Important Meets Slated at O. S. C.

Three Educational Groups to Convene on Campus Next Week

A combination of three important educational conferences will bring several nationally known educators, school superintendents and CCC educational advisers to Oregon State college the week of July 12 to 16.

The main event will be the second annual conference on guidance and adult education sponsored by the school of education. The conference of the educational policies commission will be held Wednesday, July 14, and a meeting of CCC educational advisers of Oregon and northern California will be conducted throughout the week.

Prominent visiting educators scheduled for the guidance and adult education conference include Dr. John Paul Williams of Massachusetts State college; Dr. Bruce Baxter, president of Willamette university; and Dr. F. G. Macomber, director of curricula and instruction, Riverside, Cal. Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of higher education in Oregon, and Dr. A. J. Stoddard, newly elected superintendent of the Denver, Colo., public schools, will be the main speakers at the educational policies commission meeting.

CCC Leaders Coming

Regular members of the college summer session staff and visiting instructors will assist Dr. D. E. Wiedman of San Francisco, chief CCC educational adviser of the ninth corps area, and S. M. Ramon of Washington, D. C., CCC assistant director of education, in conducting the CCC educational sessions.

Guidance and counseling will be discussed at morning sessions and adult education at the evening meetings, according to C. W. Salser, assistant dean of education at OSC, who is in charge of the program; informal forums will be held in the afternoons.

College-Academy Reunion Is Held

Over 100 Attend Event at Dallas; Class of '37 Specially Honored

DALLAS, July 5.—The annual Dallas college, La Croix academy, and Lafayette seminary reunion was held at the Dallas city park Saturday with more than 100 present.

A covered dish dinner was held at noon. The dinner table was decorated with baskets of summer flowers and with two large birthday cakes. One was in honor of Mrs. J. G. VanOrsdal's 53d birthday and the other honored the 50th anniversary of the class of 1887 composed of Mrs. Mark Hayter, Mrs. Eugene Hayter, Mrs. Dan Siddons and the late Carey Hayter.

Following the dinner a business meeting was held with the president of the association, Mrs. John Cerny, presiding. The secretary, Mrs. George Kurze, read letters from some of the former students of Dallas college who were unable to attend.

Election of officers took place with the following elected: president, Will Howe; vice-president, Mrs. Floyd Senter; secretary, Mrs. Glen De Haven; treasurer, August Risser.

Mrs. Cerny recognized the class of 1887 and called upon Mrs. Eugene Hayter for remarks. Mrs. Van Orsdal was then introduced and responded with a short talk.

A violin duet was given by Mrs. Robert Fisher and Miss Dorothy Palmer accompanied by Miss Doris Riggs; and a piano solo by Daniel Abel.

Poling Is Speaker
The president then introduced Dr. Daniel C. Poling of Philadelphia, the honor guest and the speaker of the day. Dr. Poling was a graduate of the class of 1904 of Dallas college and is internationally known as a religious leader. He first extolled the life of Mrs. M. J. Ballantyne, whose sudden passing from a heart attack at the beginning of the program had saddened the gathering.

He gave a very interesting talk in which he told of incidents which took place in Dallas college while he was a student there and recounted instances when he met former students of the college during his travels.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in renewing old acquaintances.

It was also stressed by Mr. Dawson that life saving methods are continually changing due to the vigilant effort of instructors to improve life saving technique. For this reason, he stated, it is necessary for all examiners and senior life savers to recheck each year in order to be prepared to meet emergencies.

Non-swimmer Hazard
"These people who reach adult age without learning how to swim, and who continue to place themselves in a position safe only for a trained swimmer, are greatly to be regretted," Dawson told his students. "As sure as they go on water the time of emergency by the law of averages is sure to come and when it does they are a hazard to themselves and to those about them. You must be prepared to deal with these people because they represent one of the worst water hazards," said Mr. Dawson.

Those taking the test included Anoka Coates, George Causey, Bob Brownell and Verne Gilmore for examiners, and Forbes Mack, Dale Smith and Tom Drynan, senior life savers. Drynan will qualify as an examiner at the end of the swim campaign during which time he will be doing his practice work. Dale Smith and Forbes Mack qualified as examiners but were disqualified because of being under age. It is necessary for an examiner to be 20 years of age.

Lawrence Killed When Car Upsets

ALBANY, July 4.—Fred Bert Lawrence, 37, was killed Sunday afternoon, when the car which he was driving turned over in a ditch on the Corvallis-Hudson nursery road, plunging him beneath it. The accident was discovered by A. R. Kopplin of Hoskins and A. M. Skaggs of Summit, who reported it. Deputy Coroner Walter Kropp and State Officer W. Hugg went to the scene and investigated. As near as could be learned the car left the road on a curve about a mile west of the Hudson nursery and turned over in the ditch. It is believed that Lawrence was alone at the time of the accident.

Little is known of the dead man here. For the past three years he had been employed by Roy Edholm of Tangent, and was a farmer by occupation.

A brother, Wade Lawrence, is said to be with the U. S. army at Vancouver, Wash., and the coroner's office has been trying to get in communication with him. He is also believed to have a sister living in the east.

Mother of Salem People Passes on

Mrs. Jennie Craft Lindley, 83, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Yates, in Ellensburg, Wash., late last week. Funeral services were held there Saturday with interment at Yakima.

Mrs. Lindley was a native of Pennsylvania, member of the pioneer Craft family which settled there soon after the Revolutionary war. She finished her education in Washington seminary there and moved west to Kansas following her marriage to O. F. Lindley, later moving to Washington state where Mr. Lindley died in 1905.

Putnam Disagrees On Plane Location

Believes Amelia on Reef Near Phoenix Islands; Cheered by Report

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—(AP)—George Palmer Putnam, cheered by today's radio developments in the search for his wife, Amelia Earhart, said he expected to spend tonight at the San Francisco coast guard radio station, but he indicated a belief the search for her north of Howland would prove fruitless.

He believes the aviator and her navigator, Frederick Noonan, are down somewhere in the Phoenix islands, southeast of Howland.

Putnam appeared at the coast guard station twice today.

"This is the most cheering word yet received," said Putnam of the radio reports that messages sent by air stations at Honolulu had resulted in supposed replies giving evidence that Miss Earhart and Noonan were alive.

Putnam placed a different interpretation on a message received by naval officers in Honolulu which they took to indicate the plane and its occupants were afloat at a point about 290 miles north of Howland, in a portion of the ocean where there is no known land.

Putnam interpreted the message to mean that the gasoline supply for a motor to generate power to keep the radio set operating, was running low, and that the words "don't hold with us much longer," reported received by navy radio operators, referred to the dwindling gasoline supply.

Believes on Reef
He held to a view that a bearing taken by Pan American Airways, showing the plane radio supposedly on a line passing through the Phoenix islands, as new evidence upholding his belief the Earhart plane stands perched on a reef there.

Radio reception is best at night, and coast guard radio operators expressed the opinion Putnam's decision to remain at the station tonight was indicative of a belief that Miss Earhart might flash new and definite signals when the night comes in the south Pacific.

Putnam has indicated little interest in the open sea search by the Itasca and other craft north of Howland, and there was no hint he regarded the scheduled arrival of the Itasca at a point 280 miles north of Howland as of particular importance.

Increased Liquor Tax Held Danger

Bootlegger Will Flourish if Levy Boosted Again, Institute Declares

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—The distilled spirits institute warned legislators today against seeking to balance their budgets by increasing the tax on alcoholic beverages.

Reporting that state and federal revenue from such beverages totaled $864,277,355 in 1926, that distillers' organization issued a statement which said in part:

"We may expect a further increase in consumption of alcoholic beverages for 1937, and perhaps still further reduction in bootlegging, with consequent increases in public revenues from alcoholic beverages.

"But the bootlegger stands ready to recover lost ground whenever legislators disregard his capacity to take advantage of high liquor tax rates and seek to balance their budgets by the simple device of increasing the tax on alcoholic beverages."

The institute reported that consumption of alcoholic beverages, although 1 1/2 per cent higher last year than in 1935, still was substantially less than in 1916, which it called the last comparable pre-prohibition year.

Asserting the federal government collected $612,581,000 from taxes and customs on alcoholic beverages last year, the institute said this made the industry rank

Fishing in Depoe Bay Region Good

Bay Region Good

Fishing in the ocean off Depoe bay is good, a party of Salem men who went out Friday reported on return here. Twenty-two salmon, including chinook and silverside, were taken on light tackle.

A 35-foot launch, the "Captain Girm" was used on the trip. This boat, run by Captain Charles Turner, used to hang from the side of a battleship and was sold in Portland recently to the present owner.

Included in the party were Clarence Parker, Clyde Scott, Bob Davis, Dick Staples and Harvey Parker.

New Era Channel Bids Are Invited

PORTLAND, July 5.—(AP)—Bids for dredging 46,000 cubic yards of soil and sand from the New Era bar, six miles above Oregon City, will be opened August 3. Captain S. L. Damon, district engineer, announced.

The usual allotment for summer maintenance operations on the Willamette river above Portland has not been announced as yet from Washington, but Damon said "We asked special permission to advertise this particular job so we could be all set when authorization to spend the money comes." The contract will not be let until the allotment is made.

The maintenance appropriation has been about $30,000. The New Era project will require about $20,000. The remainder of the money would be spent on channel work from Salem to Oregon City.
