Moody Completes Bank Night Brief

The brief of Ralph E. Moody, assistant attorney general, in connection with his motion for dismissal of the injunction granted to Carl Porter, Salem theatre manager, in connection with operation of the "bank night" feature here, was completed by Moody Friday and was expected to be filed today.

Defendants in Porter's suit are Moody, Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle, and Marion county Sheriff A. C. Burk.

"The 'bank night' scheme . . . is a lottery because the three elements which constitute a lottery —prize, chance and consideration —are present," Moody said in his brief.

"Lotteries offend the moral law. The gradual awakening of the conscience of the people that gambling or lottery in all forms were wrong, caused the adoption of constitutional provisions and the enactment of statutes prohibiting such wrong."

Accident Case Answer Filed

Defendants Allege Carns Intoxicated When He Fell From Truck

Answer to an amended complaint in the damage action which Lena J. Dawson, as administratrix of the estate of David Madison Carns, has brought against Emory Fortune, the Amcol mining and milling company and others was filed in circuit court yesterday.

The defendants allege in their answer to the complaint that David Carns, whose death was the result of a fall from a truck owned by the Amcol Mining company five miles east of Mehama on October 12, 1936, was intoxicated at the time he fell from the truck. The answer stated that Carns was sober at the time he boarded the truck as a guest at Oregon City, but that, unknown to the defendants and the driver of the truck, he had with him a bottle of liquor which he consumed on the trip.

The plaintiff seeks to establish that the fall, and the resulting death of Carns, was due to negligence on the part of the Amcol Mining company and Emory Fortune, who was driving the truck at the time of the accident.

Thelma Davis Is Church's Soloist

Thelma Davis, contralto, will be featured soloist at the Presbyterian church Sunday for the morning service. Miss Davis has been vacationing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Davis of Salem, and this will mark her last appearance before leaving Monday to return to her work and study at Philadelphia.

Miss Davis will sing Harker's "God Shall Wipe Away all Tears" and will also be heard in a duet with Prof. Wright.

Outstanding in a busy musical season at Philadelphia last year were appearances made by Miss Davis as soloist with the Mendelssohn club at the Academy of Music and later as soloist in Bach's exacting "Magnificat in D" accompanied by the famous Philadelphia orchestra.

Upon her return east Miss Davis will continue in radio work. She is also director of a large ladies' chorus composed of nurses in the Presbyterian hospital, and of a large mixed chorus at the University of Pennsylvania.

China Missionary To Speak Sunday

Rev. E. B. Ward, a missionary from Canton, China, will speak at the Englewood United Brethren church at the morning service Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. Ward have spent many years in South China.

Their only daughter, Gladys, was born and reared there. As a young woman, the daughter came to America for her college training. After graduating from Coe college at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, she returned to Siu Lam, China, as principal of a mission school for girls. She is supported by the Oregon branch of the Women's Missionary association of the United Brethren church. Rev. and Mrs. Ward are making their home at Philomath.

Visiting Baptist To Speak Sunday

Rev. Alfred Danielson, one of the vice-presidents of the Cascadia Baptist bible conference association and pastor of the First Baptist church of Bend, will be in Salem Sunday to speak in the Calvary Baptist church at the morning service.

The pastor, Rev. Arno Q. Weniger, who has been absent from his pulpit for some weeks, will be back Sunday and will speak Sunday night at the regular service.

Child Wins $500,000 in Court

Three years of litigation, involving the $2,700,000 estate of her late grandfather, William Garland, resulted in an inheritance of $500,000 for Jane Mary Garland, 4, of Los Angeles. At her first press conference the child said she did not want to be a movie star. "I have been in too many pictures already," she stated.—IIN photo.

Deaths in County Higher This Year

Half of Those Listed for July Due to Pneumonia Health Report Says

Marion county health department vital statistics compiled for the period up to the end of July revealed 475 deaths so far this year as compared with last year's total of 443 for the same period. Of the 60 deaths recorded for July, 30 resulted from pneumonia.

July automobile deaths were responsible for seven of the 12 recorded for the year. The August 1 count last year showed 14.

Influenza led communicable diseases with 578 cases reported for the year compared with 170 cases in 1936. Pneumonia also showed an increase this year over last with 162 in 1937 and 94 last year. Only one diphtheria case was on the docket so far this year with five for last year.

Diseases Decrease

Other communicable disease figures for the first seven months were scarlet fever, 31 in 1937 and 124 in 1936; smallpox, 3 in 1937 and 10 in 1936; measles, 4 for 1937 and 405 for 1936; tuberculosis, 55 in 1937 and 31 in 1936, and tuberculosis deaths, 12 for 1937 and 11 for 1936.

Health department activity records show, since January 1 of this year, 1921 vaccinations against smallpox, 968 against diphtheria, 254 cases of department supervision of communicable diseases, 3,595 tuberculin tests, 500 fiuroscope examinations and 110 x-ray pictures. A large number of x-ray examinations were paid for by the Marion county public health association through funds derived from the sale of Christmas seals.

Farley Invited to Dedicate Building

Postmaster-General James A. Farley may be present at the dedication exercises of Salem's new $265,000 postoffice and federal building next month, as the result of an invitation telegraphed to him jointly by the Salem chamber of commerce with Governor Martin and Postmaster H. R. Crawford. No reply had been received yesterday.

Farley will be in the northwest and in Portland sometime during September, and it has been decided here that the new postoffice will be completed enough by that time to permit the dedication to be held, although the building will not be ready for occupancy until about the middle of October.

The building contractors have assured Postmaster Crawford that the interior can be prepared sufficiently, and the grounds cleared of construction materials within a few days if necessary. The date for the dedication will be arranged by Farley to suit his schedule if he accepts.

Service Set for Park on Sunday

Willson park open air services Sunday will be addressed by Rev. John Stanifer, negro pastor of the Portland African Methodist Episcopal church. His subject is announced as "Inter-racial Brotherhood."

Gideon Services Set for Sunday

A mass meeting will be held Sunday night at the Evangelical church, 905 Marion street, with the Gideons in charge.

The Gideon quartet composed of Schirman, Dierks, Lottis and Friezen are to be present. Rev. and Mrs. Campbell and daughter will offer two selections. D. D. Phillips, evangelistic secretary, will bring the evening message with Dan Schirman making the Bible request.

Fingerprint Value Is Stressed Here

Service Club Groups Hear FBI Man; Printing of Children Proposed

At a joint meeting of Salem service clubs at the Quelle cafe, with the 20-30 acting as host, C. C. Speers from the federal bureau of investigation pointed out the need for a 100 per cent fingerprinted America.

"Every man, woman and child is entitled to a positive means of identification in case of mishap," he pointed out. "But," he said, "today there are only three groups who enjoy this privilege; the exservice men, the criminals and the civil service employes." A few company employes and a few voluntary citizens are now beginning to take advantage of this service offered by the government, he added.

"If a criminal is the victim of foul play, he will be identified immediately," he said, "but if such misfortune befalls the average citizen away from home," he added, "he must often be buried in the potter's field because authorities are unable to establish proper identifications."

Silas Gaiser, superintendent of Salem schools, stated that he was much impressed with the idea of fingerprinting school children of Salem, after the parents' written consent had been granted in each case. Mr. Gaiser suggested that the 20-30 club make an effort to work the fingerprinting in with the health examinations.

Joe Murray of the state identification bureau endorsed the plan as "a most progressive move."

The 20-30 project committee voted to take immediate steps to establish a downtown booth and push their project of fingerprinting Salem. Several groups have already been fingerprinted by the 20-30ians.

Jack Donahou was initiated into the club.

Soapbox Derby Is Popular Program

Strausbough, Deacon Take Events; Bike Races Are Also Held

Earl Strausbough and Kennth Deacon were respective winners in the two soapbox derby events included in the race program staged by the city playground management yesterday afternoon on the Howard street hill.

Strausbough, entering the car which he entered in the All-American soapbox derby in Portland recently, won over Wilmer Graham, second and Robert Deacon, third in the younger boys' event, limited to boys between the ages of six and 12.

In the 13 to 18 years of age class Deacon finished ahead of Miles Carver, second and Jack Mudd, third.

Roller Skaters Few

Lucian Jones, Frank Ransom and Bob Thompson finished in that order at the head of a parade of 15 entrants in the one mile bike race for boys. Bruce Rogers was declared winner of the boys' roller skate race and Loretta Deacon of the girls' when they appeared as the only two entrants in the skate events. A race between them ended in a victory for Rogers when he won by "a castor" as Playground Director Vern Gilmore expressed it.

Earl Strausbough won a special derby event with Kenneth Deacon finishing second and Donald Frank Waters third. Strausbough also won in judging competition for the best built car in the younger age group, with Darrell Gemmell carrying off honors for the most unusual car.

In the older group Miles Carver was judged to have the best built car and Jack Mudd the most unusual.
