

Ford for '38 Is on Display

Standard DeLuxe Lines
Are at Valley Motor
Salesrooms Here

Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars for 1938 go on display today in Ford dealer showrooms throughout the United States, including those of the Valley Motor company here. They are offered this year as two distinct lines, differing in appearance and price. Both are in the lowest price field.

Two 1938 Ford V-8 Cars now at Valley Motor

TWO distinct lines of Ford V-8 cars are now being displayed in dealer showrooms. One is a newly-styled standard Ford line in three body types, the other a de luxe Ford line in eight body types. The de luxe Tudor sedan is pictured above. The de luxe sedan are larger in appearance, with longer hood and sweeping lines. The de luxe cars are powered with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the standard cars with either the 85 or the 60 horsepower engines. Newly-styled interiors are pictured at right. New instrument panel has instrument group in front of driver, grille for radio speaker installation in center, flanked by engine controls and cigar lighter, and glove compartment at right. In the de luxe cars, the compartment locks, and a clock is recessed in the compartment door.

Hood Lengthened

The de luxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the radiator grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the top of the "V."

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders. The front end is formed in a "V," with the horizontal grille bars extending unbroken along the hood side to form the louvers.

Interiors of the two cars are roomy and attractive, styled in keeping with the exteriors. The de luxe sedan interiors are larger. A new instrument panel adds to the beauty of the front compartment. Instruments are arranged in two groups directly in front of the driver. In the middle of the panel is a grille, for radio speaker installation with a push-button control.

Instruments in both cars are lighted by improved fringed illumination, designed to provide safer lighting for night driving.

Night driving safety is also increased by addition of a headlamp beam control on the toeboards of both lines. The control is operated by the foot. A telltale light on the instrument panel indicates the position of the beams, whether high or depressed.

Both front and rear seats are wide enough for three persons. Seat cushions and backs are finished in piping and pillow treatment.

Bodies of both car lines are all steel. There is no metal-to-metal contact between body and frame, the result of thorough use of insulation. Safety glass is used throughout in windshield, doors and windows.

The V-8 112-inch wheelbase chassis has been improved. Its features include "center-drive" construction, rubber-cushioned engine, easy steering, softer springs, improved cable-controlled brakes, semi-contrifugal clutch, full torque tube drive and straddle-mounted rear axle driving pinion.

Refinements in the V-8 engines to provide better performance, particularly at lower car speeds, and brake improvements increase the ease of control by the driver. Riding is made more comfortable by the improved springs.

'Welcome Father' To Be UO Theme

Dad's Day This Weekend Replete With Events to Male Tastes

'Welcome Dad! You're going to have the time of your life!' This will be the greeting extended to fathers of University of Oregon students from Salem who attend the tenth annual 'Dad's Day' weekend at the University of Oregon, December 2, 4 and 5, according to word received here from the student leaders on the campus.

'Dad's Day' will be just that this year, the students point out, since students will have no other event on their schedule for the weekend. If fathers come on Friday, they will have an opportunity to see university life as it really is, and they have been extended a warm invitation by faculty members to even visit classes if they wish.

Mass Meet Saturday
On Saturday the fathers will hold their mass meeting in the morning, and be honored guests at the annual banquet in the evening. The banquet will feature the new buildings on the campus. They will see gymnastic and other exhibitions in the new $350,000 physical education plant; watch the university champion swimmer in action in the natatorium; and an interesting book and other displays at the new $460,000 library.

The weekend will end officially on Sunday, when each living organization will honor visiting fathers, and special church services will be held.

Hunter to Speak
A first hand account of higher education in Oregon will be given to fathers at the banquet by Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor. Dr. Hunter, this year will speak as a real 'Oregon Dad' since his son, Maurice, is now enrolled as a freshman at the university.

County Deposits To Earn Interest

The county court expects to earn $1000 in interest in 1938 on 60-day time deposits of surplus funds to be placed in local banks under an order issued yesterday. The budget committee recently recommended that such deposits be made. The court estimates a minimum fund of $200,000 will be kept in such accounts.

The final budget meeting, at which taxpayers may have their last word, will be held at 10 a. m. today instead of yesterday as erroneously announced. Monday was the date originally set.

Iowa Corn Grown With Oregon Seed

PORTLAND, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The state which supplies seed for Iowa's famous cornfields opened its first annual corn show today. Some 250 Oregon growers exhibited their 10 best ears.

Joe Jarvis, agricultural agent for the Union Pacific railway company, revealed the part played by Oregon in Iowa's boasted production.

He said the Mitchell-Leonard Seed company of Sioux City, Iowa, had established a large plant at Oxnard, Ore., for drying seed raised in the Vale-Owyhee irrigation project. It is shipped east for use in corn sections there.

Railroads Plight Aired at Hearing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission heard today a hearing on the plights of American Railroads, contend that with adequate revenues the railroads should be able to provide the 'greatest single stimulus' to lagging industry.

Testifying at a commission investigation of the railroads' proposal for a 15 per cent increase in their freight rates, Pelley said the carriers normally are a billion-dollar-a-year customer of all industries, with adequate revenues, he added, 'we may reasonably expect a revival of railroad buying.'

Dr. J. H. Parmelee, director of the carriers' bureau of railway economics, said the railroads were caught between declining freight and rising material prices, wages and taxes.

Their forced curtailment of purchases, he said, was resulting in 'a serious economic effect on employment, on the manufacturing of railroad supplies and their employees, and on general business activity.'

Grange Leader Put "on Spot"

Restoring Organization to Farmers Is Aim, Say Salem Members

as possible, to hold and conduct such meetings.

The Commonwealth resolution asserts the federation "is not primarily interested in the problems of agriculture," intends to select political office nominees and hopes by their election to dominate public offices, whereas the grange constitution and by-laws forbid the latter organization from fostering candidates for political office.

Warning that 'various farm organizations of Oregon are being solicited to select and send delegates to the announced coming convention of said Commonwealth federation' in Portland December 18 and 19, the resolution maintains that 'the grange of Oregon has already suffered materially by permitting itself to become involved in non-agricultural, controversial political issues.'

Activities Flout Grange Principles

'It is imperative and necessary that our state grange officials immediately take official action, warning and directing each subordinate grange in the state of Oregon to refuse to send any delegates, or in any manner to recognize the activities of said Commonwealth federation, prior to such time as said political organization has been officially endorsed and recognized by our grange, in convention assembled, and our constitution and by-laws amended so as to openly permit and sanction unlimited, controversial, partisan politics,' the resolution demands.

Both resolutions purport to back up the announced intentions of an undisclosed group of grange leaders, 'to get the grange back for the farmers' by electing state officers whose interests are primarily agricultural rather than political, one member of the Salem local averred yesterday.

$112.28 on his person at the time. Parker was taken in the 400 block on Perry street, and was in possession of $190.11.

Police said they had no idea how many of the checks were in circulation in Salem, but that one had been passed at Bloch's Golden Rule store, and that the man tendered it had been positively identified as Taylor. The check there was also for the $32.50 amount.

The checks, thought by police to have been stolen from the printing firm, were dated, both drawn (Taylor) and drawn (J. Bertelson) and the figures—all written with ink in longhand, and second-line figures raised with a check protector or writer—presumably the one found in possession of the arrested man.

Presence of women's wearing apparel in the suitcases found in the car of the arrested man would point to the presence of a woman in the case, police thought; either actually one of the 'gang,' or someone the alleged forgers had enticed to cash checks for them.

Officers said that they had no doubt but that the pair had plied their alleged trade far and wide, and that the local police station would be the recipient of many 'wanted' calls from other localities.

Noted Tunnelman Of Cascades Dies

PORTLAND, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Richard Frederick Hoffmark, 54, director of one of the northwest's largest railroad engineering projects, died at Lincoln, Neb., today.

Associated with Wood Bros., construction company at Gethse, five years. Hoffmark formerly was vice-president of the A. Gethse company here, and Great Northern's superintendent of construction for an eight-mile bore through the Cascade range near Seaside, Wash.

An alumnus of Purdue university and member of the American society of civil engineers, the builder superintended tunnel construction for the Cerro de Pasco Mining company of Peru in 1931.

Manchoukuo Gets Italy Recognition

ROME, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Italy today honored its anti-communism pact with Japan by formal recognition of Manchoukuo, so-called independent empire Japan carved out of Chinese Manchuria in 1932.

The action legitimized Italy's virtual recognition of Manchoukuo last January, a month after Japan had accorded de facto recognition to the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

Italy announced the step in a cable from Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister, to Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota: 'I am happy to inform your excellency this government has decided to give formal recognition to Manchoukuo and to install a legation in that state.'

A second message was sent to the Manchoukuo foreign minister by Ciano with best wishes for the future 'in the moment of commencement of regular relations between our two countries.'

China Subject of Dakotan Speaker

The Dakota club will hold its regular meeting in the parish hall of St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday night starting with a 6:30 o'clock covered dish dinner. A social hour and program will follow.

Appearing on the program will be Watson Dutton in vocal selections; Warren Randall in humorous readings and instrumental numbers by a stringed orchestra. William T. Risby, who has returned from a trip which took him to Japan, China and Russia, will relate some of his interesting experiences.

All former residents of the Dakotas are invited to attend.

Ted Mack Staying For Show Tonight At State Theatre

Ted Mack and his New York revue troupe is to be staying for extended runs, as he is held over for an additional day, it is announced by the management of the State theatre. The original booking was for three days starting Thanksgiving day; then due to a great number of requests it was decided to run the show on Sunday, however it proved that an additional day would have to be used as many were unable to get in to hear this popular unit. So Mr. Mack cancelled his next booking to stay over for Monday, then again the theatre was swamped with requests for an additional day, and after conferring with Ted it was arranged that he stay for a final showing Tuesday matinee and night.

Shedd Man Killed By Mahoney Auto

THOS. ZIMMERMAN VICTIM OF ACCIDENT; KLAMATH MAN NOT TO BLAME
ALBANY, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Thomas Zimmerman, 30, of Shedd, was killed Sunday night when an automobile driven by Willis E. Mahoney, ex-mayor of Klamath Falls struck him as he examined automobiles in another collision, State Trooper Wallace Hug said.

With Zimmerman were H. Holgeson and Douglas Schumacher of Bremerton, Wash., whose car had collided with one driven by Harold Searling, Portland, University of Oregon student. Zimmerman attempted to run, but was struck and hurled 50 feet, Hug said.

Holgeson and Schumacher ran the other way and escaped. Mahoney's car had been forced from the road by a speeding, unidentified motorist, the officer said. He cut sharply into the road as he approached the wreckage, grazing Schumacher's car before hitting Zimmerman, Hug said. Mahoney's car was dented, bruised and chest injuries.

The part of Mahoney, possible democratic candidate for the United States senate, in the accident was unavoidable, Hug said.

Fox Breeders of Salem Area Plan Pelt Show for Tuesday, December 7

A local pelt show will be staged all day Tuesday, December 7, by the Salem unit of the Oregon Fox Breeders Association, at the showrooms of the Otto Wilson garage, corner North Commercial and Center.

The other three Oregon units, at Coquille, Eugene and Portland, will hold similar shows the same day, with the show to be taken to the state show in the public market at Portland December 9.

Buyers will attend the Portland show, but the local units are largely for benefit and education of the public.

Foxy fur farms will make showings at the Salem show, with classes to be seen in full silver, light, medium and dark silvers, double scarf, two-pelt cape and the newest idea, the four-pelt matched cape.

This will be the first pelt show sponsored by the local unit.
