CIO Seeks to Block Lumber Of AFL Mills

New Tie-up Is Approved by Longshore Union; Reprisal Is Aim

Claim Boycott Enforced Only in Bay Region, not in Northwest

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1—(AP)—The district council of the Maritime Federation tonight passed a resolution adopted by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union (CIO) asking that all maritime unions refuse to transport, load or unload "AFL lumber."

The resolution, passed Monday night by the ILWU, asks that the federation "seriously consider the advisability" of refusing to handle AFL lumber in this port.

The resolution, it was said, was in protest to a boycott assertedly placed by the carpenters union (AFL) International officers on CIO lumber from the Pacific northwest.

Henry Schmidt, president of the ILWU, and other CIO leaders appealed to Mayor Angelo J. Rossi yesterday to intervene in an effort to stop the boycott of CIO lumber.

Schmidt declared the boycott had been ordered by the carpenters' officials "only for the Bay region, while CIO lumber is freely used in building construction in the northwest."

Later today James "Buckets" of the building trades council (AFL) phoned Mayor Rossi, who had been attempting to have both factions meet, but local carpenters' union leaders would not discuss the lumber boycott.

Schmidt asserted retail lumber dealers had been "terrorized" into refusing to handle the CIO lumber.

Meanwhile, it was announced that CIO lumber union representatives from the Pacific northwest, who arrived here several days ago, were forming plans for a "vigorous protest" against the boycott of CIO lumber.

Drake Case Taken Under Advisement
Status of Authority Given to Take Collection Is Held Moot Point

The state's larceny charge against June D. Drake, Silberton photographer, was taken under advisement by Judge Miller B. Hayden at 5 p.m. yesterday after defense and prosecution counsel had concluded their extended and frequently postponed presentations of witnesses and legal arguments in Salem justice court. Judge Hayden said he would attempt to hand down an early decision as to whether the charge should be dismissed or Drake be bound over to the grand jury.

The only testimony presented yesterday was in the form of a transcript by Elsie Ferguson, court reporter, of notes taken recently when attorneys for both sides questioned Mrs. Eliza Hathaway, 87-year old mother of the late Frank Coffman, in a robbery February 22. One was held on larceny charge and both were accused of carrying weapons.

Judge Hayden indicated that with many pieces of testimony conflicting, he was more interested in the legal phase of the case, as to whether or not Drake obtained the collection with intent to steal or in good faith took it believing he had authority to do so under an order signed by Coffman while the latter was in prison.

EUGENE, March 1—(Special)—Salem high school's Viking court warriors walloped the Eugene Axemen here tonight, 33-19, to walk off with championship honors in the first year of the playing of the "No-Name" league circuit.

Taking an early lead, behind the firing of Dick Parker and "Weezy" Maynard, the Vikings were never headed. Their lone defense was too much for the Axemen to fathom, although "Whitey" Austin played well for the losers and big Jim Stevenson found the range for three field goals and six free throws, for 12 points.

The Vikings had eight points before the Axemen landed a gift, and held a 10-1 first quarter advantage. They pulled up at the half with a 14-6 lead, and were far in front at the third-quarter mark, 25-11.

Maynard slithered hemp from the floor four times and hoisted three from charity lane to amass 11 points, Parker getting four field goals and one conversion for nine counters.

The victory gave the Vikings (Turn to Page 7, Col. 7).

Workers Favored In Mexican Court
MEXICO CITY, March 1—(AP)—The labor section of the Mexican supreme court today upheld an arbitration board award of increased wages and benefits to oil workers and thereby presented the $400,000 companies from the industry with the question of abiding by the decision or making good on threats to abandon operations in Mexico.

Four justices of the section unanimously rejected the appeal by American, British and Netherlands companies from the award which they contended would increase their yearly costs by $12,000,000. The board estimated the increased costs at $7,200,000 annually.

The benefits would go to 10,000 workers in the industry.

Minority Hits Taxation Bill As Repressive

Profit and Capital Levy Retention and Penalty Tax Are Assailed

Baruch Claims Business as Well as Officials Must Share Blame

WASHINGTON, March 1—(AP)—Seven republican legislators, defeated in an attempt to kill the tax revision bill in the House ways and means committee, condemned the measure tonight on grounds it would continue "repressive taxation" of business.

The minority members of the committee issued a vitriolic 4,000-word report dealing with three "outstanding, undesirable features." They said these were:

1. The retention of the "vicious and indefensible principle of the undistributed profits tax," which they said should be repealed outright.

2. The imposition of "an unwarranted and discriminatory penalty tax" on closely held or family owned corporations.

3. Failure to limit the taxation of capital gains in such a way as to encourage capital transactions and the investment of new funds in productive enterprise.

WASHINGTON, March 1—(AP)—Business has not done its share in combating the recession, Bernard M. Baruch, friend and advisor of President Roosevelt, frankly told the senate unemployment committee today.

Appearing for the second day as a witness in the committee's inquiry, the silver-haired financier also reiterated his previous contention that tax revision is necessary to recovery.

His advocacy of tax law changes was seconded by Robert W. Irwin, Grand Rapids, Mich., furniture manufacturer, who urged:

W. Collar Facing Grand Jury Probe
Originally charged with assault and battery upon a 16-year-old girl, Willard Collar, 22, found a charge of attempt to commit a felony facing him before he was indicted with a preliminary hearing before Judge Miller B. Hayden in justice court here yesterday afternoon. The court changed the charge after hearing testimony in the case, bound Collar over to the grand jury on the more serious count and raised his bail from $250 to $1000, which Collar failed to furnish.

The girl testified that Collar, taking her for a motorcycle ride Monday night, had stopped and attempted to attack her near the city incinerator site. She resisted and in the ensuing altercation, he was bitten on one cheek. The girl alleged Collar finally agreed to bring her back to the city but instead headed eastward at a high rate of speed. She said she managed to jump off the motorcycle near the state prison annex and walked back to town. Her parents then called for police assistance.

Hitlerites Parade In Graz; Goering's Warning Broadcast

Minister of Interior Visits Scene of Disorder, Troops Make no Move to Break up big Procession

German Field Marshal's Statement Is Viewed as Notice to Schuschnigg, Czechs, Britain and France

GRAZ, Austria, March 1—(AP)—An estimated 20,000 nazis paraded noisily by torchlight through Graz tonight as another obstacle—revival of the heimwehr as a political force—rose on the path of nazi ambitions to dominate Austria.

Many wearing German storm trooper uniforms, the shouting nazis welcomed a visit from Arthur Seyss-Inquart, the Hitler-approved minister of interior.

They demanded a speech from him, but all they got was a proclamation, read by other leaders, saying "a representative of our leader who is Hitler is with us."

Graz authorities offered no resistance to the demonstration. Soldiers and gendarmes remained in their barracks. Seyss-Inquart gave the nazi salute from a window as the torchlight procession wound past.

Five More Guilty Pleas Are Heard
While the nazis seethed throughout the country mobilized in the support of the government's fight to maintain Austrian independence.

Maj. Emil Fey, former Vienna chief of the fascist heimwehr, careened into the limelight again with a call for former heimwehr members to join him in fighting "for the administration and for Austria."

The heimwehr, once the private army of Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg, was disbanded in 1936.

Another factor entered the picture when it was announced that thousands of peasants under the control of the fascist government were planning a big rally to demonstrate their backing of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg.

While armed units maintained strict order throughout the country, radical nazis in Graz drew up five "demands" with which to confront Seyss-Inquart. The demands were:

1. Permission to enlist members freely.

2. The government must consider results of the nazi membership drive as a plebiscite.

3. Federal and provincial governments must be organized on a basis of the membership campaign.

4. The constitution of 1934, guaranteeing free speech, must be carried out.

5. Socialists and communists should not be entitled to organize.

Graz nazis, claiming 92 per cent of the provincial government officials and 82 per cent of the city officials, vowed they would not compromise in their drive for more power.

"My wife was having a baby," Anable explained.

"Were you ever tagged before for overtime parking?"

"Yes," said Anable, "about three years ago."

"What delayed you that time?"

"My wife was having a baby," "Good afternoon," Judge McEllin said. "See you again in about three years."
