He Wrote a Book

The wise man of the Bible said, "Oh that mine enemy would write a book." Thurman W. Arnold, now appointee for assistant attorney general did just that. It brought him fame and favor at the White House. It will also bring him inquisition at the hands of the senatorial committee to which his nomination was referred. Rex Tugwell, it is recalled, also (The firing on Fort Sumter was wrote a book, "The Industrial Discipline." And when his name was before the senate he was put on the spot by senatorget even more thorough grilling than Tugwell or Robert H. Jackson. ial inquisitors. In the present mood of congress Arnold will

In fact, the anti-new deal senators are probably sitting up night reading "The Folklore of Capitalism" now, copying texts for their questions or their speeches. The book bristles with material to provoke controversy. These senators will feel and badly sandpapered when they get through the book, and be ready for several rounds with the Yale professor.

We have an idea however that the inquisitors will need to so concerning the disposition that be on guard. Arnold is nimble-witted. If his tongue is as fa- during the conflict. cile as his pen he may turn tables on his critics and hang a few hides of senators on the sunny side of the capitol. Of this the country may be certain: the hearing will provide a real show and plenty of copy for the press boys. If Arnold is confirmed he will be chief actor on a wider stage. Already Hugh should be relieved by Captain Johnson is labelling him as a business baiter. We'd like a James J. Archer, of the Ninth ringside seat for the political drama that lies ahead.

Mooney at Sacramento

Bringing Tom Mooney to Sacramento to appear before the state legislature was nothing but theatre. We are surprised the warden honored the subpoena of the legislature, potified that he intended to go whose authority in the premises is very doubtful. After he got | south, and his conduct was such there all he could do was make a speech and reiterate his after reaching the post that I claims to innocence, which is what he has been claiming ever since he was arrested.

The Mooney case is a celebrated one. His friends protest he was railroaded to prison because he was a radical. They have kept up the fight to get him out of prison. But all attempts have failed. Governors have gone through the evi- his resignation and had been dence and listened to pleas and refused to turn him loose. The granted a leave of absence for supreme court of the state has rejected appeals on his behalf, 60 days. On July 17 he took and only recently an examiner held a "retrial" and found him "guilty." This paper has no prejudice in the matter one way when Captain Philip A. Owen, or the other: it is purely a question of fact. While many out- of the Ninth Infantry, arrived, siders have studied the evidence and come to the conclusion and, taking charge, gave me my the verdict was based on fraud, no person in authority in the matter has come to the same conclusion. In the face of this fact it is hard to believe that every responsible public agency has erred in the matter and that Mooney is innocent.

Theories and Inconsistencies

Americans who are ardently opposed to participation of the United States in foreign matters that might lead to war have been severe in criticising Premier Chamberlain for not by crystallized organization which facing down Hitler and Mussolini. They are strong for the the Southern Confederacy quick-Eden policy-for England. They want the world kept safe for ly exhibited disquieted me very democracy, with Great Britain and France taking the role that the southern leaders had of international policeman. They are not willing for this long anticipated the struggle and country to bolster Britain in calling the bluff of the dictators. prepared for it.

There is another inconsistency with another group of Americans. Many of those who opposed the league of nations tain direct intelligence of the Americans. Many of those who opposed the league of nations progress of the war. Most of elected 2nd vice-president at the now want to effect a virtual alliance with Britain and France the time we were in the depths fifth annual older boys' conferfor the purpose of collective security. The world seems to face chaos either way it turns. If the dictators march on, human liberty is destroyed and that paralyzes civilization. If nations precipitate a general world war the result may be the same. And if this country hides behind its protecting oceans its loss of foreign trade will ruin domestic business. Only for those with extremely simple faiths is there a ready answer to the current dilemma.

New Stamp Series

Jim Farley keeps on boosting the game for the stamp -collectors. Now he is about to commit the treason of shifting George Washington from the three-cent stamp to a one-cent stamp, And Thomas Jefferson, democracy's founder, gets the place on the three-cent stamp, the one which is licked by more ported missing a or as having people than any other.

It all comes about this way. Farley has decided to arrange stamp issues in the order of service of the presidents. So Father George goes on the one-center; John Adams on the two-center; T. Jefferson on the three-center; Lincoln on the 15-cent stamp; McKinley picture will cost 35c and Calvin Coolidge's $5.00. The only non-presidents in the new series tattle, first Bull Run, was will be Benjamin Franklin and Martha Washington.

Republican Congressman Bruce Barton brands the scheme as democratic manipulation. Of course if republicans do not like it they can buy three one-cent stamps and thus defeat the plan for more Jefferson "propaganda." We are more inclined to think however, that Jim is doing just something was not much of a scrap, cwing for the stamp collectors of whom he and the president are

Plight of Migratory Workers

Thousands of migratory workers, many of them dust- dan, as he later fought, Richbowlers, are in dire distress as a result of the floods in southern California. Many of them were living in shacks along the stream beds in the San Joaquin valley and in other lowlands. When the waters came they were driven from their homes, and many of the shacks were washed away. In one place near Madero a city of 5000 was rendered homeless. At another town some 10,000 migratory workers are suddenly made public charges. The high waters flooded the produce fields and cut off chances of work for at least two weeks.

Gov. Merriam has called a special session of the legislature and is asking for $17,000,000: $4,900,000 for relief; $9, 000,000 for the emergency fund; $3,000,000 from the gas tax for use in southern California.

The flood merely makes worse the pitiful situation of the transient laborer, who moves with the seasons from job to job, who does the mass work of the harvests and supplies the market for used car "clunks."

Old machines still keep their grip in some quarters. In Kansas City Tom Pendergast's outfit rolled up a two-to-one victory. In St. Paul the labor machine (with both AFL and CIO wheels running for once in the same direction) elected its candidate. In Seattle, however, Arthur B, Langlie's election puts an end to the Beck-Dore domination of the city government.

Years after certain Russian leaders have died several doctors are being tried on charges of doing them to death with poison or neglecting their cases. Of course the doctors will be found guilty and probably executed. What a place Russia may become for malpractice suits.

Austria is to have one of these "yes-no" votes for its people Voting east of the Rhine and Rhone responds to the poke of the bayonet. The Austrian plebiscite will be a test of which bayonet has the sharpest point the nazi or the Schuschnigg.

So the next day he was arrested by the secret police and sent to concentration camp at Sachsenhauten-Oranienburg without any indictment and without any suggestion of further trial. German justice is conducted according to the heads - I - win - tails - you-lose formula, which has the advantage of making it just as dangerous to be acquitted as to be condemned. Since justice has already been defined in Germany as anything that aids Germany, and since Germany has become, by the decree of its rulers, the nazi party, and justice therefore becomes anything a certain logic in this procedure.

But the case of Martin Niemoel ler raises speculations in one's which the nazis believe should animate the Germanic race, who alone are supposed really to understand it. To our poor, confused anachronistic, western minds, a man who risks his career, his freedom, the economic security of his wife and children, and life itself, for principles in which he believes, appears heroic, and Martin Niemoeller, who risked his life for his country on the most dangerous of the naval services—the submarine warfare - and who, during the last three years, has risked it again in the service of the religion which he professes, seems to us to be all of a piece, the "integer vitae" praised by Horace, and adored through two thousand years of western history:-

In fact he awakens our admiration for Germany, and the German spirit, and suggests that that country and that spirit may really be heroic.

But we find that we have bestowed our admiration in the wrong place. The heroic German, according to the nazis, first makes himself deaf, dumb, and blind, then disconnects any intelligence he may have, gives his conscience strong injection of morphine and begins to marksh, the while his voice loudly repeats the national slogans in which, in his comatose condition, he has been carefully rehearsed.

All this may be useful to the German nation, although I doubt it, but why is it called "heroism." or the "incarnation of the heroic principle"? Or is every so-called "Heroic Age" merely a barbaric

Thomas Observes 84th Anniversary

MONMOUTH-J. G. Thomas, one of Monmouth's oldest residents, was complimented by riends and neighbors on his 84th birthday anniversary, March

Born in Illinois in 1854, Thomas recalls vividly the campaign and election of Lincoln for president. To augment a republican rally, a band came from Terre Haute, Ind., the first musical ensemble he had ever seen. Thomas' father erected a tall, spliced flagpole in their front vard, and his mother made a flag 10 feet long.

A farmer for practically his entire four score years, Thomas has enjoyed remarkable health, not requiring the services of a doctor in more than 50 years. Last fall he and Mrs. Thomas retired from farm life, and moved to town.
