Governor Voices Snappy Comeback

Governor Charles H. Martin, after reading carefully the statement of Howard Latourette, democratic national committeeman, in which Latourette chided the governor for having "the audacity to say that the president agreed with him" on the Bonneville power issue, laughingly remarked:

"There will be ample Bonneville power available for all the candidates by election time at prices within their reach."
Governor Martin flatly refused to comment on Friday night's address by Associate Justice Hugo L. Black of the United States supreme court.

Baby Is Orphaned by Crime

Only three months old, Charles Joseph Bird, already is a virtual "orphan" of crime. His father, Charles Bird, bank robber, is in flight somewhere in the Midwest following escape with three others from the county jail in Cleveland. His mother, Mrs. Barbara Bird, is believed to be with her husband. The baby's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Seiber, shown above, planned to take care of the "orphan."

Participating Agencies in Salem Community Chest

III. Catholic Charities
Catholic Charities of Salem in Oregon, Inc., is one of the seven organizations in Salem that will be included in the Community Chest for which a campaign for funds will begin October 11.

The object of this organization is to coordinate the work of Catholic charitable organizations, to develop the work of the St. Vincent de Paul society and in general to inaugurate and execute plans of the Catholic social program.

One of the leading activities of the Catholic church is the Central Youth organization, purpose of which is the enrollment of the unmarried youth in the church to promote their welfare through the medium of a balanced program of cultural, physical and social activities. Membership in the junior division of this organization consists of boys and girls of the age from 14 to 16 years. The senior division includes men and women from 18 to 30 years of age.

Another organization of the Catholic church is the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Objects of this society include charitable work such as visiting the poor in their homes, studying their needs and supplying their material wants. Also to aid them in becoming self supporting.

In its charitable work, this society undertakes to alleviate the wants of poor children in the church and safeguard their interests. Also, when necessary, to obtain for them homes in families with proper surroundings.

Young People Aided
The charitable activities of the Catholic Charities of Salem in Oregon, Inc., includes material assistance to the young men and women of the Catholic faith who arrive in Salem and who really are in need of a helping hand to find work or proper homes.

As an example of the charitable work of this society, attention is called to the fact that during the first six months of this year, 104 families were supplied with food, shelter, clothing and fuel.

That 26 families were given needed partial assistance and that during the half year the society assisted 209 transients and 135 inmates of state institutions and were given assistance.

In addition to caring for immediate physical needs such as food, clothing and shelter, the society is organized to coordinate all of the charitable work of the church and to work with all organizations for the good of the community.

Its members have been urged to cooperate and work with all organizations in making the Com-

First Aid Classes Will Be Launched

Virgil Golden in Charge of Program for Red Cross This Year

Numerous requests at the Red Cross office in regard to commencement of first aid classes this fall bring announcement from Virgil Golden, first aid chairman, that registration is now open for those interested in early classes.

Registration may be made by calling the Red Cross office, telephone 5911. Information concerning classes may be had by calling the Red Cross office or Mr. Golden, telephone 9139.

The first class to start will be a group drawn principally from the Chemeketaans. Enrollment is being cared for by Robert Wilson of the state forestry department. An instructor will be assigned and the date and meeting place for the first class period will be announced within a few days by Mr. Golden.

The Chemeketaans, a club of first aid enthusiasts, feel that first aid training will be an invaluable adjunct for safety and pleasure in their outing activities. Any other organization desiring to take first aid as a group activity is urged to contact Mr. Golden or the Red Cross office.

Instruction is given in both standard and advanced first aid. Instructors will include those who took advanced instruction work under Dr. Kenneth Power this spring and other specially qualified teachers. These are Mrs. Caroline Black, Theodore Roake, Mrs. Emma Drinnen, James Monroe, Miss Anoka Coates, Mrs. Aileen Westphal, P. G. Duebert, Captain Walter Lansing, Lt. Max Alford, Miss Esther Arnold, Miss Etta Pearl White, Mrs. Tom Wolgamott, Vernon Gilmore, C. M. Charlton, Dr. R. E. Lee Wood, Dr. Laban Steeves, Joseph Jackson, and Gus Moore.

Many Groups Study
Captain Lansing and Lt. Alford instruct mostly groups of state police; Dr. Wood and Dr. Steeves confine most of their teaching to national guard units; Miss White, Miss Arnold, Mrs. Wolgamott, and Mr. Gilmore instruct in first aid in the junior and senior high schools. Mr. Charlton in charge of the Salem First Aid car is Red Cross trained and is prepared to instruct classes in first aid. Mr. Munroe and Mr. Roake have done most of their first aid teaching for Boy Scout troops, and Gus Moore has confined his first aid instruction to YMCA work. The other instructors take general classes both in Salem and out in the county.

These instructors are volunteer. They receive no compensation save the personal satisfaction that they have given instruction that will save human suffering, according to Mr. Golden. Dr. Burton Myers and Dr. Kenneth Powers, also volunteer instructors, are the special instructors who have directed the training of instructors for Marion County Chapter first aid work.

Republican Club To Elect Leader

Pruitt to Resign at Meet Wednesday Night; Plan for Steiner Visit

Selection of a new president will be the principal item of business before the Marion County Republican club at its meeting Wednesday night at the Marion Hotel. Harold Pruitt who has been president will submit his resignation because of his recent selection as president of the state-wide organization.

The election will follow nominations from the floor. Robert Jones has been prominently mentioned for the post. C. S. Emmons has been approached but has declared he will not be a candidate.

Mr. Pruitt has been asked to make suggestions as to his successor but has declined, not wishing to take a hand in the matter in view of holding the state office.

County Teachers Choose Officers

Count of ballots cast by the Marion county teachers' association Friday showed the following results:

Nomination for vice president of the state teachers' association, Miss Berdine Merrill, teacher in Portland; nomination of member of board of trustees, Supt. Frank Bennett, Albany.

Officers of county association:

president, Miss Ethel Hickey, principal, Mill City; vice president, Harold Davis, principal, Silverton junior high school; secretary, Miss Irene Geyette, Stayton; advisory committee, Miss Alice Davidson, principal, Dunald, A. A. Haberly, principal, Jefferson, Fred Wolf, principal, Salem high school.

Delegates to state teachers' association convention: Milton Gralapp, Woodburn; M. H. Beal, Hubbard; Dorothy Schwab, Gervais; Grace Schon, Central Howell; Robert Goetz, Silverton; Helen Phillips, West Stayton; M. J. Elle, Salem; Elaine Clower, Silverton; Carolyn Wilson, Salem; Pauline Salfeld, Mt. Angel.

Federal Engineer To View Santiam

The North Santiam highway will be inspected by the Marion county court and Engineer Farmer when the latter, from the federal bureau of public roads, is expected to arrive in Salem early this week. The party will investigate problems regarding invasions of right-of-way by logging operators.

The court will to a considerable extent base its decision as to the damages to be demanded for trees cut off the right-of-way without permission, upon the views of Engineer Farmer.
