Feet on Ground, Roosevelt Avers

MOUNT MARION, N. Y., July 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, in an impromptu Fourth of July speech in this little Dutch village, contrasted the American form of government with dictatorships and assured the "newer generation" this country will keep its "feet on the ground" in meeting new conditions.

Speaking at an outdoor fundraising festival of the Dutch Reformed church, the president also told his shirt-sleeved audience of several thousand persons it had been a "good Fourth" and he hoped the United States could pass on some of its "poise" and "fundamentals" of democracy to other nations of dictatorial and militaristic tendencies.

Sitting on the top of the tonneau of his large open car, the president spoke through a microphone he held in his hand. He referred to the complexities of government today as greater than those of the pioneer days, adding:

"I hope that new generation, just like the older generation, will realize that in meeting these new conditions we are not changing the fundamentals of the American form of government. In my belief, we are always going to keep our feet on the ground as a nation in the future just as we have in the past."

Forsey, and his daughter, Mrs. D. H. Weis, former Albany residents. On the return trip they will be accompanied by another daughter of Mr. Forsey, Fletcher, of Toledo. Mr. Ramsey is a rural mail carrier out of Albany.

Tragedy Reigns After Downfall of Bilbao

Tragedy and pathos characterized scenes in Bilbao, on the northern coast of Spain, as refugees awaited evacuation from the war-torn city as victorious Fascist troops moved into the Basque capital. This striking photo, first to reach United States after the downfall of the city which had remained invincible for 700 years, shows women and children at the railroad station awaiting transportation out.

Four Cows Die as Result Poisoning

Clyde Oliver, Owner, Says Definite Source Is Undetermined

GATES, July 6.—Clyde Oliver, who lives up Mad creek southeast of Gates, lost four head of cattle recently from causes not fully determined. Authorities from the state college stated the trouble might be from fern poisoning. Evidently the trouble is from something poisonous in the pasture. A veterinary will examine a cow which is sick with the trouble.

Corvallis Chalks Up Minus Record On 4th Accidents

CORVALLIS, July 6.—Not a single person residing in Corvallis during the three-day July 4th holiday was injured critically by fireworks, automobiles or other causes, a survey made of local hospitals revealed today. The check showed not one person had been brought to medical centers for accident treatment of any kind.

Practically one-half of the residents of the college town vacated their homes over the holidays to join parades to Oregon beach, mountain and lake resorts. Returning last night the travelers were guests of the Corvallis Lions club at Avery park, the new recreation area recently donated to public use by the service club, for a fire works display.

Tourist Army Invading Europe

Not since before the depression has there been such an exodus of Americans to foreign shores as this summer. In May alone more than 33,000 United States citizens were issued passports for foreign travel, many of them attracted by the coronation at Westminster Abbey. Another 30,000 are expected to cross the Atlantic in June, drawn abroad by the Paris exposition and other special events. Analysis of the tourist army, which annually visits Europe from United States reveals that housewives are the most traveled class, comprising 14 per cent of the voyagers. Students and teachers, taking advantage of summer vacations, make up another 20 per cent of those who keep the ocean liners busy.

Mrs. Kate Vaughn Buried on Monday

Resident of Linn and Lane Counties Most of Life; Illness Extended

LEBANON, July 6.—Mrs. Kate C. Vaughn, a highly esteemed woman of Lebanon where she has lived many years, passed away at her home July 2, following a lingering illness.

Kate C. Rieland was born in Ohio and came west with her parents when a child; she has lived in Linn and Lane counties since she was eight years of age and in Lebanon met and married Murray Vaughn, well known in Lebanon business circles.

She was a member of Artisans and a charter member of the Riverside sewing circle, organized 17 years ago.

Besides her widower, she is survived by one son, Leonard Vaughn of Lebanon; three grandchildren, Mary Lee, Robert and Darrell Vaughn; one brother, Martin Rieland of Lebanon; two sisters, Mrs. Z. H. Rudd of Albany and a sister, Walburga.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a. m., in St. Edward Catholic church by Rev. Father John Williams, with burial services in charge of the N. C. Lowe mortuary at the Masonic cemetery.

New Store Opened
Louis Bennett, owner and operator of one of Lebanon's large grocery stores, opened his new store for business in the Rapp building of Sweet Home Saturday and while a formal opening will be announced later the patronage and number of visitors on the first day gave bright promise for the future of the business.

The South Dakota picnic at Waterloo Sunday with about 200 in attendance gave evidence that South Dakota is active in the increase of population in the Willamette valley. The S. D. picnic will be an annual affair with Otto Stevens, Lebanon, chairman of arrangements; Bert Patton, Lebanon, vice chairman; S. A. Palmer, Lebanon, secretary-treasurer; J. A. Dunn, Monmouth, chairman program committee; Mrs. J. A. Eastland of Sweet Home, chairman, dinner committee.

Competitive Spirit at State Ball Tournery so Keen That Even Noise Making Coming in for Arguments

By LILLIE L. MADSEN

SILVERTON, July 6.—Whether Silvertown or Sellwood root-ers made the most noise Monday night is debatable and some bets were being offered on the winners. There were many less Sellwood rooters but Silvertown was pretty hoarse.

Speaking of hoarseness—the grandstand was noticeably quieter Tuesday night. Mrs. C. J. Schlador (Zetta) of the Women's Specialty Shop at Silvertown and Harold Larsen of Bishop's at Salem had voices that were scarcely more than a whisper at the beginning of the evening and following the Silvertown-Sellwood game could not be heard at all.

Jack Currie of Salem, Silvertown and the Waldo Hills was conceded as having the voice box most resistant to wear and tear of any of the some 3000 voice-boxes in attendance at the week-end games.

The Silvertown boys' band, directed by Joe Hassenstab, has taken the eye of out-of-town announcers who quite frequently have asked the spectators to give the boys a hand. The band has made nightly appearances at the game. Their scarlet and gold uniforms have attracted much attention.

Suggest Gum Chewing Match It has been suggested that following the close of the baseball tournament at Silvertown a gum-chewing tournament might prove successful. Almost the entire grandstand and bleachers chew in unison and it is believed that should a gum-chewing director be available he (or she) might be able to time down one of the Silvertown doctors and one of the visiting women of the press so that they too might chew in beat with the other 3000 chewers.

Jim Nutter of several press services and Tommy Thompson, local publicity manager, were among the most popular men at the games Monday night—giving out information about hits, runs and errors and the present and past of the players.

Jell Gets Big Hand No more popular pitcher than Molalla's 16-year-old Jell (not pronounced like the preserve, but with the "e" given more of a long A sound) has appeared upon the diamond since the tournament. When Jell struck out his even dozen Monday, the cheering could be heard almost to Jell's home-town borders. It was also noted that one of the big league scouts leaned over the grandstand railing to ask for further information.

Ernie Johnson of the Boston Red Sox had some nice things to say of Silvertown's field. In fact, he remarked over the "hike" that he had in all his travels never seen a better lighted field.

Those who went to Cascadia were Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Charlesworth, Miss Nellie Moser, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curnee, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Moser and Orlan, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Krenz, Mr. and Mrs. M. Gilmour, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Humphrey and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Krenz, Laurel and Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Fisher, Lawrence and Alice Jean joined other relatives at Stayton and spent the day at the E. C. Downing home.

Picnic on Elkhorn
Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Fisher, Miss Ella Fischer of Salem, Patricia Ann and Phillip Alexander, picnicked at Elkhorn and in the afternoon were joined by Mr. and Mrs. S. Jepson, Miss Beatrice Jepson of Mill City, and Carl Jones.

Miss Thelma Humphreys was the week-end house guest of friends at Toledo.
