Whether Coach "Spec" Keene's Bearcats can extend their 10-year string of homecoming victories, and overcome the jinx California teams appear to have over them this season or not, will be decided tonight on Sweetland field when the Whittier Poets, the third aggregation from Oregon's neighboring state to the south to visit Salem, form the opposition.

The Bearcats, with three new faces scheduled to appear in the starting lineup, were pronounced as in fine fettle last night by Keene and will be out to "shoot the works." Billy Beard, slashing triple-threat halfback, has fully recovered from the shoulder injury that hampered his effectiveness against San Jose and will be ready to turn on the heat tonight.

East Gridmen Maintain Lead

Seeking a stronger left side of the line Keene has called Jack Haek, end, Floyd Cline tackle, and Tatsu Yada, guard, to start on that side where Baird, Kahle and Becken have formerly received the call. Haek, freshman from Lebanon, definitely proved his ability to diagnose opposition's running plays in both the Portland and San Jose tilts. Yada has been crowd-pleasing about half the time, but will be starting for the first time. Floyd Cline, 205-pound tackle from Washington high in Portland, has come a long way since the season's opener and gets the call over veteran Kahle tonight.

The California Bards, who were scheduled to arrive here this morning at 5:40, boast a comparatively light, fast eleven. What they lack in weight is reported to be more than made up in toughness and fight. Alex Mechikoff, the "Mad Russian," was a former all-city high school center in Los Angeles. Weighing but 160, he is reported to be a potent pivot and an excellent defensive man back of the line.

Many Sophomores
 While the Poets list six sophomores on the starting group, several of the newcomers have already gained recognition. Bob Shuler, son of "Fighting Bob" Shuler, the radio pastor, at full back has been cracking opposing lines for consistent yardage gains. In "Flea" Kunishima, fleet-footed Japanese, they are reported to have a de luxe pass receiver.

With both Willamette and Whittier fielding teams composed of a generous sprinkling of green material, a wide range in which anything may happen is the general expectation. The weather being on good behavior, much of the piskin battle will probably be fought through the air.

East Gridmen Maintain Lead

Win 17 Intersectionals; Pacific Coast Next, Taking all Three

NEW YORK, Oct. 21-(AP)—The boys along the corn belt, cow country, big timber and Mason-Dixon lines like to think this game of football as it's played today, is pretty much their oyster; that, with their razzle-dazzle, hip-dipper and aerial ciruses, they've outdistanced the eastern "foundling fathers."

The boys may think so, but the intersectional records this season don't show it. The effete (pet word beyond the Alleghenies) east not only is holding its own in competition with elevens from the midwest, south, southwest and far east, but doing better than that.

The east is leading the pack. True, far western teams have a perfect record, unmarred either by defeat or tie. But the westerners have played only three intersectional games, to 25 for the east.

Mack Will Remain At Post, He Says

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21-(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, take it from Connie Mack, aren't looking for an assistant or a new manager because Mack himself expects to stay at the helm "for several years to come."

Berrypickers to Start Seconds in Sweet Home Tilt

LEBANON—The Lebanon Berrypickers are all set for the game with Sweet Home, at Sweet Home, this Friday. Coach Reed Clark says that about 33 men will go to Sweet Home and that although the second team is scheduled to start the game, the regulars will be ready to step in at any time.

Spaulding Claims WSC Shift Illegal

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21-(AP)—Head Coach William H. Spaulding said today he would protest possible use by Washington State of a tricky double shift when his UCLA Bruins tangle with the Cougars here Saturday.

The shift, devised by Orin "Babe" Hollingsberry, Cougar mentor, is designed to throw the opposing team offside and should be ruled out as illegal, Spaulding said.

Rooks Are Ready For Aerial Game

CORVALLIS, Oct. 21-(AP)—Oregon's "little civil war"—the gridiron clash of University of Oregon Frosh and Oregon State college Rooks tomorrow night—will find the Orangemen armed with a variety of passes and a running attack.

Whittier's Poets, whom Willamette entertains tonight on Sweetland, figure to be about in the same position as do the Bearcats. Both are in the rebuilding process, having lost a good share of their last year's grid-greats.

Whittier's main loss was in the backfield, while Willamette sadly misses such worthy former wearers of the cardinal and gold as McAdam, Erickson, Versteeg, Newhouse, Vagt, Urell and Waldron—all forwards.

Preserve Tradition.

The Bearcats, however, are a pretty much chagrined crew over losing two games already this season to California foes. There are 19 or 20 of the last year's squad who haven't forgotten the 21-18 defeat by Whittier. The whole squad is anxious to preserve and add to the 10 years of homecoming victories. They haven't anything for which to save themselves. So it looks like a Bearcat night tonight, say we, by about 20 to 7.

Kids Have Zeal.

Salem's most enthusiastic football league, the city intramural, enters its second week of duration this afternoon at 3:30 with Ken "Rowdy" Dow, Joe Tomich and Jake Hergert are expected to lead the touchdown hungry Rooks.

Tomorrow's Grid-Greats.

While big name colleges with their big name football heroes hold much of the spotlight, the spindle-legged tikes are learning gridiron rudiments today so they may become the Schindlers, Weisgerbers, Grays,

Petitions for boundary changes desired by citizens of the Salem Heights and Roberts school districts were filed at the office of Mary L. Fulkerson, county superintendent, yesterday. No date for a boundary board hearing on the requests has been set.

Husky Tapers off For Cardinal Tilt

SEATTLE, Oct. 21-(AP)—The Washington Huskies took a final drill today before tapering off for the Stanford Cardinals, who arrive tomorrow night for Saturday's game.

Coach Jimmy Phelan, still juggling his backfield, indicated he would start Capt. Fritz Waskowitz at left half and Merle Miller at right half, keeping Jimmy Johnston on the bench as a sub for Miller. Johnston has an injured hand which hampers his passing.

Parrish Lacks Punch.

Tom Drynan's lateral-conscious Parrish team lacked only a little more punch in the pinch to at least gain a tie with Verdell Ragdale's Juniors. Three times Doerflinger, Douglas and Cutler worked the inflated pig hide to within spitting distance of the Junior pay streak to be stopped cold. All four teams were out at Sweetland that night to see the Viking-Bulldog clash, and their two afternoon clashes were still being re-hashed in vehement manner.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 21-(AP)—Luis Firpo, 38, heavy-weight fighter, was ordered arrested today by the criminal court of appeals.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 21-(AP)—Whether strategy or not, Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame had stirred up a lively debate today over the question: "Has the fight gone out of the 'fighting Irish'?"

Layden, gloomy but still hopeful, indicated he would like to stir up something from his football players as easily.

Eugene Crowd To Set Record

Reserve Seats all Taken but "General" Remain; Lineups Revealed

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 21-(AP)—Eugene, Oregon athletic officials predicted the largest turnout of fans in the history of the local stadium will see the 41st annual football game between the Webfoots and the Beavers of Oregon State college Saturday.

With all reserve seats sold, gate seats were expected to bring the total attendance above the 17,000 mark before game time.

Coach Prink Callison put the Webfoots through the last of the long secret practice sessions today.

The same lineup that opposed USC last week was expected to start Saturday with the exception of the center position where Vernon Moore was slated to replace Denney Braid.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 21-(AP)—Elmer Kolberg, giant fullback and key man on the Orange defense, will captain the Oregon State college gridmen in the annual "civil war" clash with the University of Oregon at Eugene Saturday.

The Beaver starting backfield will consist of Kolberg, Joe Gray, left-halfback; Jay Mercer, right half, and Bill Duncan, quarter. Coach Lon Steiner indicated today.
