Miss Bahlburg to Wed Dr. Page March 26

At the informal bridge party for which Miss Jean Bahlburg was hostess last night she told a dozen of her friends of her forthcoming marriage to Dr. Wayne Jefferson Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Page of Dallas. The wedding will be an event of Saturday, March 26 at the Bahlburg home on South Church street.

Miss Bahlburg, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Bahlburg, is well known in the capital. She is a graduate of Salem schools and a member of the Junior Woman's club. She is now employed at the county assessor's office.

Dr. Page is a graduate of the University of Oregon Medical school and a member of Theta Kappa Psi fraternity. He is now practicing in Dallas.

The announcement was revealed at the supper hour with miniature red hearts bearing the names of the couple and were concealed under each plate. Spring flowers provided the decorative note about the rooms. Following several hours of cards supper was served by the hostesses.

Today Is Last Chance to Enter Cake Contest For Six Awards

Today marks the last chance for all good cooks of Salem and vicinity to enter cake recipes in The Statesman-Nucoa contest. Entries postmarked up to midnight will be in line for the prizes offered.

Those sending in the six best recipes using Nucoa will receive baskets of groceries including a two-pound carton of Nucoa, a quart jar of mayonnaise and five other Best Foods items.

You can send in just as many recipes as you wish, only be sure and include the flap off a carton of Nucoa for each recipe. Here are the simple rules:

1. Clip the flap off a carton of New Nucoa (and with Good Housekeeping seal) and send in with each recipe.
2. Have recipes for cakes using Nucoa in mail by March 5, Saturday night.
3. Write on one side of the paper only one recipe to a sheet.
4. No recipes will be returned.
5. All those entering recipes for cakes made with Nucoa will receive a booklet, "Cakes and Cookies With Personality."

Color in Clothing Lecture Subject

Several meetings have been planned for this district at which Mrs. Eileen Perdue Buxton, acting specialist in clothing and textiles for Oregon State college will speak. The first meeting will be held March 8 in Woodburn, then March 9 in the Silverton armory and March 11 at the Red Hills grange hall. Mrs. Buxton will stress the importance of color to the well dressed woman. She will discuss correct colors suitable to various types and complexions and tell how they affect the color of the skin or hair.

MARKET BASKET

Artichokes are best bet for family meals over the weekend because they are plump and green, with moderate price and at the height of their season.

New peas and potatoes are coming in from the east. Tomatoes look redder and cucumbers remain as a luxury vegetable.

Carrots, turnips and beets are the chief root vegetables offered. Greens include both spinach and mustard greens.

For salads there are: Chinese cabbage, white and red cabbage, green onions, lettuce, green or white celery, red and white radishes.

Squash are still with us, the winter kind, and a few summer varieties appear occasionally. Fruit displays show grapefruit, oranges and lemons in abundance, nice limes. There are lots of good bananas, boxes and boxes of apples, some pears.

Rhubarb is here to stay, and is a good color and nice flavor.

Alumnae Group Entertained Thursday

Mrs. Willard Marshall and Miss Eloise Buck entertained alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta Thursday night with a smartly arranged affair at the former's home. At a late hour supper was served by the hostesses. During the evening the group sewed for the Salem General hospital.
