Formality Is Required to Clear Record, Estate of Paul Johnson

Sheriff A. C. Burk and his deputies have sold many pieces of land and numerous automobiles under foreclosure or execution orders but yesterday they had a new article to dispose or, a $400 diamond ring. Mrs. Paul Johnson, who claimed the ring as hers and not that of the G. W. Johnson company estate, was the purchaser. The record shows satisfaction of the court order of execution in the sum of $400. The suit she brought to secure the ring was considered largely a matter of clearing probate records as to its ownership.

Drama Groups to Present Playlets

Three Age Divisions Take Part in Program Set Friday Afternoon

Three drama groups at the Olinger playgroud, under the direction of Mrs. Ramona Reasoner, have been working on several plays the past few weeks, which they expect to present there before the public next Fri-day afternoon. There will be three one-act plays written by Constance D'Arcy MacKay, pop-ular author of children's plays.

Group I is comprised of children from 5 to 8 years and have been playing make-believe games and "acting out" nursery and fairy stories. Friday they they will present several simple dialogues and group readings. A fantastic pantomine picturing a contest between Mistress rain with her rain drops and the Sun and sunbeams, will be the children's own intepretation of this event in Weatherland. Fairles to Appear

Boys and girls from 9 to 12 years are in Group II, which will present two fairy playlets. These are stories with woodland settings. The Elf Child portrays the struggle of an elf, who longs to be a human child, to gain a soul, so she may have a home with a mother's love. The Gooseehrd and the Goblin has a touch of comedy and tragedy combined for the discontented little gooseherd, who, luckily, had three wishes granted by the goblin.

The Forest Spring is a playlet of Italian origin, which will be presented by the older group of young people in the Olinger is being distributed in this replayground drama club: Sage gion, besides the convention trips philosophy and quaint folk lore offered the sectional winners. unite to make it a truly delightful play.

The work of these children deserves the encouragement of a fine attendance next Friday afternoon for an hour or two. the east end of Olinger play park will be converted into a natural outdoor stage and ampitheatre for these events.
