said the plane could float "almost indefinitely," because of six gasoline tanks with a capacity of more than 1000 gallons.
"I am convinced that she would be able to keep afloat long enough for any vessel within several miles to reach her," Mantz said.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2 (AP)—U. S. coast guard authorities said tonight that if Amelia Earhart's plane is afloat in the Pacific area where it is believed to have descended, the ocean drift will carry it into trading ship lanes within a week.

Lieut. Frank Johnson, explaining that the Earhart plane presumably came down at a point 100 nautical miles northeast of the equatorial sandpit, Howland island, said he had estimated the drift would carry her westward at the rate of about 50 miles a day.

Sailing ships ply the area about 800 miles westward, he said.
Within nine days, Johnson estimated, the floating plane might reach the Gilbert islands, 420 miles to the west.

Lieutenant Johnson said the water was shark-infested.

Upholding of Blue Sky Law Is Urged

corporation department brief alleged that a system of "blow-backs" was more common than exceptional and asserts that in the oil royalty deal in point "the record of this one transaction disclosed a complete disregard of any moral or legal obligation toward the investor on the part of this appellant."

The state's brief avers "appellant admitted that its books were not accurate; that it sold property which had not yet been acquired; that it engaged in rebates and blowbacks; that it withheld information regarding the status of investor's money and property; that it misrepresented facts concerning sales to its investors, and misrepresented the facts thereof to the corporation commissioner."

Concluding, the brief reads: "If the open and flagrant violation of the terms of the appellant's permits and licenses is not sustained the corporation department will be seriously handicapped in its efforts to maintain the proper enforcement of the blue sky act in the state of Oregon."

Pets Have Inning, Playgrounds Here

Barbara Hathaway and two kittens belonging to Annabelle Lynch won prizes in the prettiest pet event.
While the Olinger program went through without a hitch Tommy Dryan, assistant director, had a busy afternoon keeping a state of canine truce between the exhibits.

Mickey Adjudged Best Trained Dog
Virginia Ellis' dog Mickey, which could climb a ladder and jump through a hoop, was the best trained pet at Leslie and Ronald Bartlett, with his dog Spot, won second.

Francis Reide's St. Bernard, conversely named "Tiny," was the largest pet.

Pat Brack brought a cross-eyed cat to take first in the most unusual pet competition. Ruth Anderson with a Pomeranian took second and Douglas Rogers, whose water turtle bore an impressive landscape upon its shell, won third.

Leah Rae Smith's cat slept through the performance cuddled in a sewing box, apparently not minding its dress, and was given the prize as the best dressed pet.

Dogs, Umpy, Terry and Tiny Tim, won prizes for Bill Wharton, Carol Cooper and Shirley Shuttler in the smallest pet contest.

A black spaniel owned by Shirley Arthur was the prettiest pet at Leslie while Marilyn Hart, four-year-old who said her kitten was "Just Kitty," won second and Phillip Cray, with a collie, third.

A dog of undetermined breed and ancestry but endowed with the perfectly good name of "Mike" won the ugliest pet prize for Mickey Ellis while Johnny Erickson's dog took second.

First prize winners were given passes to Mickey Mouse matinees at the Elsinore theater, second prize winners a bag of salted peanuts and third prize winners a package of candy. All contestants were given all-day suckers.

Judges at Olinger were Bessie Shinn, Mrs. Elizabeth Limpus and Coter Gould. At Leslie judges were Mrs. W. L. Arthur, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. William Ellis.

Death Toll Rises To Six at Nampa

the drugstore blast was increased to five.

Canyon County Coroner William D. Tally said, however, no inquest was planned.

The blast turned a busy shopping hour late yesterday into panic. Hundreds of pounds of fireworks on display, believed by officers to have been ignited by inquisitive boys, exploded, shattering the building front and showering the interior with flames.

Several girls attending a beauty school on the mezzanine floor jumped into an alley, breaking their legs or arms.

Mrs. T. C. Daniels, 29, her dress a sheet of flame, died almost instantly; three-year-old Katherine Miller and 12-year-old Adryce Pavak died in hospitals a few hours later; Mrs. Ernest Miller, 28, mother of Katherine, and Mrs. George Le Delle, 38, succumbed today.

Mrs. Le Delle lived at Marsing, Idaho, the others at Nampa.

Spaulding Timber Logging to Start
State Senator Charles K. Spaulding last night denied the truth of reports current at Independence that the Charles K. Spaulding Logging company was contemplating erection of a mill there. Declining to disclose any information regarding his concern's plans to resume operations, he said only that there might be an announcement in several weeks.

From the Polk county upriver community, however, comes the report that preparations are being made for resumption of logging at Olsen on the Valley & Siletz railway by the Spaulding company. Employment will be provided for a large number of men in the reopened camp and railway traffic from Olsen through Independence will be increased, according to word in that city. Reconditioning the camp is expected to require at least 30 days time.

Financing arrangements were completed through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation about two months ago to clear the way for resumption of logging and sawmill operations by the Spaulding firm.

Operator License Checkup to Begin

State police today will begin the work of checking automobile drivers who have not made application for operator's permits for the current two-year period, officials said.

Secretary of State Snell said approximately 240,000 applications have been received. He estimated that there are more than 410,000 drivers in the state.
