Rosheim Cleared—Drunken driving charges filed against Clarence Rosheim in 1935 and appealed to circuit court were dismissed yesterday morning when at a trial before Judge L. H. McMahan the examining physician, Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, was unable to testify from memory as to Rosheim's condition at the time of the arrest. Under the law in effect at that time a conviction could not be had without the doctor's verdict that a defendant was drunk. This requirement was amended out by the last legislature.

Injunction Is Sought by SP

John Noak Sued Regarding Blocking of Channel of Pringle Creek

The Southern Pacific company yesterday filed suit in circuit court for an injunction restraining John Noak from blocking off an overflow channel of Pringle creek southeast of Salem. The complaint charges an earthen wall built up by defendant caused water from the creek to flood the railroad right of way last fall. The company subsequently went onto Noak's land and removed the dike.

Grand jury sessions and at least one circuit court trial will be held this week. Judge L. G. Lowelling is expected here Wednesday for trial of transferred probate matters and of a suit in connection with the A. T. Savage estate.

Original Musical Set for Thursday

'Song of Life,' Written by Wayne Meusey, Salem, Planned at Bush

An original operetta, "The Song of Life," written by Wayne Meusey of Salem and directed by Miss Lorraine Meusey will be presented at the Bush school auditorium Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, with proceeds to be given to the federal art project for Salem.

The cast includes members of the sixth grade of Bush school, assisted by other pupils there. The operetta setting is a little mountain kingdom in a far-away corner of Europe and the theme conveys the idea that whether peasant or prince, each has a task or job in life to perform and that each one's task is just as important as anyone else as long as one sings the song in his heart.

Many Take Part
The cast: Prince Robin, David Weston; Lady Anne, Ruth Anderson; Peter, Charles Poindexter; other boys and girls of the court, Sarah Craven, Audrey Peterson, Helen J. P. Gilbert, Barbara Kent, Eileen Fisher, Elizabeth Teal, Dean Thomas, Wesley Strode, Don Olson; heralds, Billy and Bobby Johnston; guards, Wallace Bonesteele, Phillip Cray, Lloyd Loeppke, Laverne Hoop, Edwin Phillips, Tommy Burton, Delbert Kurtz, Dick Miller; sellers, Donna Kleizing, Barbara Upporn, Juanita Schwabauer, Doris Hamilton, Jane Caron, Ramona Bloom, Lois Schenk, Bertha Layton; jesters, Juanita Fitzer, Larry Dickson, Jimmy Shade; servants, Ruth Barber, Raymond Tompkins, Stanley Deacon; peasants, Frances Hertz, LaVelle Hauge, Goldie Gevel, Frankie Lou Williams, Evelyn Myers, Rea Mae Raht, Jean Hotchkiss, Delmar Rand, Jimmie Gordon, Donald Scheelar, Albert Miller, Bill Lowen, James Tate, Donald Hill; flowers, DeMay Lappin, Dixie Morton, Patricia Thompson, Dorothy Polanski, Nadra Garrett, Dorothy Jeanne Gettman, Joyce Holmstedt, Mamie Swegle; elves, Leo Collier, Ronald Busey, Allan Guthrie, Ralph Morgall.

Keally Coming to Discuss Problems

Location of Library and Statue Talked; Plan new Band Stand

Francis Keally, one of the architects for the new state capitol, is expected to arrive in Salem within a day or two for consultation with the capitol commission and other architects regarding the spotting of the new library building on the north block, and the selection of a new site for the circuit rider on the state capitol grounds.

Robert W. Sawyer and T. H. Beahm of the commission have been in New York conferring with the eastern architects, and on their recommendation Mr. Keally, or some one from the Trowbridge & Livingston firm, will make the trip to view the ground and make recommendations. While the eastern architects were not retained for the library-office building work they outlined the general scheme for the development and the commission wants to follow that scheme if possible.

No immediate selection of a site for the bandstand in Willson park will be made by the city park board, it was stated yesterday by George H. Riches, chairman. The present bandstand will be torn down in connection with landscaping the west approach to the new statehouse. The park board found it was impractical to move the bandstand.

The state capitol commission made adequate payment to the city to cover either its removal or erection of a new stand. The park board believes that, after completion of the new capitol and the landscaping, it will be better able to select a suitable location and will use the money received from the state for the erection of a new and modern bandstand.

The park board has conferred with J. H. Albert, donor of the present bandstand, who concurs in the decision of the board not to try to move the present structure.

Large Crowd out For Bush Lecture

MORE than 400 persons were in attendance at the lecture of Captain Willard C. Bush, sponsored by the Salem 20-30 club, Thursday night at the Leslie auditorium.

To provide an appropriate setting for Captain Bush's thrilling account of hunting and other adventures in the Malay jungle, the 20-30 club, which has been in session since she retired to her country life, covered it with flax brought from Mt. Angel. Two boys dressed as Malays sat upon the stage.

Tom-toms and kettledrums sounded at intervals during the lecture.
