

Bailey Claims Bill not Valid

Control of Supreme Court, Declared Purpose of Administration

that opposition senators blocked the introduction of the farm bill today. The opposition replied the bill can be introduced any time the administration forces choose to relax their rules.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) charged the farm bill was brought in to put the focus of the court bill "on the spot" by making it appear they are blocking farm legislation.

Soon afterward, President Roosevelt sent a message to Capitol Hill saying it is vitally important to the nation that the farm legislation be passed at this session.

Bailey denounced the substitute court bill now before the senate, saying it is just as objectionable as the original measure. It provides, he said, for the same "control over the decision of the supreme court."

"Gradualism" and "Comparison Made"

With sarcastic emphasis, he referred to the fact that the substitute provides for the appointment of one additional judge each year, instead of the addition of six at once.

"You say that appointments year by year would not be such a grave matter," he exclaimed. "Commit murder on that basis and see how soon you get convicted."

Senator O'Mahoney, slight of figure but powerful oratorically, denied the existence of a filibuster against the measure and charged the administration with sag rule.

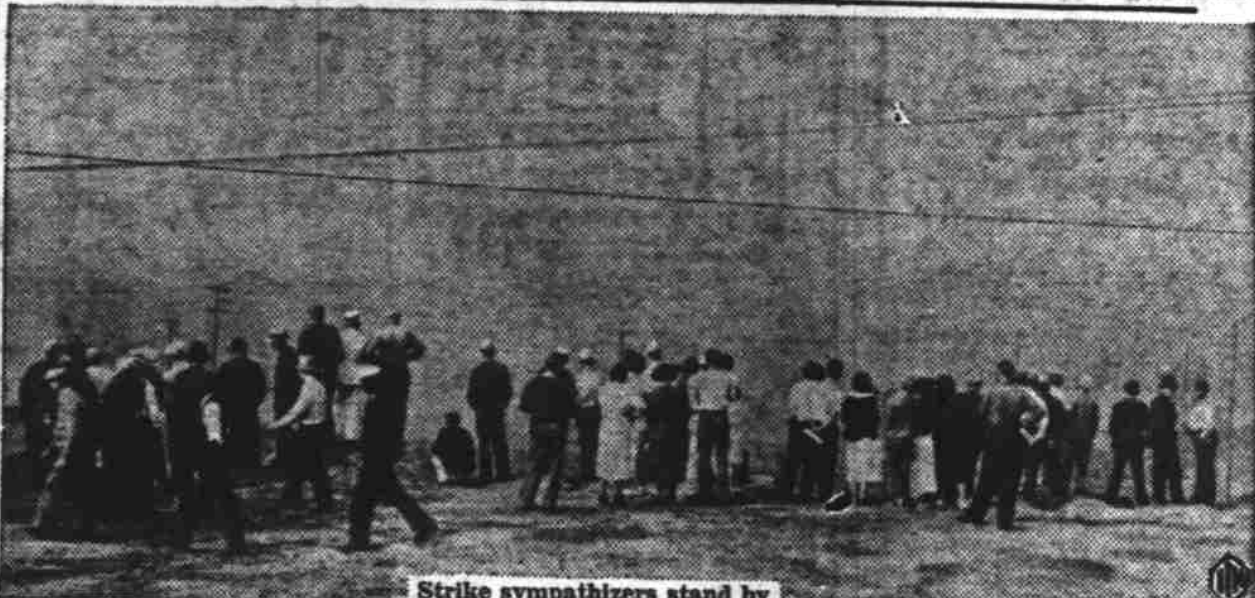

"There has no filibuster," he said. "The only talk about filibuster has proceeded from the mouth of the majority leader of the democratic party in the senate, in threats that he had the votes to pass the bill and that he would pass it without debate, or with only that debate which could be carried on by senators who are compelled to watch every question that is propounded to them lest they be taken off the floor in the midst of their discussion."

He complained bitterly of the rule invoked by Robinson, restricting members of the senate to two speeches upon any one subject during the entire debate.

days ahead of Marion county, is going ahead with its plan of financing a new courthouse at Albany from excess funds, Commissioner Hewlett reported after interviewing the neighboring officials yesterday.

"I think we can go ahead, too," Hewlett said. "It may be possible we can finance the entire project if necessary. If we have to do that, we could levy around $30,000 this fall and the same amount next year, use up our cash surplus and borrow the rest."

The deputy clerk's statement listed the county's assets at $793,039.18, consisting of taxes receivable, $377,476.73 cash, $320,319.03; accounts receivable, $40,332.88; estimated revenue to be collected up to December 31, $155,012.84. He set up liabilities totaling $351,771.92, to include warrants payable, $4762.16; accounts payable, $33,028; elementary school tax due, $45,944.40, and appropriations for July 1 to December 31, $268,037.36.

A separate study of the roads and highway funds showed $109,372.99 in excess assets.

political council, the north Chinese administrative body, had negotiated a settlement with the Japanese.

During last night's fighting the chatter of machine guns, punctuated by the roar of artillery, was audible in Peiping from about 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. (6 a. m. to 7 a. m. PST).

The fighting was nearer Peiping than previous clashes, which began Wednesday night along the Yungting river, 10 miles west of the city, when Japanese infantrymen on night maneuvers collided with troops of the Chinese 29th army.

Chinese reports said last night's fighting started when Japanese infantrymen stationed at Tachingsun, a village on the Peiping-Wanpinghsien highway four miles east of the river, advanced to within firing range of Chinese troops holding Tsakhen-miao (temple of the God of wealth), only two miles from Peiping's walls.

Chinese said the Japanese retired after an hour's fighting. Chinese declared the Japanese broke the truce, which had been in effect since Sunday night, although both sides were vague as to its terms.

Dumping of Crab Trucks Is Charge

TOLEDO, July 12.—(AP)—Justice of the Peace Earl Conrad bound to the grand jury Basil Jones and Allan McKie, arrested at Charleston last night by state police charged with dumping crabs from a Pacific truck express north of Newport a week ago, and set their bail at $1000.

Sergeant W. J. Mulkey of the state police said the men belonged to the Pacific coast fishermen's union of Coos Bay. The express company filed charges of malicious injury to personal property. Both men were held in jail here.

Officials of the exclusive Lakeside club, where Montague performed amazing feats with his clubs and consistently made dubs out of the most amazing golfers, said that no steps are being taken to take away his membership.

Montague, through Giesler, agreed to appear at a sheriff's line-up tomorrow night.

We want to know the source of his bulky bankroll and we are investigating in an attempt to determine whether he is connected with any crimes in this area," said Howard Hinshaw, deputy district attorney.

Roseburg's attorney, Montague replied: "Let them look. I've got nothing to hide. My life in Hollywood has been an open book."

Helen G. Riddle's Funeral Is Today

ROSEBURG, July 12.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Helen Gable Riddle, 81, whose father, husband and son in turn served in the state legislature.

Her father, Judge J. F. Gable, served four terms in the legislature, and, as presidential elector, carried Oregon's vote for Lincoln to Washington, D. C.

She was the widow of the late George W. Riddle, former Douglas county judge and legislator and later commandant of the state soldiers' home, and the mother of Glen W. Riddle, present representative from Douglas county.

Maintenance on North Santiam Highway Taken Over by State, Report

Responsibility for maintenance of the North Santiam Highway between Niagara and Gates has been assumed by the state highway commission, County Commissioner Roy S. Nelson said yesterday. This section already had been designated a secondary highway but the highway commission had done nothing other than build a new road from Mill City to Gates on its own survey.

The county will continue to maintain the highway above Gates.

In a Land of Haunting Beauty
Brilliant new serial story, of Alaskan Romance

THE CAPTIVE BRIDE

By Barrett Willoughby

A man, a girl, a mystic river . . . a story of irresistible appeal in the country of the Northern Lights.

Barrett Willoughby has captured the magic spell of her beloved Alaska for this stirring tale of romantic adventure. She has written against a background of glacier-fed mountain streams that run milk-white; rugged mountains cloaked in magnificent greenery and flowers; roaring rivers and majestic silences.

How does a gently-bred city girl, forced into this rugged life, face its primitive people? How does she escape an ill-fated romance to find genuine happiness? Read every chapter of this fascinating story.
