

They're Just Trucks --- Watch Closely --- Ah, a Showhouse!

The Parade of Progress exposition as it will arrive in Salem today and be set up at the Madison street circus grounds, for free showings Sunday night starting at 7 o'clock, and Monday from 2 to 10 p. m.

Red and silver "Streamliners" of General Motors are driven onto the show grounds. They must be "spotted" and leveled, then spaced exactly 14 feet apart. An inch off level makes erection difficult.

The exhibit begins to take form. Sides of the units are hinged at the top, so that when they are raised peaked roofs are formed. Inner hinged panels lower to form a floor. The operation takes six hours.

Panels placed at front and rear protect the interior from the weather. When that is done and steps are placed at the entrance and exit, the trucks have been transformed into showhouses. Step in.

New Courthouse Proposal Sweeps to Victory in Bitter Election

ALBANY—During the past several weeks, neighbors and friends in Linn county have greeted each other, when they met, not with the usual, "how are you?" or "how are your crops?" but "how do you stand on the courthouse question?" or "do you think the county will erect a new courthouse?" But Tuesday the question one heard most frequently was "how does the official count on the courthouse stand?" For Linn county voters turned out to vote at the special election called to decide if the $154,000 surplus fund of the county treasury were to be used toward the erection of a new courthouse, or to remain to be assimilated into other funds.

The people wanted the courthouse and the measure carried by 396 votes. In favor of the project 3,965 votes were cast while 2,969 people in the county voted no.

Lebanon led in the fight against the using of the surplus funds, with practically all the towns in that vicinity siding in. At times the fight between the proponents for the new courthouse and those against it has waxed strong and bitter words were said by each side. The main issue as far as Lebanon was concerned, was apparently in the belief that if the present building plan could be staved off, a gift from the federal government which is needed to aid in the building program, would not be forthcoming later on, and in that case Lebanon could attempt to have the county seat changed from Albany to that city.

Of the 54 precincts in the county, 31 were against the building program and 23 for it. Included in the 23 were the nine Albany precincts, and San Jose, adjacent to Albany; Calapooia, North and South Harrisburg, Knox Butte, Mill City, Orleans, Peoria, Price, Rock Creek, Santiam, Shedd, Syracuse and Tangent.

In the three Lebanon precincts 44 voted yes to 772 against the plan, while in the nine Albany precincts 77 voted no to 2,299 who voted yes. The four Brownsville precincts voted almost two to one against the measure. Halsey was another town which voted the question down, with 59 votes for to 93 against. The proposal is said to have originated in Halsey to use the surplus funds for this purpose, a prominent resident of that city being one of the first to make the proposition.

Crowfoot, the home precinct of Senator Curtis D. Stringer, was solidly against the building plan, only two votes being cast in favor to 90 against. A few days ago Senator Stringer announced that he was not taking sides in the plan but was remaining neutral.

The official count on the question by precincts follows:

Woodburn Council Eyes Bus Parking

Greyhound Stage Depot on Highway Alleged Danger Spot

WOODBURN—At the regular meeting of the city council held Tuesday main topic for discussion was the double parking of the Greyhound buses at the stage depot on the Pacific highway which makes it almost impossible for motorists to see cars approaching from the south, when entering the highway from Young street.

City Attorney Blaine McCord was instructed to write the stage company in regard to this and it was decided if no measures are taken to pass an ordinance which would make it a misdemeanor to double park in the west half of the highway which is in the city limits.

Other matters discussed were the crossing on Mill street and Recorder Beach was instructed to write the Southern Pacific company asking to have it improved. The open ditch between two septic tanks in north Woodburn were ordered closed and a tile ditch installed. The city attorney was instructed to prepare a resolution condemning the old Graves cannery building which is located on the corner of Hardcastle street.

The recorder was instructed to send a bill of $21 to Mrs. Theresa Becker for expenses of the fire department which was called out to care for a grass fire started by her without permit.

Several delinquent water users soon will be without water as no effort was made to pay their bills after repeated warning.

Business Men Meet
The regular Wednesday noon meeting of the Business Men's club was held at the Woodburn hotel Wednesday with the main topic of discussion the prospect of the building of a new postoffice in Woodburn.

Woodburn was included in a list of Oregon cities which will receive appropriations for this purpose. The building here would cost $75,000. The club will appoint a committee to look into the matter more thoroughly in the near future.

The monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary society was held at the church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Olive Smith presiding. Miss Rowena Cole led the devotional service and the program was in charge of Mrs. H. F. Butterfield who spoke on the topic of "China, and the Missionary Personnel."

Plans were made for a food sale to be held early in September.
