Catches Huge Trout—A monster trout weighing 30 1/2 pounds was caught recently by L. J. Hendrickson, Kenora, Ontario paper-maker, at Clearwater Bay, the big battler taking an hour and a half to land. Measuring 40 1/2 inches in length and 25 inches in girth, the catch was entered by Mr. Hendrickson in the Kenora Anglers club big fish competition, and ranks as the biggest trout caught this season as yet. Mr. Hendrickson used a steel rod and copper line. Clearwater Bay is becoming the fishermen's hunting ground for big trout and some large ones have been landed there this season. Lincoln J. Hendrickson is a former Salem boy. His father and mother live at 1540 South Cottage street.

Defendant Is Given Verdict

Damage Claims of Griffin Not Allowed; Case of Boies Opens Today

The circuit court jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant late yesterday afternoon in the suit of C. O. Griffin against Patrick McCaffery for $2669 automobile accident damages. Arthur Girod was jury foreman.

The next civil trial, the case of Dexter Boies vs. Ben Wilson and Salem Sand & Gravel company, will open at 9 o'clock this morning before Judge L. G. Lewelling. Boies is suing for $2008 for an alleged assault upon him by Wilson, allegedly in employ of the gravel company. The defendants answered with the assertion Boies started the fight on which the action is based.

Because nearly all of yesterday was required for trial of the Griffin-McCaffery case Judge Lewelling postponed action on motions until his next regular motion day.

Mrs. Birkenhauer Invalid 13 Years

Thirteen years as a helpless invalid ended in death for Mrs. Julia Birkenhauer July 16. She was 93 years of age.

Born at Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1844, she was married in 1869 and lived in Michigan and Ohio for a number of years. She had been a teacher in her younger days in a girls' seminary in Monroe, Mich., and was a musician of exceptional ability.

In 1882 she and her family emigrated to the Ozarks in a covered wagon in true pioneer fashion, and there her husband founded a new town. He passed away in 1913.

Mrs. Birkenhauer came to Salem in 1918 in company with a daughter, Mrs. Irene Carmical, and grandchildren, Fred and Maurine Carmical, to join another daughter, Mrs. Lula McLaughlin. She was a member of the Lutheran church.

Divorces Granted To Two by Judge

Three new Cases Started Here; Cruelty Charge in two Instances

Divorce decrees were granted to two plaintiffs and applied for by three others in circuit court here yesterday.

Marion E. Heisel won a divorce from Melvin Heisel. The decree provided for the defendant's payment of $40 monthly for support of five minor children and $30 monthly alimony and ratified a property settlement whereby plaintiff received all household goods.

The other severance of marriage was awarded Myrtle R. Bennett, plaintiff, against George Bennett, defendant, by default.

Complaint for divorce was filed by Zelta M. Jory against Lewis H. Jory on the grounds that he treated her cruelly to such an extent she was forced to leave him. They were married here in 1926. She asks for custody of two minor children and a monthly allowance for their support.

Impressment Cited
Among allegations set up against her husband, Thomas Stump, Erma Stump in another suit for divorce filed Tuesday declared in 1929 he had set fire to their home to secure insurance and was imprisoned as a result. In addition to a divorce she asks custody of their minor daughter.

Married in Salem last May 18, Tillie Blanchard yesterday applied for a divorce from John Blanchard on grounds of cruelty including the allegation he struck her with his fists. She also asked for restoration of her former name, Tillie Bickler.

Circuit court order granting $100 suit money was issued in favor of Estle Smalley against George W. Smalley.

Agree Upon Oiling Road at Chemawa

Oiling of the Chemawa Indian school grounds and of the county road along the east side will start about August 1, County Commissioner Roy Meison reported yesterday to the county court. The federal government is expected to pay the county for oiling of streets and roads on the school property.

On the county road a new grade has been constructed to eliminate a dangerous Southern Pacific crossing by providing unobstructed vision of the tracks in both directions. The railroad company has raised its tracks to conform to the new grade. A

Wood Cutting for County Discussed

Establishment of a WPA wood cutting project with the dual objective of replenishing the county's supply of fuel for relief families and of providing wood for heating a wing of the old Salem high school building which the WPA hopes to secure as a new location for its sewing room was discussed yesterday by WPA officials and the county court.

J. E. Smith, district WPA director, and T. J. Sheridan, district labor relations manager, told the court they hoped to complete arrangements with the school board to take over the southeast wing of the old building around August 1. The space they would need, they said, would not be sufficient to keep the county from moving in if construction of a new courthouse is undertaken.

The WPA executives are looking for new office and sewing room quarters because their lease on part of the Chambers building expires next month and because fire exits are smaller than the officials feel is safe. As many as 200 women have been employed in a day at the sewing room.
