Grand Jury, Portland; Delegation Urges

A special session of the Multnomsh county grand jury to investigate alleged lawlessness and violence there is being considered by Governor Charles H. Martin, he declared here yesterday.

The governor said a group of prominent Portland men called at the executive department yesterday and urged that such an investigation be launched. He indithat a definite decision would be reached next week following further investigation of charges by his office. "It is difficult for me to believe that such acts of lawlessness, violence, intimidation and coercion could transpire in this day and generation," Governor Martin said. "But it is not to be wondered at when one considers the meanness and unfairness prevalent in Multnomah county.' Officials close to Governor Martin declared that in case a special grand jury investigation was ordered in Multnomah county it probably would be conducted by a representative of the attorney general's office. The law gives the governor au-
