Eight Communities Taking Space for Exhibits; Interest High

DALLAS—The Polk County fair board met last Saturday. Much interest has been shown by the various farm communities in exhibiting at the county fair this fall. The Polk county fair board reported that there were eight communities who are planning on making exhibits at the county fair at Monmouth this fall. The communities are as follows: Elkton Women's club, Ft. Hill grange, Brush College grange, Buena Vista Farmers union, Rickreall grange, Monmouth grange, Ballston Farmers union, Liberty Farmers union.

Owing to the fact that the space will be limited, no new entries will be accepted after August 1st. The fair board agreed to offer a special prize of $20.00 to the Polk County Federated Women's club for a booth at the county fair on the following: canned fruits and vegetables, sewing, flowers, decorations, miscellaneous. Park Popular Spot

The Dallas city park is proving a popular place again this year for family gatherings and for club picnics. Sunday, August 1, in the Woods clan, Gilliam clan, Hiebert clan, and the East Side club of Amity all held meetings there. There were 75 present for the Gilliam reunion, 80 present for the Hiebert reunion, 55 at the Hiebert reunion, and 45 members of the Amity club present.

According to Walter C. Bird, who has charge of the park, there were 150 cars parked on the grounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The record attendance for this year was Sunday, July 25, when Mr. Bird counted 210 cars parked there early in the afternoon.

Greyhound Busses New Cruiser Type

Two Years of Road Tests Precede Installation of Novel Design

Representing the last word in modern motor coach design, a fleet of Greyhound cruisers is now being placed in service between Portland and San Francisco over the Pacific highway to B. Jones traffic manager Mount Shasta route, according to the bus company. Pioneered and developed by Greyhound officials, the new cruisers which will serve these routes are the result of much preliminary experimentation and incorporate many improvements made after two years of road-testing under all conditions of service. They bring to Oregonians the finest equipment and service available throughout the nation-wide Greyhound system, according to Mr. Jones.

Improvements Many The new cruiser incorporates many improvements in motor coach design. It is streamlined, with motor in the rear to reduce sound and vibration. Accommodates 37 passengers who ride high, can see over the tops of other cars, and enjoy a better view of the highways. Baggage is carried in special dust and waterproof compartments beneath the floor.

Build of aluminum alloy, the new bus has greater structural strength and weight of the vehicle is two tons less than present equipment. Aluminum window sashes are equipped with anti-rattling devices and all windows are fitted with shatter-proof glass. Ventilation is individually controlled by each passenger.

The new-type, individual chairs are built for relaxation on long trips, with four reclining positions, more leg room and adjustable foot rests.

Otto N. Hoppes was elected president of the Salem Insurance agents union at the monthly meeting yesterday at the Quella. He will succeed Fred E. Mangis. Other new officers are Leslie Wadsworth, vice-president; Clarence M. Byrd, secretary-treasurer, and George W. Croisan, director.

New Super-Coaches in Use Here

Views of such scenic wonders as snow-clad Mount Shasta can now more easily be obtained by Greyhound travelers over the Pacific Highway, for the company has just placed a fleet of new Super Coaches in service over this route. The new buses are now also in service between Portland and San Francisco over the scenic Oregon Coast-Redwood Highway route. Passengers ride high and enjoy greater visibility. Baggage is carried beneath the floor in special compartments amidships. The motor is in the rear. Roomier than previous buses, the new coach carries 36 passengers and driver.

Sails 10,000 Miles Alone from Halifax to L. A.

Captain W. A. Crowell, 60, who set sail a year ago from Halifax, N. S., and traveled 10,000 miles around the continent to Los Angeles harbor, is pictured aboard his 23-foot yawl shortly after he arrived in that port. His only companion on the long voyage was Togo, whom he calls the "best dog afloat." Crowell will cast off shortly for Vancouver, B. C., where his journey will end.—I. L. N. photo.

Delegates Chosen For Kiwanis Meet

Dr. English Tells Method Used for Protection of East's Game Birds

Mayor V. T. Kuhn, President Ben Ramseyer of the club and Dr. Henry E. Morris were elected by the Salem Kiwanis club at its Tuesday luncheon as delegates to the state convention which will be held in Portland August 15 to 17. David Wright, W. W. Chadwick and William Braun, the latter club secretary, were named alternates.

The club cancelled plans for its picnic which was scheduled for Olinger field last night, and instead will picnic at the coast at a later date.

Surprise that Oregon is releasing 100,000 Chinese pheasants raised on game farms was expressed by Dr. Penoyer F. English, professor of wild life management at Connecticut State college, in a talk before the club dealing with his specialized subject.

In Michigan and in Connecticut only a few thousand pheasants are raised on game farms and nature, abetted by the wild life management program, does the rest, the educator said.

He described the Williamson township plan in Michigan, started by farmers whose lands were over-run with hunters in the pheasant season. Now the amount of hunting is carefully controlled by a permit system, and at the same time protection for pheasants the remainder of the year and particularly in the mating season is provided. Food supplies are arranged in close proximity to the cover which is left for protection of the birds, along fences and on parts of the farms not otherwise cultivated.

Dr. English is a graduate of Salem high school and is visiting his mother here for the first time in a number of years.

Sewing Project's Delegation Heard

Small encouragement was given yesterday by county relief officials to a committee of three women representing a group of 53 women recently released from the local WPA sewing project.

Bounded by a strict budget and a program calling for direct relief to unemployed only the relief committee could only suggest that something might be done for those women eligible for direct relief, to receive which a woman must have a doctor's certificate stating that the bearer is physically unable to work. The certificate must be checked by Dr. V. E. Hockett, county physician.

The relief committee explained the sewing room workers' representatives that addition of a large number of persons to direct relief rolls would mean that each person's quota would be diminished.

After a mass of thanksgiving an informal program was given in the school auditorium Friday morning at 8:30. The theme of the program was a mock graduation and was carried out with a great deal of amusing entertainment.

The outstanding work of the six-week session was the clinic work for typical children in which the school has been specializing for the past few years. The group method was introduced this year and proved very interesting. Sister M. Bernadette, who studied the DeBuske method of education at the University of Oregon, is in charge of the atypical classes. She was assisted in her work by Miss Pauline Saalfeld.

Classes in all the arts and sciences were likewise carried on. Both college and normal students attended.
