

Tour of Industry Made by Chamber

Silverton Business Men Visit Manufacturing Plants

SILVERTON—Silverton's chamber of commerce opened its autumn meetings Wednesday night with thirty in attendance. Following dinner at Toney's a short business meeting was held presided over by Clifford Rue. Mr. Rue appointed the nominating committee to consist of Lowell Brown, Urtis Page and Henry Alm, who will report back at the next meeting of the group.

Following the formal meeting the entire group with a few additional members, who joined after dinner, made a tour of Silverton's manufacturing plants. The first place visited was the bakery. From there the group went to the Byberg Bros. plant. Both Jonas and Ernest Byberg are former high school boys. Their plant was a revelation to most of the Silverton business men. All of their huge machinery was designed and built by the men themselves. The Thomas strainer, patented by a local man, was of particular interest. Seven hundred tool boxes were also in the process of making. A spot welder, also designed and made by the Bybergs drew considerable comment.

At the Eastman Bros. plant, one of the best known sheet metal plants in the west, L. C. Eastman and Austin Eastman explained the manufacturing done there. Walnut machinery, including the sorters, attracted considerable attention as did also the air conditioning furnace. A mint still which has been on display at Oregon State college for some time was also of great interest. The small still, built on perfect scale, could sit on a five foot square surface.

Both of the local cannery plants were visited. In the old plant prunes were being received and run through and in the new plant corn was being processed. The visitors were taken from the receiving place of the prunes and the corn and shown the complete process until the cans were stored in the warehouses.

The last plant visited was the Silverton cereal mill, a new plant just brought into operation by a group of local men. Each visitor was here given a small can of breakfast cereal as a souvenir. M. C. Storrasie explained the workings and told of the plans of the plant.

The dinner itself featured Silverton products and included beans, corn and prunes from the local cannery, and muffins made from the cereal of the local mill.

Austin Everson, who was arrested September 11 on a charge of threatening to commit a felony, appeared before the Independence justice court and was bound over to the grand jury.

Sheriff T. B. Hooker went to Lincoln county Wednesday to bring back Jess Phelps. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest, charging non-support.

Red Clover Seed Harvest Is Light; Good Corn Crop in Prospect

PRATUM—Alsike clover seed has a fair yield but red clover is rather light. Some fields do not even pay for the expense of harvesting. Barley harvest is nearing completion with a very good crop. The prospects for corn are very good. Some corn is from 10 to 12 feet tall.

A. Eoff is having his 60-acre field of spring wheat combined. The yield is greatly reduced by what is supposed to be Hessian fly damage.

Marion Smith is leaving for Taylor university in Indiana. He is accompanied by Maurice and Roland deVries who go to Ashbury college in Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Blank from Macon, Neb., who have been visiting with friends and relatives here for the past week left Wednesday for their home in Nebraska. They are accompanied for part of their journey by their son William who is a
