Saved From Being 'Bartered Bride'

Virginia and Margaret Gozmannian. A modern version of the tale of the bartered bride came to a conclusion when 14-year-old Margaret Gozmannian, right, arrived in New York with her sister, Virginia, 12, after having nearly been forced to marry a 40-year-old French farmer to whom she had been "sold" by her uncle for $125. When her parents returned to United States, leaving her in custody of a uncle in France, he allegedly made the marriage deal with a neighbor, but appeals of the child to the American Aid society resulted in her rescue.

Gale Reaches 75 Miles Per Hour

That City Entirely Cut Off Communication Except by Radio

washouts were numbered by the score. Rainfall of 4.47 inches in 24 hours was the heaviest since 1911.

A small tugboat, the Ben Hur, overturned and sank in Portland harbor this afternoon while endeavoring to move a heavy barge. Two men, who were aboard, were picked up by a lifeboat from the tug George M. Brown, which was assisting in the tow.

The Willamette river continued to rise, threatening 45 families at Grand Island and Wheatland. The Wheatland diversion dam was backed by swirling waters, which cut through a country road. A flood crest, it was feared, would break into the Willamette slough, changing the river course and washing out farm homes.

Highways generally were flooded or blocked by slides. Bus schedules west of McMinnville to the coast and between Forest Grove and Carlton were cancelled because of high water.

Schedules were maintained over the Columbia river and Pacific highways and the Wapinitia cut-off.

Rising waters, particularly in the Long Tom river at Monroe and the Pudding river, threatened highways south of Portland. The Yamhill-Newberg road was closed, and the highway south of Forest Grove menaced.

The Dalles-California highway remained open. Bus travel was restored between Portland and Seaside. Passengers were transferred and forced to walk 300 feet around the Westport slide.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company said 200 Portland telephone lines were out of commission by the storm but mostly been restored to service.

A 25-man crew worked in the Astoria region to restore communication. The Portland Electric Power company reported 218 separate line breaks in the city.

Vast portions of southeast Portland were inundated by swirling, yellow waters from Johnson creek. City workers stood vigil over a log jam ready to dynamite if necessary.

Officers helped rescue residents when water flowed over lower floors of buildings. A slide at Lake Oswego buried the boat house of N. M. Troland and motorboat. Clifford Troland and a companion escaped injury.

The Wapato lake dike was threatened by the Tualatin river. Sand bag barricades were rushed into position.

The Willamette river was expected to flood stage at Eugene tomorrow.

Borah Criticizes Anti-Trust Move

"Consent Decree" WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP)—The government's abortive handling of a trust case proceedings against three big automobile companies drew condemnation today from Senator Borah (R-Idaho).

He criticized the government on much the same grounds that Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger did recently when he discharged a Milwaukee grand jury which had received evidence against the companies.

Referring to the fact the justice department and the companies had discussed a "consent decree" settlement of the case, Borah said such negotiations were "all wrong, both in morals and in their practical benefits—especially when they are made after the guilty parties have come within the clutches of the law."

He said he did not know all the details about the Milwaukee case, but "nothing could be more calculated to encourage the violation of law than to adopt a system permitting great organization leaders to bail themselves out by agreeing not to violate the law again."

Akron Man Dying Of Rare Malady

AKRON, O., Dec. 27—(AP)—"Doctors say I have three years to live," Thomas Lloyd, 35, said today as he disclosed he was the victim of a rare disease which causes the bones to decay and literally to disappear.

Medical history records but 483 cases of the malady, multiple myeloma, Dr. G. M. Stevenson, Kent, O., said.

The first symptom Lloyd said he observed appeared eight weeks ago when he was on his way home from a theatre with his wife and three sons. He noticed he lacked control of his right foot. The condition seemed to disappear but then he lost control of his right eye, next his right arm.

Lloyd submitted to elaborate X-ray examination at a hospital here and went to Cleveland and Philadelphia for diagnosis in osteopathic clinics. Doctor Stevenson said medical records show no instance of an authenticated cure.

Salvador Quake Reported Severe

SAN SALVADOR, Salvador, Dec. 27—(AP)—One person was killed and five injured in an earthquake that shook the towns of Ahuehapan and Atiquizaya near the Guatemalan border last night.

Considerable property damage was reported in both towns and the shock disrupted electric light and telegraph services.

Less severe earthquakes had been felt since Christmas night, but they were considered minor in this Central American republic until the Sunday night tremor caused more serious destruction.

The government and the Red Cross dispatched food and medical supplies to the quake area, a short distance inland from the Pacific coast.

No unusual volcanic activity was reported but the region is pocked with small volcanic craters. (Dispatches from Guatemala said three persons were killed in the Salvador quake and 20 houses destroyed.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—Appointment of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, as general manager of Hearst Radio, Inc., was announced today by Joseph V. Connolly, chairman of the board.

Young Roosevelt has been vice-president and general manager of southwest stations of the Hearst chain. In his new post, which he assumes January 1, he will be located in New York.

He is the second member of the Roosevelt circle to be connected with Hearst enterprises. The president's son-in-law, John Edgar Hoover, is publisher of W. R. Hearst's Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Babe Slaying Is Blamed on Ghost

Youthful Parent Avers His Father's Ghost Caused Him to Beat Child

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Dec. 27—(AP)—Henry J. Nead, 19, husband of a 15-year-old bride, today blamed his father's ghost for the "spirit driven" slaying of his infant foster son early Christmas.

The baby, Earl Albert, born November 14, died from blows struck on the head with the heel of Nead's open palm in their apartment over a grocery at nearby Vesper, Sheriff Henry J. Becker said Nead confessed.

Dead six years, Nead's father "appeared spiritually" and drove him to commit the slaying, the youth said in his confession. His father's spirit had appeared before, Nead related—tormenting him because of his belief that Henry was not his legitimate son.

Nor was the dead baby Nead's. He married Luella Shaw last June knowing she was not the father of her unborn child, the sheriff said both admitted.

Nead's fantastically worded confession, as made known by Sheriff Becker, began with the arrival of the "spirit" and said, in part:

"I was laying (sic) there just half asleep. My dad appeared spiritually and he said that he always said when he came, 'I got you coming.' And he said he was going to cause me trouble for the rest of my life.

"Everything was black the night until I struck the baby. . . Things started to come back, but he still made me hit the baby some more until she (his wife) grabbed my hand."

A first degree murder charge was filed.

(Reports reaching Shanghai recently said hundreds of thousands of coolies were working on the motor road from Lanchow to the Russian border to make it fit for heavy military transport. Japan's invasion of Chahar and Suiyuan provinces has cut the old caravan route between north China and Siberia, by way of outer Mongolia.)

Luganets-Orelesky was understood to have spent much time en route in outer Mongolia—under soviet protection—and at Tsumchi, capital of Chinese Turkestan, and Lanchow.

Lund carried the chicks outside, then ran back, apparently for personal effects.

His body was found inside the front door, near a cupboard where he was believed to keep his money.

Shelton Ditch Is Within Its Banks
Shelton ditch yesterday carried more water than ever before. Engineer Davis reported, but remained within its banks and did no appreciable damage. Erosion together with dry season excavation carried on by the city have deepened and widened the ditch channel markedly during the last year.
The high wind accompanying the rainstorm was blamed for water damage to the new senior high school shops building. Neither waterproofed nor stucco-covered, the south concrete wall leaked so badly that interior woodwork was damaged and tools had to be removed and dried to prevent rusting. No rain damage was reported in the main building.
Lands east of Florence which had remained relatively dry in recent storm seasons were inundated yesterday when 100 feet of new dike along Mill creek below the penitentiary annex gave way. The water covered many acres of ground and flowed across Airport road, above the state highway shops. Southeast Salem, however, escaped serious flooding.
West Side Highway Remained Closed
The west side Pacific highway, blocked early in the day by flood waters in Holmes gap, north of Rickreall, was reopened to traffic by nightfall. South of Monmouth near Heimick park a slide necessitated one-way traffic.
Out of Dallas the highways to the coast, at Wallace bridge, and to Kings Valley were closed on account of high water, as were the Amity-Dayton, Kings Valley and Bellevue-Hopewell secondary highways.
Storm conditions on other state highways were reported by the highway department as follows:
Washout on upper Columbia river highway, east of Troutdale, with one-way traffic; early report of slide blockage at Multnomah falls found erroneous.
Lower Columbia river highway blocked by slide at Westport.
Slide near Montgomery Ward store on highway 30 in Portland. Detour.

Science-Religion Tie-up Is Sought

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 27—(AP)—A plea for cooperation between science and religion to "domesticate and civilize the wild beast in man" was made tonight by Dr. Edwin G. Conklin of the American association for the advancement of science.

The ethics of great scientists is "essentially similar to that taught by great religious leaders," he declared, "and the Christian churches of the United States are concerned with the cultivation of ethics."
"That so little has been accomplished," he said, "and so much remains to be done is due in part to refractory material, poor methods and the necessity of repeating this work in every generation."
The Princeton university biologist, who has written, among other books, one on "The Direction of Human Evolution," declared no race of super-minded or super-bodied men could be developed in less than 20 centuries by scientific breeding methods used on human beings.

Dramatic Battle On Inside Teruel

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontiers, Dec. 27—(AP)—Besieged insurgent troops at Teruel raided the insurgent high command tonight that they had sufficient munitions and food to continue defense of their flaming strongholds.

The insurgent remnants, barricaded six days in the massive Teruel seminary and the bank of Spain, both on fire, fought to hold out a ring of government attackers until relief forces under Gen. Miguel Aranda could break through to them.

General Aranda's counter-offensive was reported by insurgent dispatches to have advanced to within a mile and a quarter of the northwestern section of Teruel, 135 miles east of Madrid.

Industry Opposed To all Monopoly Leader Declares

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—William B. Warner, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said today "American industry is opposed to monopolies in production, distribution or labor."

He was commenting on Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Jackson's address in Washington last night, interpreted in some quarters as an opening gun in an administration anti-monopoly drive, and containing specific criticism of the steel industry.

Warner said he hoped Jackson's views and "expressed sympathy to business" did not represent the view of the government toward "the desire of the manufacturers to help solve the nation's economic problems." He went on:

"Above all else the manufacturers of the nation believe that calm and non-partisan consideration of our national problems is the need of the hour. They have offered repeatedly and stand ready at all times to cooperate toward bettering economic conditions. Meantime their pledge to the American people is that they will do all in their power to maintain employment."

Baby Cold, Quoted As Slaying Reason

GREENBROOK, N. J., Dec. 27—(AP)—A young mother of a two-month-old baby was arrested tonight, accused of killing the five-month-old daughter of her landlord because "her baby was warm and mine was cold."

County Detective Charles Allegretti said 24-year-old Mrs. Sophie Arcuri, who had complained of lack of heat in her home, slashed the throat of tiny Christina Bordoloin with a paring knife this afternoon and laid her under the Bordoloin Christmas tree.

The Arcuris and Bordoloin live in the same house. The dead baby's mother, Mrs. Louis Bordoloin, found the body in a pool of blood. She accused Mrs. Arcuri of the slaying, Allegretti said, and asserted Mrs. Arcuri chased her, knife in hand, to the home of a neighbor.

Admiral Noble to Head Naval Force

LONDON, Dec. 27—(AP)—The admiralty announced tonight Vice-Adm. Sir Percy Noble, fourth sea lord and chief of supplies and transport, would leave immediately after the holidays to become commander-in-chief of the China station.

Admiral Noble, regarded as a man of action, is going directly to Hongkong. That colony now is considered the principal danger spot for British interests in the far east because of an imminent Japanese drive against nearby Canton, south China metropolis.

British admiralty experts were said last week to have advised the cabinet that six capital ships—battleships or battle cruisers—were necessary for adequate protection of British interests in the far east war zones.

If the cabinet should approve such a step, it is understood the naval power would be concentrated at Hongkong.

Change in Silver Policy Predicted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP)—Some informed officials indicated tonight that President Roosevelt might put his silver buying program on a 24-hour basis.

His custom in the past has been to issue a proclamation fixing the treasury price for newly mined domestic silver for a year. It was learned today Mr. Roosevelt might in the future announce that silver prices would be subject to change at any time that conditions warranted.

This action may be taken Thursday or Friday. He has promised to "say something about silver" this week. Unless he extends the present policy, the existing proclamation, establishing the domestic silver price at 77.57 cents an ounce, or about 22 cents above the world price, will expire Friday night.

Soviet Submarine May Probe North

Hint of Expedition Under Polar Ice Noted in Machine Journal

MOSCOW, Dec. 27—(AP)—Soviet authorities hinted today a submarine expedition to the north pole was being considered as the next step toward establishing regular airplane service from Russia over the pole to the United States.

The cruise in exploration under the Arctic ice was suggested recently in the official newspaper of the commissariat of the machine building industry in much the same manner as the soviet flight to the pole first was suggested early this year.

Publication of the article in the official journal was taken by some foreigners as an indication that a submarine colony already may be under construction for the adventure.

Without indicating Russia planned a similar expedition, Prof. M. N. Zuboff, an authority on the Arctic, today said the soviet union would watch closely by the new submarine expedition under the polar ice which Sir Hubert Wilkins, British explorer, was reported planning.

Wilkins has been searching the Arctic by plane for Sigmund Levanefsky and five other missing Russian fliers.

Salvage of Panay Sister Ship's Job

(Continued from page 1) two United States consuls, John M. Allison and James Esby, and Code Clerk A. A. McFadden on their way to Nanking to receive the United States embassy as soon as conditions permit in China's conquered capital.

It was considered possible the American foreign service officers would proceed to Holsien and then await instructions from Washington since Japan has asked foreign nations withhold reopening of their diplomatic quarters temporarily.

The Japanese said the presence of foreigners would be dangerous because of military clean-up operations still to be completed around Nanking.

Although British and German diplomatic representatives had planned to sail on the Oahu none made the trip. They were understood to be waiting further instructions from London and Berlin.
