Farr-Braddock Fight Gets Limelight

Sport Sparks

By RON GEMMELL

The Farr-Braddock heavyweight joust in the Garden tonight will be a far cry from any epoch-maker in the fistic world we'll venture. Odds early in the week favored Miner Farr 8-5 with predictions they'd hit 2-1 at the ringside. The Welshman exhibited plenty of speed and an ability to take 'em—either on the kisser or in the garret, in his fight with Louis, and if he really concentrates on punching tonight should make short work of ex-champion Braddock. Reckon the only reason Braddock is going in there for tonight anyway is the crisp rustle of long green that's in it for him.

A Foo Scraperoo.

New York reports indicate that a possible 12,000 will pop through the turnstiles, with gate receipts unlikely to soar much beyond $50,000. Out of his share for dusting the ex-champ, Farr will probably get enough to enable him to hang around until he gets some cracks at fellers like Tony Galento, the gargantuan beer guzzler, and Braddock will probably shake enough out of it to open another "jernt." Whichever way the bout comes out it won't effect the heavyweight picture enough to take it off its trembling easel. The only thing that'll change that is for the Detroit Bomber, Joe Louis, to enter the roped enclosure with Herr Maxie Schmeling—as far as the fans are concerned, anyhoo.

Tsk, Tsk, Whatta Wit.

Sports joke of the week: During a bull session in the Bearcat gym, previous to the Albany-Willamette game Wednesday night, someone remarked about the extreme length of the basketball floor down at Harrisburg. Wise guy number one piped up with "it must be the "supreme court," and wise guy number two (Johnny Oravec) chimed in with "it'd be an ideal place for General Finance to 'sit,' they've got the nine old men."

Northern Neighbors Tougher?

Wonder if it is the Oregon State High School Athletic association's ruling barring ninth-termers from competition that is giving Washington high schools the edge in all inter-state basketball conflicts entered into so far? The Vancouver Trappers, coached by Marshall Shields, brother of Oregon's line coach Gene Shields, have twisted the hemp around all eight Portland school's necks, Longview dumped Astoria—as did Hoquiam, and the Vikings were vehemently vanquished by Hoquiam twice. Don't believe you can put your finger on that rule as the reason tho', as Washington prep courtsters have been superior for quite some time.

Stirrers Have Job.

A reason we'll advance is that in our neighboring state the general public takes a little more than a thimblefull of interest in the preppers, giving them the adulation that is necessary in order to keep kinds' fervor at white heat. In Oregon, and Salem, Oregon, especially, the public likes to know who won all right, but as far as showing a personal interest in the kids and going out there and cheering for 'them, it just doesn't. Hereabouts its rather like a setting hen, too self-satisfied. Out at the Viking-Bearkitten game the other night we counted exactly two spectators outside of the students. Two. Two. It wasn't exactly a packed house. Guess who the two patriots were? None other than the two men who've been attempting to stir Salem out of its sports spectator lethargy, Tom Hill and H. L. Maynard.

Teddies End Famine.

Afraid it is going to be as hard to stir up spectator sports interest around here as it would be to stir concrete that has set for 20 years. Better that Messrs. Hill and Maynard, and the new athletic council should use dynamite rather than ordinary stirring paddles. Pellmell: Roosevelt high of Portland last Friday night won an interscholastic league basketball game . . . and friends, that's news! . . . because it was the Teddies' first league victory in five whole years, losing 58 straight between the latter part of the 1933 season and last Friday night . . . 'Tis said that Bill Morgan, now 267 pounds of him, will be Reinhart's assistant football coach at George Washington U . . . Morgan recently came out endorsing Shields for the Oregon headman spot.

Youth Favored Over Ex-Champ

15,000 Crowd Is Forecast by Jacobs; Backers of Jim Are Loyal

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—James J. Braddock, who used to be the heavyweight champion, and Tommy Farr who hopes to be, collide in a ten-round bout in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The winner has been promised a match with Max Baer, also an ex-titleholder. The eventual survivor may be sent against either Joe Louis or Max Schmeling late in the summer.

Braddock, making his first start since his gallant stand against Louis in Chicago last June, is the sentimental favorite, but the Welshman who made himself solid with American fight fans by staying 15 rounds with Louis two months later, is the betting choice at 1 to 3.

Promoter Mike Jacobs says 15,000 fans will see the show and the gate will net $80,000. Demand for pasteboards is brisk.

Farr Is Favorite

Louis will be at the ringside. He watched Braddock at Pompton Lakes and although he says old Jim looks in better trim than in the June fight, it is not hard to see the Bomber believes Farr will win.

Most experts predict the fight will go the limit with Farr the winner.

A loss for Braddock may mean the end of his ring career. Jim says he means to go on fighting indefinitely, but Manager Joe Gould insists he'll make him hang up the gloves if he's on the losing end.

Most Braddock backers think Jim's superior punching power and the long left he used to win the title from Max Baer will tip the scales in his favor.

Braddock demonstrated he still can sock. He floored Louis with a right in the first round of their battle.

Bearcats Given Oral Bouquet

Gold Footballs Also Are Presented to Nine as Winners of Title

The local florists will probably find slim pickings for some time to come after Toastmaster Harry Collins and the coterie of athletic luminaries he called upon to speak at the banquet honoring Willamette's 1937 Northwest conference champions got through handing around the wordy bouquets last night.

Nearly 150 prominent Salem citizens turned out to fill the Marion hotel dining room to capacity and pay homage to the 48 Bearcat gridiron scintillators, members of Willamette's four-year undefeated conference team.

Nine of the 'Cats, those who haven't previously received them, were presented with gold footballs, emblematic of the conference crown. They were presented by Bill Phillips, whom Dr. Bruce Baxter in his introduction termed "Willamette's best friend."

Those presented with gold footballs were Art Baird, Leighton Blake, Floyd Cline, Larry Drury, Jack Haek, Johnny Kolb, Irv Miller, Justen Weakley and Bruce Williams.

Once Coached Here

Colonel "Bill" Hayward, the 35-year University of Oregon trainer and track coach was accorded the honor of principal speaker. "Colonel Bill" paid high tribute to the Willamette coaching staff, the school's president, Dr. Baxter, and to its fine crop of "sportsman-like" athletes. The Colonel related how he had at one time coached at Willamette, "for two weeks," he he expressed it, tutoring track at the Methodist school for that length of time by request.

"Twenty years ago," said Hayward, "I came here with an Oregon football team that was beaten by Willamette when it thought it had a setup, 6-0." Oldimers at the banquet remembered the game and called upon the man who made the touchdown for Willamette, Brazier Small, to relate just how it was accomplished.

Mayor V. E. Kuhn, first speaker on the night's program, extended congratulations to the organizers of the new group who made the celebration - banquet a possibility, the Salem Athletic council, and enthusiastically welcomed Willamette students to Salem. "In my travels last summer," said Mayor Kuhn, "in the east, south, and southeast, I heard Willamette university and its high scholastic standing spoken of very highly."

Council Appreciated

Said Coach Roy S. "Spec" Keene, "this Salem Athletic council, and this banquet, are the finest things that ever happened to this city since I've been here." Coach Keene took his opportunity of the floor to introduce his football squad, visiting coaches and guest high school athletes.

Aaron M. Frank, Pacific coast AAU head, sent a telegram of regrets that was read by Toastmaster Harry Collins. Mr. Frank sent high regards to the Willamette football team, to Dr. Baxter and to Coach Keene.

Elliott "Tootie" Becken, watchcharm all-conference guard of the 'Cats ,assumed the speaking duties for the squad. "Coach Keene is the finest man I ever hope to work under," said "Tootie", "and it was because of him that I came to Willamette." Becken gave thanks for the squad to the people of Salem for their treatment of the football squad, and enthusiastically advised visiting high school athletes to make Willamette their alma mater.

Carl Gabrielson, a former Oregon athletic luminary, introduced Hayward.

Jesse Owens' Appearance Is Cancelled Here; Unable to Reconcile AAU Angle With Colored Flash's Professionalism

Acting on the advice of James Richardson, state AAU official in Portland, Willamette university athletic officials disclosed yesterday that they had been forced to cancel the scheduled appearance here tonight of Jesse Owens and his talented colored hoop squad.

Richardson, after making every effort to clear the AAU credentials of the barnstorming negro basketeers, said that eastern officials had been unable to find any record of their good standing with the association.

Willamette, should it play Owens' Olympians, would be barred from competing with other AAU members.

Bearcat Coach Howard Maple pointed out that the university had scheduled the game in good faith, with the understanding that the visitors held AAU cards and travel permits of good standing.

The remainder of the Bearcats' week-end hoop schedule will go through as previously announced. The 'Cats, winners in 11 of their 15 starts to date, tangle with the greatly strengthened Pacific Packards here tomorrow night at 8 p. m.

Lestle Sparks' Bearkittens are slated for a pair of showings. The frosh make up their city league tilt with Chemawa's all-stars tonight on the Willamette floor at 7 p. m., then travel to Vancouver, Wash., for an inter-state battle with the strong Washington preppers tomorrow night.

Humboldt college, playing the SONS last week, divided honors with them in a two-game joust. Humboldt then journeyed north to Monmouth to top the Wolves by a three-point margin, score 41-38.

Rivalry between these two normal schools should make an interesting internecine contest of the coming games. In a bit of advance information, it was said that the SONS have a good letterman lineup headed by Sether, six feet one; and Levens, an extra good floor man. They showed good form during the holidays, winning several games.

The Wolves are playing two lettermen, Mohler and Grondquist, as leaders of their squad. To date the Wolves have played six games and lost one this season. Their defeat of Linfield college was a spectacular event. They lost to Humboldt college by three points in the final minutes of play last Saturday night.

Ben Friedman Applicant now

Interested in Coach Job at Oregon; Bradshaw Visits on Campus

EUGENE, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Anson Cornell, University of Oregon athletic manager, said Benny Friedman, former University of Michigan and professional football player, had indicated in a letter he was "definitely interested" in the head coaching position resigned by Prince G. Callison.

Friedman, now coach at the College of the City of New York, reopened discussion of his candidacy, suggested by a friend who said his appointment would assure Oregon an open style of football.

The prospect list was narrowed at the last meeting of the Oregon athletic board to Gene Shields, line coach; Jimmy Bradshaw of Fresno State college; Ted Bank of Idaho and Tex Oliver of Arizona. However, Cornell said "anyone else who is interested will still be given consideration."

Athletic officials were interviewed by Bradshaw today.

EUGENE, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Alumni, faculty, student and player support would allow the University of Oregon to develop football with as much success as basketball and baseball, James "Rabbit" Bradshaw, Fresno State college coach who conferred with athletic board members regarding the position resigned by Prince G. Callison, said today.

Bradshaw said he was "interested" but was not an applicant for the head coaching position.

MacPhail has been given full authority to reorganize the strife-torn and financially harassed Dodgers.

District Tourney Plans Are Drawn; Play at Linfield

DALLAS—The committee for District No. 6 of the state high school basketball set-up met at McMinnville Monday to discuss and formulate plans for the annual district basketball tournament. The members are H. J. Kramer of Silverton, R. R. Turner of Dallas, Ward Hammerslay of Tillamook, I. R. Mitler of Beaverton and William Maxwell of McMinnville. William Maxwell was re-elected president and R. R. Turner, secretary.

The committee decided that eight teams would take part in the district tournament. They will be selected as follows: Marion county, 2 teams; Washington county, 2 teams; Polk county, 1 team; Tillamook county, 1 team; Yamhill county, 1 team; the eighth team is to be determined by a playoff game between the runners-up of Polk and Yamhill counties.

It was decided that the tournament would be held at Linfield college at McMinnville this year. The probable date for the affair will be March 10, 11 and 12. The committee would prefer to hold it on March 3, 4 and 5, but some other group had previously arranged to use the gymnasium on these dates. If a change can be made, the dates may be shifted to the March 3, 4 and 5 dates.

The schedule of the first days games follows: First game—3:30 p. m. Thursday. Washington "A" vs. Marion "B." Second game—4:30 p. m. Thursday. Marion "A" vs. Washington "B." Third game—7:30 p. m. Thursday. Tillamook vs. winner in Polk-Yamhill playoff. Fourth game—8:30 p. m. Thursday. Polk county "A" vs. Yamhill "A."

The committee voted to suggest to the state athletic association that in case Portland was not represented in the state basketball tournament, that these two places be filled for the present year by an additional team from district No. 6 and one additional team from the district in which Eugene is located. This plan was suggested in order to keep the number of teams in the state tournament at 16, and would be only a temporary arrangement until the state could be redistricted.

CYO Mittslingers' Reappearance Set

Local Talent Plan Second Simon-Pure Armory Card January 27

The local CYO boxing team, that made its initial appearance before Salem fight critics early in January, will once more present a simon-pure fight card at the armory Thursday, January 27.

Opposition for local talent will be furnished by the Silver Falls Athletic club, coached by Buddy Ambrose, well-known Willamette valley boxer.

Ambrose has two fighters that are sub-division champions, having won recent battles in Vancouver, Wash. Emory Brooks, heavyweight, and Roscoe Turnbo, lightweight, are the two near-champion leather slingers. It is expected that they will find plenty of opposition in local ranks.

Quamme Main Eventer

Local CYO leather pushers have been training daily in their gym at Oldhi, and will be in topnotch shape to battle the Silver Falls squared circle brigade.

Bob Quamme, scrappy CYO lightweight who was "stood up" by his scheduled opponent in the last card, will fight the main event against a boxer from St. Helens Athletic club.

These amateur fight cards are bringing together the best boys the country can provide. The support of the people in the Willamette valley paves the way for bigger and better fights in this community.

Tickets for this fight will be on sale at Cliff Parker's today.
