Drop Follows FDR Mess age Outlining Policy on Commodities

CHICAGO, Feb. 18-(AP)-Rapid downward plunges of 21/2 cents in wheat prices attended today the conclusion of a statement by President Roosevelt outlining his policy about commodity values.

The president's statement emphasized the policy did not mean inflation, and this was seized upon by many traders as indicating that yesterday's sharp advance of the wheat market had been effected on a mistaken basis. It was also contended the president's remarks today shed little light on what definite future steps as to commodity prices were to be taken by the administration. Buying Is Curtailed

An immediate result was to bring out increased selling of wheat futures and also a curtailment of buying support for the market. Brokers said much of the selling, however, was in the nawith only fractional rallies direct, nothing offered for sale, market quoted nominally steady. ture of efforts to realize profits.
