Christmas Day, 1937

This is Christmas day. Yesterday's headlines show the paper was Frank P. Church. world is a long, long way from practicing the angelic proclamation of nineteen centuries ago. Labor war, thousands of jobless to seek compensation, lottery phenangling, quake in and it was turned over to Mr. Mexico, auto accidents, a woman fined for selling wine to mi- Church, which resulted, under the nors, postoffice employe goes wrong, factional strife in caption "IS THERE A SANTA Egypt, tension between Japan and the United States,—all CLAUS?" in the appearance in a these are spread over the front page of the paper.

"Peace on earth among men of goodwill," the saying which follow: has a hollow sound this 1937.

But there have been other desperate times in human his- at once and thus prominently-the tory. Wars and discords, plagues and famines have recurred communication below, expressing "since the original Christmas. Each time the human spirit emerged with some degree of triumph. Dark as the times appear | bered among the friends of The to be, the world should not be sour today and regard the Sun: Christmas message as old hypocrisy. Let peace and goodwill reign today in the hearts of men and women everywhere.

Merry Christmas to all!

Louisiana's Golden Rule

Louisiana is boasting because of the recent investment of $37,000,000 of private capital in that state under Gov. Leche's "golden rule" policy toward business. There are 82 new factories going up or completed in that state, and the governor proclaims "we've only brushed the surface."

Gov. Leche says: "We have guaranteed business against burdensome legislative restrictions and political harassment."

This new policy includes a ten-year exemption from prop- sible by their little minds. All erty taxes. Probably it includes also the south's usual guaran. | minds, Virginia, whether they be tee of protection against high labor costs.

This is a form of sectional competition which makes national control seem necessary. Northwest pulp mills face dif- tellect, as compared with the ficult times, especially the kraft mills, against this "golden | boundless world about him, as rule" policy of Louisiana. Here the mills have to pay the us- measured by the intelligence capual property taxes, and high wages besides. Part of the new truth and knowledge. development in Louisiana is due to late discoveries of how to use southern slash pine in kraft paper making. Add to cheap raw material the special advantages of tax exemption and low wages and the Louisiana's golden rule for industry becomes a pain in the neck for northern mills which try to sell in the same national markets.

Christmas Don'ts

Add to Christmas "don'ts": Don't eat too much; and don't drink too much of what | mance to make tolerable this exyou shouldn't drink of at all.

Don't drive too fast or recklessly.

Don't use open flame candles on a Christmas tree; if you which childhood fills the world do, don't start lighting those on the bottom branches,-begin at the top and work down.

Don't wear cotton flannel clothing or use cotton batting fairies! You might get your papa Set the midnight skies aglow; around lighted candles or around an open fireplace or near a to hire men to watch all the chim- Glory be to God the Father,

At Astoria Gov. Martin said it would "give me great satisfaction to kick the pants off the national labor relations

Why cuss out the board? The board is merely the cre- not the strongest man, nor even ature of the Wagner act passed by congress and signed by the president. The disease is in the limitations of the Wagner act, not in the board created to enforce it. The governor should kick Sen. Wagner in the pants and his fellow congress aside that curtain and view and members who voted for the bill; and kick Pres. Roosevelt in the pants, if he finds the Wagner act offensive; not the NLRB whose only power is to crack down on employers.

The governor in the same speech referred to that "miserable secretary of labor." Hardly a gallant reference to a lady. Gov. Martin may hold her in contempt as a public official, but such a reference grates on the public ear. After all, ia. nay, ten times ten thousand governor, you helped fasten the Roosevelt administration to make glad the heart of childon the state and country. Wear a little sackcloth yourself.

The telegram from former Governor Landon to Pres. Roosevelt in hearty support of the president's foreign policy was reassuring to the president as the tone of his reply shows, Gov. Landon, as a leader in the republican party was entitled to speak with a degree of authority for his party in expressing that endorsement. Party lines fade out when it comes to maintaining the integrity of the United States. As the president says we cannot close our eyes to events taking place elsewhere in the world. One country cannot fly the globe when anarchy is on the loose.

Looking ahead a quarter century one can see the federal budget divided in about three parts-one third being paid in interest on government bonds by wealthy who thus duck taxation; another third going to maintain the ordinary establishment of government; another third going to meet relief and social security claims which go to the folk at the low end of the income bracket. The middle class get the privilege of working to pay taxes, to provide funds for these expenditures.

A million laborers are said to be building a motor highway across Asia to connect Russia and central China. They could do no better work than to open up the one-time "celestial empire" with roads. The highway will survive the war and serve the ends of peace, just as the Roman roads, built for the easy movement of legions, remained the great thoroughfares of traffic, long after the fall of Rome.

The Astorian-Budget, discussing Gov. Martin's speech in Astoria, says: "The 'damns' and 'hells' with which he flavored his remarks by way of giving expressive emphasis to them were not shocking even to the ladies present." That is doubtless correct. In fact the ladies appear to like it,-strong he-man stuff; so they get quite a giggle out of the governor's "damns" and "helis."

Reports from a rural area say the schoolhouse was peppered with bb. shot by a Saturday hunter. It will never be known what the nimrod thought he was shooting at-but it was probably a jackrabbit .- Perry in Medford Mail-Tribune. A good job is waiting for that hunter in the Jap air fleet.

John D. M. Hamilton, republican national chairman, predicts gains for republicans in the congressional elections of 1938, but not enough to get control of the house. That should give the party real relief. What worry they would suffer if they had to take over. Better let the nudealers stew in their grease another biennium.

Great boaster about the climate of its home community is the Yakima Republic. Wednesday it reported the finding of an alligator frozen in ice under a culvert in Selah. The alligator part is understandable, but where did the ice come from, Colonel?

The first lady may try to "big apple" at a holiday dance. She has tried everything else, so it is fitting for her to give this a whirl, Her distinguished husband can do the truckin'.

In Japan police rounded up 370 suspects, including a number of university professors, on accusations of being pacifists or communists. Tokye has a Sergeant Odale too.

Portland is having a lot of trouble getting a new berth for the Sattleship Oregon. What is needed is proper berth control

We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! CHRISTMAS 1937

O that night of joy and wonder, You might as well not believe in When a choir of shining angels le'em. Of the Saviour's promised birth.

The most real things in the world | Would they might the song repeat, Echo still that angel chorus, Multitudinous and sweet. Hark the theme of that first carol:

> Glory is to God alone, Peace, to men who dwell in kindness And who worship at His throne.

> Men to men avow their debt, Laud the man who sates their hunger. Spares their brow from honest > sweat. Now a superman we're seeking Who will free all minds from care, Wave a wand or push a button, Pull ambrosia from the air .-

Once the blood of Cain's dead brother out from the ground to God Now the blood of myriad brothers Cries out from a crimson sod; Not with fist or clumsy budgeon. (Caught in anger's swift affray) Now we kill with shrewd inventions In a diabolic way.

once more on Christmas morning. Choirs will chant and bells will ring.

But the "peace on earth" is lacking Till from righteousness it spring. Meekness, and not pride nor power. Yields the fruit of peace, goodwill: Christ was cradled in a manger, Meek souls are his dwelling still.
