Inside the car Mose, the porter, tries to pacify Mrs. Sanders, a demanding elderly woman who shares Section 6 with Elliott and explains travel accommodations to Jake Weatherby, gaun mid-western farmer unused to luxury trains. An unassuming little man in khaki sits reading. His heavy duffle bags rattle when they are moved, as if they contained miner's tools. When the Dade babies begin to cry, Jaxie provides a drawingroom for them.

CHAPTER VI

"Good night, Miss Cameron, and thank you again so much." Carrie Dade entered the little room as if she had been granted entrance to the queen's apartments in a royal palace, with awe and gratitude; and a peaceful hope enveloped her.

Just then the drummer in upper 9 entered from the smoker, "Well, I guess I'm ready to climb the ladder to the hayloft, George," he ad-dressed Mose, in the manner of all drummers addressing all porters.

"Yes, suh, ah'll git de laddah right away." He turned about and hesitated, beckoned the man into the corridor. "Say, Boss, I was jes' thinkin'," he winked toward the swaying, buttoned curtains of lower 9, "how would you-all lak to shift yo'se'f over into upper 7? Dat lady wid de two kids has taken de drawin' room, and dat leaves de lower empty. How bout it, suh?"

"I'm on, George," laughed the salesman. "Suits me, all right." "Yes, suh, ah'll hab it ready foh you-all in a fiffy, suh."

Thus Mose, the all-wise manager, shifted his misfit charges into more convenient niches to the best of his ability; as the misfits of life often jamas, stretched her bare, white scented, swaying darkness and re- tives. iced that life was good and living

SILVERTON - Mrs. Edwin Floyd Washburn Loses Left Hand

Con Edis . . . . . . 21

LYONS-Floyd Washburn, employe of the Hellin Lumber company, had his left hand severed at the wrist while at work Wednesday. The new mill had just began operation, Washburn was working at the cut-off saw when the accident occurred. Clyde Bressler took him to a Stayton physician who took him to Salem where it was necessary to amin Lyons sometime. Word was received here of the death of Orley Derr of Portland, a former resident of the Lyons, Jordan and Mehama communities. Graveside services were held between the wrist and elbow. Mr.

Washburn and his wife have lived at Stayton Saturday. Mrs. Bodeker's Sunday school class held a party at the community hall Tuesday night. The boys of the class entertained the girls. Games were enjoyed, with refreshments served at the close of the evening.
