Meanies Deny Strategy Need

Moran and McDougall Will Just Bust 'em; Other Side Divides Work

Wrestling Tonight
Main event—Team wrestling, Otis Clingman and Tetsura Higami vs. Sandy McDougall and Sailor Moran.
Semi-final—Danny Russo vs. Wild Bill Mandell.
Opener—Andy Tremaine vs. Ace Abbott.

The navy meets the navy on even terms tonight, and the balance of power lies in the allies of either side—the one a red-headed Scotchman, tough but blunt, the other an almond-eyed Japanese, expert in stealth and torture.

In what shapes up as the most formidable team battle ever staged on the local armory mat, Promoter Herb Owen will send Tetsura Higami, the Japanese bouncer, back, and Otis Clingman, considered here to be the world's second ranking middleweight, in against Sailor Moran and Sandy McDougall, villainous artists.

Strategy of the two meanies remains mystery, except for a brief statement by McDonald. "Strategy?" the Scot demanded. "Nuts. We don't need strategy. Moran'll bust 'em over the heart, and I'll bust 'em wherever I get a chance in about 10 minutes we'll have to pick 'em up to hit 'em!"

Map Defense, Too
Clingman and Higami, realizing the punching-power of their opponents, have mapped out a definite campaign. Otis will be the spearhead of the attack, with Higami following to nail on his deadly oriental jiu jitsu paralyzers.

On defense, Higami is expected to extricate both grapplers from dangerous position with his nervousness. When one man has been disposed of, Clingman hopes to hold the other while Higami works the paralyzers.

Promoter Owen has booked two red-hot preliminaries. In the 20-minute semi-final, Danny Russo, the flashy New York Italian, is scheduled to mix with Wild Bill Mandell, cousin of Sammy Mandell, the old lightweight champion, and a dangerous hitter in his own right.

The 30-minute opener will match Andy Tremaine, sensational Tucson, Arizona, mangler against Ace Abbott, former half-back for the Southern Methodist Mustangs.

The bouts begin at 8:30.

Savant Analyzes World Problems

International Peace Seen From Three Angles by Dr. Cherrington

Dr. Bea Cherrington, director of the foundation for advancement of social science at the University of Denver, spoke on the subject of international affairs before a crowd of over 500 people at Sunday's Wilson park open air meeting, sponsored by the local ministerial association and the Y. M. C. A.

There are three schools of thought in the international field, Dr. Cherrington indicated, classifying them as favoring respectively, policies of isolation, cooperation, and counterfeited isolation.

An isolation policy would necessitate the cancellation of all foreign debts and keeping foreign trade at a minimum. It would result in either state capitalism or socialism, Dr. Cherrington predicted.

Exponents of cooperation seek to abolish the present form of international anarchy by the membership of all nations in the international bank, the League of Nations, the world court, and numerous similar agencies.

Economic cooperation between nations would be a part of the program, taking care of the lack of raw materials in some countries by international sharing of natural wealth.

The third and final classification, counterfeited isolation, involves the idea that a nation can have all the world trade it wishes and still retain a position of security.

This plan would necessitate a navy second to none, Dr. Cherrington stated, and therein lays its weakness. Economic activity cannot be divorced from politics, he said. Government protection is essential to economic transactions, a fact that would result in "power politics" under counterfeited isolation.

Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, president of Willamette university, will speak at next Sunday's meeting on a youth topic. The program is under the direction of the Salem youth council.

John A. Friesen, Salem choral director, who directed a chorus of 60 voices at last Sunday's meeting, plans to enlarge it to 100 voices next Sunday. He intends to report for a practice session at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Big Davis Cup Problem

WITH the crucial inter-zone finals of the Davis Cup series coming up this weekend, the U. S. officials are still wondering about their No. 2 singles selection.

When the American racketeers turned back the Australians 5-to-0, it was thought that the best possible U. S. singles lineup had been discovered in Budge and Grant.

However, recent happenings at Wimbledon have caused a lot of the experts to weaken on Budge as the logical No. 2 player.

Grant was far from himself in the all-England classic. Handicapped by a cold and sore back muscles, the mighty mite aggravated his ailments by playing in the cold, damp British weather. It remains to be seen whether he can shake off the effects of this inauspicious start.

Meanwhile, Frank Parker, rated one notch above Grant in national ranking, has come on like a house afire to dispute Budge's right to carry the assignment.

Parker amazed the net public by reaching the semi-finals at Wimbledon, beating Germany's No. 2 man, Henkel, on the way. Frank was magnificent against the all-conquering Budge, taking one set and putting up a terrific battle all the way.

Woodburn was eliminated by Pacific Fruit 5 to 0 when the Portlanders got to Fallin for six hits and four runs in the second and scored again in the seventh.

Andy Peterson put in his belated appearance to pitch for Toledo and it wasn't his fault that Consolidated Freight held the Lincoln county team scoreless and won 3 to 0. Don McFadden held Toledo to four hits.

WOODBURN, July 12-(Special)—One easy victor and one that took some hard battling were scored by the Woodburn American junior baseball team here Sunday in a double header that opened its participation in the district playoffs.

In the opener the Woodburn team defeated Dallas 14 to 0, collecting 15 hits while Krupicka and Croisan pitched an effective ball to shut out the visitors.

Hillsboro's wide-awake team was a different story. Love, Hillsboro pitcher, held Woodburn to five hits, but the home boys collected a run in the third inning and another in the seventh to win 2 to 1. Hillsboro getting a tally in the eighth.

Jell permitted the Washington county boys nine hits but kept them well scattered and had exceptional support, especially R. J. catcher, who nipped three men off the bases at strategic moments.

Jell also fanned nine men, several of them at moments when Hillsboro threatened. One such occasion was in the sixth when he cracked out a double.

Woodburn's run in the third came when Halter led off with a single, stole second and came in on an overthrow at first base on Gant's grounder. In the seventh Krupicka beat out a hit, but the hillsboro shortstop could only knock down Stetter's hard-hit grounder. LaPorte's double and Schlage's single accounted for Hillsboro's run.

Reliable Shoe 2, Silverton 3.
Consolidated 2, Toledo 0.

SILVERTON, July 12—Baseball for Oregon's semi-pro baseball championship was narrowed to six teams Sunday with two more scheduled to fall by the wayside tonight. Reliable Shoe of Portland emerged as the favorite and the only undefeated team when it defeated Silverton 24 to 8 here Sunday night.

The others left in the running with one defeat each were Silverton, Cornelius, Pacific Fruit, Consolidated Freight, Sellwood and St. Helens.

Silverton fans were chagrined when the biggest crowd of the season, in excess of 2500, turned out Sunday night only to see the two Mar'n county teams humbled, but they took consolation from the fact that only one of the regular pitchers figured in the slaughter, leaving both Burch and Wilson fresh for further competition.

Bobbies Start Rout
After Jerry Gastneau, upset by unfortunate hobbles behind him at the start, failed to hold the Shoemen in the first inning, Arland Schwab was called in from the outfield to bear the brunt of the veteran Portlanders' attack.

Salem Loses Out On Oswego Links
Members of the Salem Golf club's 19-man team found themselves sufficiently handicapped by the mountainous though perfectly-groomed fairways of the Lake Oswego Country club Sunday that they lost the team match to the Oswego players 42 to 15.

The team was composed of home-and-home basis the Salem club won for the season, 69 to 57, having won the home match 57 to 15 early in May.

The Salem players were unanimous in their praise of the Oswego layout, admirably designed to take advantage of the varied terrain.

Unusual features include one hole on which a sliced or short tee shot drops several hundred feet down the mountainside. From that same tee an excellent view of the Willamette river, Portland and the Cascade peaks is provided.

Another novelty is the ancient automobile transformed into a cable car to transport players to an elevated teeing ground.

Roy Wiggins of the Oswego team scored a 32, including one "double slip" on the more mountainous nine. Summary:

Salem Ball Team Loses by 67 Runs In Game Long Ago
PORTLAND, July 12-(P)—WPA project workers uncovered reports showing one of the first inter-city baseball games in Oregon was played between Salem and Portland back in the late 60's.

The Salem team was that of the Dysodia Baseball club, "A society organized for the development of muscles." The game was played at the state fair grounds. Score: Portland 92, Salem 25.

The workers also revealed that in 1887 Sunday baseball was frowned upon to such an extent by Oregon pioneers that baseball clubs legislated against it themselves.

A resolution printed in the Oregon City Enterprise August 3 of that year stated:

"The practice of playing ball on Sunday is not only very immoral, but disturbs the peace and quiet of the neighborhood where it is practiced. * * * Names of club members will be erased from books if they use the grounds or any implements belonging to the club on Sunday.

Giants Battle But Phils Win

Triple Play Engineered by Losers and Boss Terry Chased From Park

PHILADELPHIA, July 12-(P)—While the Giants furnished much of the excitement today with a first-inning triple play and Mr. Bill Terry's ninth-inning ejection, the Phillies combined three hits with an error, four bases on balls and a sacrifice to score six runs in the seventh and whip the New Yorkers, 6 to 3.

Orville Jorgens was pitching in the ninth when Terry was thrown out of the game, the first time that has happened to him in his career. The Giants' pilot objected to a strike called on Mel Ott by Umpire Bill Klem.

Klem ended a long argument by ordering Terry out of the dugout.

Make Triple Killing
The Terry-men, who had beaten the Phils six out of their last nine games and were seeking to gain ground on the leading Cubs, turned back their rivals' first threat in the opening inning by executing the second triple play of the National league season.

Norris, Martin and John Moore led off with successive hits to fill the bases. Then Arnovich lofted a short fly into right. Ott came tearing in, just managed to snare it, and tossed to Mancuso. Norris, thinking the ball had fallen safe, was over the plate and an easy out. Mancuso then tossed to Bartell, who in turn threw to Chiozza to retire Martin.

Errors Give Win To Lebanon Nine In Corvallis Tilt
CORVALLIS, July 12.—With both choppers allowing only five hits and striking out ten men, the Corvallis baseball school nine dropped its first encounter of the season this weekend at Lebanon when four Corvallis errors at critical times allowed the Berry Pickering diamond aggregation to end up with a 6 to 3 victory.

The game, a pitchers' duel between Lefty Saunders of Corvallis and Tom Morgan of Lebanon, was a slated seven inning affair but was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

Three of the quartet of fumbles charged to the Corvallis squad were credited to first baseman Carlson who, playing his first game on the initial sack, allowed a trio of throws to go through him and bring in Lebanon runs.
