

Ingenuity Makes Baking Pie an Adventure

Supposing we go adventuring in apple pies.

First green apples taste so good that we're perfectly satisfied with the flavor served plain, but soon the home baker will begin casting around for new ideas on crusts and fillings.

Beginning with the crust; try milk as the liquid in the paste, it's a different texture. Or maybe you'll like to roll out the pie or cut long and narrow, dot with shredded cheese and roll up like a jelly roll, then roll out once to the desired round to fit the pan.

For variety in the filling, try making a regular apple pie, sprinkling with coconut, then putting on a lattice crust, and with a half marshmallow in each square between the strips of crust. Bake as usual.

A thick applesauce, put into a baked shell and topped with whipped cream makes another filling.

A popular tea room in Seattle gains much of its patronage because of a specialty it serves. Here is the recipe for the owners' famous

MARLBOROUGH PIE

Line a pie pan with pie dough. Fill shell three-quarters full with chopped apples. Cream two egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, and add 2 tablespoons melted butter. Cream well, add 1 cup milk and pour the whole mixture over apples. Lattice the top with pastry and bake in a slow oven for about 35 minutes. Make a meringue with the whites of the eggs and brown.

An interesting top crust for apple pies goes this way and is a variation of puff paste.

CHEESE TOP CRUST

2 cups flour
1 package cream cheese
cold water
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cut shortening into flour, and salt, sifted together, and water. Roll out 1/4 inch thick keeping paste wider than it is long, and three pieces and place them in the center of the lower half of the paste, fold over the upper half and pinch edges together, now fold right half over enclosed cheese and the left half under. Turn a quarter of the way around, pat it down. Now fold one end to center, and other half over it and repeat 5 times, each time turning a quarter of the way around, and keeping as cold as possible. Use this for a lattice crust.

There are other adventures in apple pies. Some cooks use brown sugar for sweetening, some use honey for less juicy apples.

One cook I know makes jelly from the skins and cores, carefully opens a hole in the top of the crust after it's baked and pours in the jelly to fill up the cracks.

Vary the seasoning with nutmeg or cinnamon, a dash of mint, a little vanilla.

Fireplace Brightened Up With Soap

The most effective way to clean smoke stains from fireplace bricks is to brush off the surface with a stiff bristle or fine wire brush to remove all excess soot. Then make a mixture of one gallon soft soap, one pint ammonia and two pounds pumice stone. Brush over the surface against the working of the mixture into the brick, then wash with clear water. This should clean the brick thoroughly, but it is recommended that a small portion at the side of the fireplace be used for experiment first as the material used in your fireplace may not withstand the soap and might discolor.

Crush 12 small macarons and fold into one cup cream whipped, add a dash of vanilla and pipe the mixture on top of cornstarch pudding that has been served in sherbet glasses.

Be sure the furniture that you leave out in the weather is made with screws or nails, not merely glued or you'll find it rather wobbly after an evening in the dew.

An attractive way to make a top crust for a fruit pie is to cut a large round hole in the top, and make cross-crust across the opening.

Body of Holcomb Taken From River

PORTLAND, July 29.—(P)—Harbor patrolmen recovered the body of Samuel E. Holcomb from the Willamette river today after it was discovered by William Gezelon, towboat operator, near Swan Island.

A. E. Holcomb, a brother identified it.

Holcomb either fell or leaped from the steamer Cascade Sunday while returning from Bonneville with a party of democrats. Mrs. Catherine Mumford saw the body fall through the air and raised the call of "man overboard." The identity of the victim was not immediately known.

Contract Signed For Store Labor

CORVALLIS, July 29.—(P)—Corvallis grocery stores signed labor agreements providing a 48 hour week and extra pay for all overtime after the first 30 minutes with the newly-organized Industrial Employees Union, Inc.

It was the first union contracts with white collar employees in Corvallis.

On Bids on Timber

CENTRAL POINT, July 29.—(P)—Karl L. Janouch, forest supervisor, said today no bids were received for the purchase of 3,000,000 board feet of timber in the Rogue river national forest.

Today's Menu

A little fresh green corn will be included in today's menu and should taste mighty good for a change.

Lettuce chunks
Corn and green pepper saute
Broiled salmon fillet with tomatoes
Scalloped potato
Apple pie

Cut the corn from two or three ears of corn. Saute a chopped green pepper in butter until clear, add the corn, cover a few minutes and cook until corn is done. Season with salt and pepper.

Broil the tomatoes to go with the salmon.

Oldest Resident Reaches Age 105

FOREST GROVE, July 29.—(P)—Listed in the Who's Who in Oregon as the oldest state resident, Ambler Thornburgh celebrated his 105th birthday here today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ella Benefield.

The veteran Washington county patriarch was born in Tennessee in 1832 and came west 77 years ago, behind a yoke of oxen. After living in California he came here where for 20 years he was engaged in farming and sawmill operations.

Autumn Fashion Trends Told By Expert

Every so often there is something new under the sun, and this season's big surprise is the very new martized velvet which has unbelievable qualities. It's said by fashion experts to be the most important improvement in fabrics in the past few years. This new martized velvet is washable, almost indestructible and very attractive. It looks like other velvet but will never pack down, and is going to be mighty popular for the women's ready-to-wear.

Fall fashion trends were forecast by a ready-to-wear buyer in Salem yesterday. Here are some ideas to jot down and remember when planning the fall wardrobe.

WOOLS are the big thing for fall. There will be many import tweeds in the better coats.

SWAGGER BACKS are still preferred to fitted styles. There will be almost any length of coat, with jiggers and other short coats still in favor.

FUR coats will be shorter.

BLACK is definitely the color and it is forecast that 80 per cent of the suits, coats and dresses for the first month of fall will be black.

ALMOST all the shoes for fall and winter will be suede, with multi-colors in the deeper shades. There are a few open-toed shoes being shown for winter. Black and grey combine.

Bags will match shoes, so, of course, will run to suede.

Dressing Begins With Red Jelly

Red jelly makes sauces and dressings when broken down with a bit of vinegar. Here is a recipe for

RUBY RED DRESSING

4 tablespoons currant jelly
2 tablespoons oil
1 tablespoon white vinegar
Pinch of salt

1/2 teaspoon fresh onion juice
Beat jelly with fork until smooth. Add remaining ingredients and continue beating until thoroughly blended. This emulsion holds indefinitely upon standing.

Some clever person has invented the idea of folding crushed peppermint candy into whipped cream and serving over hot ginger bread.

One of the first picnics to be scheduled at the municipal park in Salem is the one planned by men's and women's classes of the First Methodist church for tonight. The affair will begin at 6:30. An old-fashioned spelling bee is to be a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. R. C. Vandevort and her daughter, Margaret, of San Francisco are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cole for a week.
