

125 4-H Clubbers Tour Stock Farms

Prize Industries Located in two Counties Are Visited by Group

DALLAS—On the recent Willamette valley livestock and crop tour, outstanding farms in Multnomah and Clackamas counties were visited by 125 4-H club boys and leaders.

In Clackamas county, the Rufus Kraxberger farm, where corn and Chester White swine are raised by two 4-H members, the H. G. Belton farm, with special attention given to farm management and judging of Shropshire sheep, and the Ed Rindler farm where some of the finest Duroc Jersey swine in the West are raised, were visited.

The T. B. Wilcox Glenwood farm, in Multnomah county, is famous as a show place as well as for its outstanding flock of Rambouillet sheep. This flock, last fall, took five out of a possible six blue ribbons at the Chicago International Livestock show. On the small 12 acre farm of Mrs. Estelle Fenne, a Jersey herd of 30 to 40 head is maintained. This is one of the outstanding show herds in Oregon.

The S. E. Hall Holstein herd was included on the tour. Hall is considered a most successful Holstein breeder. His herd is famous for both show winnings and high production. The Fairland Guernsey dairy is owned by E. J. Mahy. Here the boys saw a herd all of which are directly descended from an importation of 20 head in 1914 from Guernsey island, of which Mr. Mahy is a native.

Stars in Heroic Film

Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen appear in the starring roles of Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkie" now featured at the Grand theatre through Friday.

"Wee Willie Winkie" With Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen Seen at Grand; India Locale of Story

Kipling's colorful characters live glamorously, adventurously and courageously on adventure's last frontier in the Twentieth Century-Fox picturization of his famed "Wee Willie Winkie," which opened yesterday at the Grand theatre, with Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen in the starring roles.

From the heart of mighty India, where all the world is wild and strange, where the British raj ends at Khyber Pass, in the land of the Bengal Lancers, comes this glorious adventure of the Scottish Highlanders in action and of the little girl who won the right to wear their plaid.

Life at a frontier army post in India is not too happy for Shirley and her widowed mother, June Lang, for her grandfather, C. Aubrey Smith, is a gruff old disciplinarian. The youngest decides that the only way to win the Colonel's approval is to become a soldier herself, and her friend, Michael Whalen, a young Lieutenant, turns her over for training to the burly sergeant Victor McLaglen, who dubs her "Wee Willie Winkie" because of the quaint way she has of screwing up her eyes when she asks questions.

Shirley gets into plenty of trouble at the post, but wins the gratitude of an imprisoned chieftain, Khoda Khan, when she returns his lost amulet. In a surprise raid on the post, the proud chieftain is freed, and the border is immediately ablaze with crimson warfare with McLaglen's life being one of those lost.

Feeling that both Khoda Khan and her grandfather would prefer peace, Shirley takes a desperate step to end the killing, and sets out at night for the Pathan camp. When her departure is discovered, the Highlanders set out grimly for Khyber Pass, graveyard of many a soldier, determined to rescue her or die in the attempt. With lives at stake, Shirley makes one last desperate gesture to save them and restore peace, bringing the picture to a thoroughly thrilling climax.

Californian Buys Farm Near Lyons

LYONS—Mrs. Alice Culhane has sold her farm west of town to O. E. Smith of Oakland, Calif., who with his family expects to arrive here soon to make his home. James Curran, Mrs. Culhane's brother, who has been living on the farm, has purchased a lot in town and expects to build on it soon.

The Wolf and Hallin mill company proprietors have arranged to have their offices moved to a house near the mill site. This mill company, which has been negotiating a lease on property for some time, plans to put in a mill here.

Henry Schaert of Mill City will locate here for the winter. The family lived in Lyons before moving to Mill City last year. Art Ayers has purchased a lot east of the Lyons telephone office and is building a residence on the property.

The Lyons and Lewis feed store is well underway and will be ready for business by early fall. Recent visitors at the G. F. Johnston home were Mrs. Cartwright, Mrs. Agnes Ricks, Mrs. May Hurley, L. F. Bennett and Charles Goble, all of Salem.

Lebanon Is Stop On State Tour

LEBANON—Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Long of Tillamook with their daughter, Shirley, are on their summer vacation and have driven down the coast to Florence, then to Clear Lake and the Mackenzie highway. They arrived in Lebanon this week and visited Mrs. Long's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cruson who joined them on a trip and picnic at Silver Creek Falls. On their return they stopped at the Snoddy bean plantation at Stayton and visited Mrs. Cruson's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Emery and her niece Eureka Powell.

Mrs. Mary Horrigan of Syracuse, N. Y., arrived in Lebanon Thursday to assist in the care of her brother, Mike Donnelly, at the Lebanon General hospital where he has been under treatment for more than a year. W. F. Waylor of Lebanon, car dealer, received a letter Wednesday from the veterans' hospital at Walla Walla, telling that his son, Jesse, a World War veteran, who served in the Rainbow division is improving from a serious injury to his head but will not be able to be out for some time.

Gates Has Many Summer Visitors

GATES—Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Hayward and son, Arthur, of Milwaukie, and Mrs. Hayward's mother, Mrs. Arthur Snyder, of Myrtle Point visited with Mr. Hayward's mother, Ruby Winters last week. Miss Winnifred Brown returned to Gates Saturday from an extended visit with her father, Willis Brown. Mr. and Mrs. William Dibble and children, Terrance and Deldre Dibble, accompanied by Darwin Robbinett of New Pine creek are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith. Miss Margaret Lillipage of Corbett, Ore., is visiting her father, Don Lillipage. Miss Violet Landwing with her grandmother, Mrs. O. C. Moser, of Silverton are spending the week at Breitenbush Springs.

Aumsville Views Finsler's Comet

AUMSVILLE—Residents who have been rising nights at intervals to watch for a glimpse of the elusive comet, were rewarded at 3:30 Thursday morning with a splendid view in an unclouded sky of the comet in all its brilliancy. The comet appeared here, a vivid, brilliant, elegant star, which because of its shape and brilliancy, easily stood out, distinguishing it from all other stars in the sky.

Grangers' News

BRUSH COLLEGE—Friday the 13th was not a jinx to the home economics committee of Brush College grange when it met at the home of Mrs. W. M. Stoddard for a luncheon Friday with 13 members present. Mrs. A. R. Ewing was joint hostess for the affair.

Final arrangements were completed for the Brush College grange booth at the Polk county fair at Monmouth, Sep. 2 and 3.

Those present included Mrs. John Schindler, Mrs. Glenn Adams, Mrs. W. C. Franklin, Mrs. C. L. Blodgett, Mrs. A. E. Wiley, Mrs. Wayne D. Henry and granddaughter, Corinne; Mrs. Fred Muller, Mrs. Charles McCarter, Ruth Whitney, Mrs. F. E. Wilson, Mrs. Charles Glaze and the hostesses Mrs. Stoddard and Mrs. Ewing.

CHEMAMA—Chemama grangers are laying plans for the purchase of a site for a new grange hall. At the business meeting Thursday night much discussion of location and needs in a hall were worked out and soon a committee will report on possible locations and prices. The HEC is fostering the idea.

The program was in charge of the lecturer, Mrs. Fred Wolf, and it included piano solos by Mrs. D. B. Klehege, report of the 4H club conference held at Corvallis by Sylvia Wagner, and dance solos by Lois Pierce.

STATTON—(Special)—The regular meeting of the Marion county grange council will be held Wednesday, August 18th, in the Statton grange hall. Mrs. Ida Benson will preside. Group meetings and a business session will be called to order at 10 a. m. with dinner at noon. At 1:30 p. m. there will be a brief entertainment with J. D. Mickle as the speaker. Mr. Mickle is division chief of the foods and dairy, Oregon state department of agriculture. He will speak principally on the national milk control board convention held recently in Portland.

Lebanon Folk on Trip

Out-State People Visit Scio Area

SCIO—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Yocubets left last week for their home at Woodlake, Calif., after visiting relatives and friends here for two weeks. Mrs. Yocubets is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patry and was reared on the farm a few miles east of Scio. Last Sunday a picnic in honor of the Californians was held at the home of Mrs. Yocubets' sister, Mrs. Anton Rosprack. About 40 relatives and friends attended.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Fisher of Dickinson, N. D., visited relatives and friends here last week. Fisher is a banker and is a brother of Joe Fisher, who last year acquired a portion of the former Shlmanek farm east of Scio. Fisher also is an old friend of the Frank Nadvornik family, formerly of North Dakota, but for seven years residents of Scio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chladek of Kansas are looking for a farm in the Scio locality, as also are Mr. and Mrs. Kratochvil, recently from Montana. The latter recently sold his farm of 900 acres to the government. Both families are well pleased with western Oregon and hope to remain here.

George C. Miller has resumed work at the Scio mill following a week's vacation spent in eastern Oregon. J. H. Kirby of Azelea, who recently arrived from Wyoming, was in Scio this week in quest of a new location.

New Dairy Barn Up at Oak Point

OAK POINT—Grove Peterson has completed his new dairy barn and it received the last coat of paint last week. The stanchions were put in and the cows occupied it Tuesday. Peterson has a herd of 20 cows. The building is a modern dairy barn, cement floor and foundation with capacity for 24 cows. Mrs. G. A. Peterson had her barn and other outbuildings painted this week. The sprayer method was used.

Enjoy THIS BETTER KIND OF Toast!

BENSON'S BANNER BREAD BROWNS TO PERFECTION and DOESN'T DRY OUT INSIDE!

...because It's "Twisted!"

Benson's Banner Bread is not only hours fresher when you buy it and of finer, softer texture than most breads, but THE DOUGH IS TWISTED in the process of baking in such a way that the grain runs diagonally through the slices. This seals the holes and keeps the air from passing through the bread. You will appreciate this feature in toasting. Banner Bread toasts quickly to a golden brown, but the moisture and flavor remain inside the slice. Just try toasted Banner Bread once and notice how the entire family enjoys it.

"Hours Fresher" When You Buy It!

Today's Bread Baked Today Benson's Banner Bread is actually hours fresher, because it comes out of the ovens in the early morning hours and is rushed to your grocer before it is scarcely cool. Benson's bake only for Salem trade, therefore it is not necessary to bake tomorrow's bread this afternoon or evening to meet out-of-town shipping schedules. WHY PAY TODAY'S PRICE FOR YESTERDAY'S SHIPPED-IN BREAD?
