Oregon Road Reconstruction

WE used to think that before long the state could shave its gas tax a cent and still have enough money to carry out its road construction and maintenance. Gas consumption steadily increases, which gives an increasing sum for all the jumble in order, and highway revenues.

Traveling over the roads of Oregon however will convince one that more, not less money is needed. The state is of it. pretty well served with improved highways, that is true; but for the most part these roads need to be completely reconstructed so rapid have been the changes in vehicles and so great the increase in volume of traffic.

There are still many sections of road needing to be completed, the Santiam highway, long stretches of road in eastern Oregon. There are new roads like the two beach roads from Portland to the sea. The Columbia river highway needs rebuilding from Portland to The Dalles.

Besides these major items of work and of expense other reconstruction jobs are necessary to bring Oregon roads up to approved modern standards. A beginning has been made in rebuilding the Pacific highway, east and west, and up the Siskiyous. Heavy work needs to be done from Cottage Grove to forces to the government of Grants Pass. Then the coast highway is a crooked lane which France-one of the finest stadiums will need a great deal of work to accommodate satisfactorily in the world—goes back to the the travel that is coming with completion of the coast bridges from San Francisco to Astoria.

The maintenance factor is a heavy item too, because the went to the Philippines as physigreater the mileage the greater the expense. There is no "per- cal director of the American manent" road because the action of the elements and the Y. M. C. A. at Manila. At that manent" road, because the action of the elements and the grind of heavy traffic cause wear and damage requiring continuous repairs.

We are not dealing with figures, but with impressions based on travel over many hundred miles of Oregon highways of getting the Filipinos, Japanthis year. The early roads simply are antiquated in this day of speedy motor cars, heavy freight trucks and stages, and passenger cars and trailers which are a new traffic problem cooperation. from a safety standpoint.

Road building is going to be a never-ending task. We there has since been developed must build our program of construction, maintenance and financing on the basis of continuous operation. There is no rest ahead for the highway organization or for the payers of gas taxes, who however are the ones directly benefitted.

Zoning Change

THE city council has before it an ordinance which would permit the commercialization of the southeast corner of year he directed a long letter to Twelfth and Court streets. The change was approved by the American army's general the zoning commission. Since then some property owners in headquarters, opening it with the area affected have become aroused and protest vigorously any change in zone, desiring to keep the district in its present residential classification. The state capitol reconstruction now, should find us in a state of commission has requested the city council to preserve pres- preparedness against the inevent zone boundaries, condemning the commercialization of stable period of relaxation that the fringes of the capitol tract.

Let the breach be made, and need. Physical action will be the where will the end be?

The applicant for the change, Wallace Bonesteele, has followed the proper procedure; but it seems to us the zoning commission erred in not giving notice by mail to every property owner in the area affected so that its hearing might have been full and complete before the matter went to the city council. If the zoning law is to have value the classifications must be fully protected or else the whole scheme will come to very well done, and let it go at naught.

The council must consider the property in the capitol ing plant. Any American who area with relation to the whole capitol project keeping in mind that there is being planned for Salem a civic center of unusual dignity and beauty. Business is necessary and must be served but it should not be allowed to encroach on the cap- American manufacture. The itol tract or the effect of the planning will be impaired. These reasons seem sufficient to justify rejection of the proposed change.

Half-Way on Road

CPEAKING at the commencement exercises at the University of Michigan Chester Rowell, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, declared the country was half way on the road to dictatorship. When the legislative arm fails to function satisfactorily invariably the strong arm of the dictator takes hold. The country has gone far toward dictatorial rule, and pending legislation would make it go nearly the whole forces, and then employed by road. A considerable part of the fault is with the congress which fails to legislate heroically in the interest of the people

Just now senators and congressmen are running to the president about the strikes. They have a way to cure the whole business without delay: act themselves to clarify the Wagner act, make it a real magna charta for labor and a genuine chart for business. There is more than a grain of truth in the charge of the Hitlers and Mussolinis that parliaments degenerate into debating societies.

New Summer Resort

CLICK paper magazines are filled now with advertisements of where to go for your summer vacation. Alaska, Yellow- which presented many technical stone, Oregon, New England, Minnesota, Quebec are all publicizing their attractions. A paper contained an advertisement the other day of a "new" summer resort. It has several grand canyons; its summer temperature never averages over 74 degrees. It has 13 miles of good, sandy beaches, nearly 20,000 acres of wooded parks, 24 public golf courses, 200 tennis courts, 129 horseshoe-pitching courts, 11 lakes for boating, ten new and large swimming pools. It may be reached by sea, by rail, by auto, by airplane.

Where is it?

New York City.

Relief Day for Guards

T is regrettable that the emergency board did not approve be wanted, had all the "forms" requests for sufficient funds to hire seven more men at "kept up," meaning all the type the state penitentiary to allow present guards to have a weekly rest day. Under present conditions the men have only finished. one day off in a month, and that may be cancelled if emergency exists. The working hours are long, and while much of the work is not onerous, the men are required to be at attention at all times. The board of control is favorable to the hiring of men for relief duty, but the emergency board rejected the request for the additional funds required.

The state, it seems, can still set its own standards of labor, and may not be cited for violation of the Wagner act.
