The Royal Anne harvest has about reached its peak and will dwindle off the last of the week while the Lamberts are just beginning to come in.

The best cherry tonnage seems to be coming from the foothill areas where the maturity of the crop was retarded and the fruit

> Some experimental drying of blackcaps was carried on at a farm last year, and as a result this item has been stepped up this season.

Manager W. H. Wood states that the dried blackcap deal this year looks very successful. Drying entails about the same process as for prunes, except that because they are smaller, the berries require less heat and are easier to handle. They dry down about 4 to 1, instead of 3 to 1 as is the accepted ratio between green and dried prunes. 30 10 10 10 Rails Indust. Util. For ga Dry for 14 Hours

The raspberries utilize heat at 120 degrees for 14 hours, greatly under the prune requirement. Most of the dried fruit will go east, the market being largely with extract people who value the high coloring content.
