wife, with whom he has spent the past several months in Salem, with their children.

FLOYD STIMSON (above), between puffs of his Camel, describes a typical parachute jump. "I ease out of the cockpit and stand on the wing hooking one foot behind a strut wire. Then I crouch down and dive over, headfirst. I usually make 2 or 3 turns. (In next to last picture Floyd has completed a turn and straightened up.) When I'm facing the sky, I pull the rip cord. It's a sweet feeling when the blooms open." Floyd's work is no job for a nervous man. His cigarette is Camel—has been for 10 years. He says: "They don't frazzle my nerves."

HE stepped out into empty air well over 1000 times —yet landed right side up every time. "My order is Camels," Floyd says. "They're so mild I can smoke all I want to. Camels never frazzle my nerves. It seems as though there's no bottom when I bail out—and my stomach knows it," Floyd Stimson continues (right), as he enjoys Camels at mealtime. "However, a Camel helps me ease off. Camels set me right!"

HOURS SPENT in trying research work can be tense too. Miss Ruth Brader says: "At times like that a Camel gives me a 'lift.'"
