Library Receives Notable Volumes

"And So—Victoria" Seen as Outstanding Book of Current Year

Ordinarily few important books are released during the summer, but the addition to the Salem public library of three exceptions to this generality has just been announced by James T. Rubey, librarian. These distinguished accessions are Edna St. Vincent Millay's volume of poetry, "Conversation at Midnight," a commentary on our times; Walter Durranty's "One Life, One Kopeck," a literary gold mine novel; and Vaughn Wilkin's romantic novel, "And So—Victoria" which the book men hail as a fit successor to "Anthony Adverse" and "Gone With the Wind."

"Westerns and mysteries" for light summer reading have been featured by the library during the past week. Thirty-five new books have been added including such favorite writers as Agatha Christie, Marjory, Stringer, Van Dine, Walling, Whitechurch, Gregory, Grey Bower, Blindless and Seitzer.

The Hispanic American society has presented a number of volumes on Spanish and Portuguese literature during the past week. Other gifts include some forty volumes in the fields of physics, chemistry and medicine, electricity and metallurgy.

Government documents of importance received recently are the social security board's "Social Security in America," a comprehensive study; "Technological Trends" issued by the national resources committee; "Small Scale Placer Mines" published by the WPA; and the TVA's report of progress entitled "Tennessee Valley Authority, 1933-1937." A full list of new accessions to the library is available at the main desk.

Major Dana Allen Visits old Haunts

Army Man Here From China Formerly Worked in Clerk's Office

Major Dana H. Allen, more than 20 years ago an employe in the county clerk's office, returned there yesterday for a short visit with County Clerk Grant Boyer.

Major Allen, who was recently attached to the 15th infantry in Tientsin, China, is visiting several days in Salem and Hubbard before proceeding to Ardmore, Okla., where he will be assigned to duty with the Oklahoma national guard.

Born in Silverton, Major Allen was employed in the county clerk's office here in 1907. He served for ten years with the old third regiment of the Oregon national guard, an outfit which later became the 162d infantry. As a national guard member he saw service on the Mexican border in 1914 and after service overseas remained in the regular army.

Asked about the present situation between Japan and China Major Allen said that army regulations forbid him to make any statements.

Major Allen spent four years in the Philippines before a brief assignment to the Tientsin post. He left Tientsin July 16.

During his stay in the vicinity of Salem he is the guest of his sister, Mrs. John Miller of Hubbard, and Ed Hoffnall of Salem.

D. Kohler Again Figures in Crash

CORVALLIS, Aug. 13.—(P)—Donald Kohler and Miss Nagine Quigley, both of Corvallis, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another driven by Mrs. W. A. Winniford at a street intersection.

Physicians expressed concern over the condition of Kohler, who remained unconscious for several hours after the crash. He was recently released from the hospital after being injured July 29 in an accident near Albany which resulted in the death of Ellen Mosier of Corvallis.

Miss Quigley was less seriously injured.

Wayne Sturgess, 20, 1466 North Liberty street, won second place and a $75 cash award in the Fisher Body Craftsman's guild Napoleonic coach building competition in Oregon, according to an announcement made in Detroit by William A. Fisher, vice-president of General Motors and president of the guild. Judging had been in progress in Detroit since the close of the competition August 2.

Dunne Heads for Meet at Capital

T. Maurice Dunne, chairman of the Oregon unemployment compensation insurance commission, left Friday for Washington where he will attend a conference of unemployment insurance administrators of the 11 western states.

Methods of paying unemployment insurance will provide the outstanding topic of discussion at the conference. The Oregon unemployment compensation insurance was created in January, 1932, but benefit payments do not begin until next January.

Dunne said the benefit payments would be made through a subsidiary of the main Oregon unemployment insurance office.

Doubts Voiced on Financial Future

Recent statements by two members of the state board of control indicated that they are none too optimistic regarding the financial future.

Governor Charles H. Martin said the increasing prices might result in a period of inflation and injure the financial status of the entire country.

State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman warned that every precaution should be used in making state school investments.

Truckers not to Pass Picket Line

While restaurant proprietors heard reports that more establishments would be picketed by today or Sunday by the culinary alliance, representatives of the teamsters' union vigorously denied yesterday that any agreement had been reached whereby deliveries of produce had been made by union truckmen to picketed eating places.

Al Banks, business agency of the teamsters' union, said that on the contrary, union truckmen were not delivering produce through picket lines, and that closed shop agreements had been made by the produce houses.

He also said beer deliveries to picketed restaurants had been shut off.

In addition to the Liberty street restaurant which has been picketed for several weeks, a picket appeared before a State street eating place Friday.

Half Year Report Filed, Treasurer

Receipts of $629,721.76 for the first half of this year are shown in the semi-annual report of the county treasurer filed yesterday with the county clerk.

3 Counties Show Most Illiteracy

There is more illiteracy in Klamath, Jefferson and Sherman than in any other counties of the state, the state educational department announced today.

Each of these counties has between 2 and 4.3 per cent illiteracy. Counties having between 1 and 2 per cent illiteracy are Marion, Wasco, Hood River, Multnomah, Clatsop, Umatilla, Harney and Columbia.

Other counties have illiteracy rates of less than 1 per cent. The national illiteracy average is 4.3 per cent.

Photos of Fairs Of Past Desired

The Oregon state fair management is seeking a group of pictures that will show interesting general views of the fairgrounds or the tented city in the early days of the fair, particularly in the 1870's and 1880's.

The fair will pay one dollar for each acceptable picture mailed or brought to the headquarters office at the fairgrounds before noon on Monday, August 16. Suitable pictures should be mailed to the publicity department, Oregon state fair, Salem.

Relief Cost High For Half of Year

Nearly Three Million and a Half; in Excess of Total for 1936

Oregon expended $3,449,065 in relief activities in the first six months of 1937 according to a report of the state relief committee filed Friday with Governor Charles H. Martin.

Public assistance cost $1,724,328, with the state and counties paying 50 per cent each. Old age assistance cost $1,653,995, with the federal government paying half and the state and counties a quarter each. Aid to dependent children cost $1,580 and blind assistance $4,592.

Included in the $1,724,328 public assistance item were $1,237,747 for the care of the poor, $138,433 for mothers' aid, $64,824 for soldiers and sailors, $124,972 for poor farms and $165,840 for hospital treatment.

Exceeds 1936 Total
 In 1936 all of these activities cost $3,405,742. The state paid average monthly old age pensions of $12.38 to approximately 12,500 persons.

Pension expenditures for the last nine months of 1936 aggregated $1,929,781, with the number of cases increasing from 6,917 in April to 11,994 in December. The average monthly payments at that time was $20.89.

The average monthly blind pensions of $25.05 was paid to 406 persons this year. In the last eight months of last year $27,968 was spent for blind pensions, compared to 54,592 during the first half of this year.

A total of 1,327 dependent children received average payments of $11.74 a month, or a total of $15,580 during the six months period.

Reply Is Filed in Phil Green's Case

Brazier Small, attorney for the plaintiff in the case of Phil E. Green vs. Oscar Hayer, Jr., filed a reply affidavit in circuit court to the defendant's motion to set aside the summons on the grounds that it was improperly served.

Small stated in the reply that at the time of the serving of the summons Hayer had not filed an answer to the complaint in Dallas to which Small replied that the plaintiff, and not he, would be better off filing here.

The plaintiff, Small stated in the reply, is a man of moderate means and it would be less expensive to try the action in Salem than to be compelled to travel to Dallas or McMinville.
