West Salem streets are being graded. A signal light has been installed on Edgewater at Kingwood street and Wallace road.

Aumsville School Kitchen Improved

AUMSVILLE—Thursday was a red letter day for the WPA cooks, serving the hot lunch to school children, when a large tank and water heating system was installed in the school kitchen. Heretofore there has been a plentiful supply of cold water, but an insufficient amount of hot water. The new water tank is heated through the huge kitchen range and will afford an abundance of hot water at all times when the stove is in use. Claude Boone, who has been ill for several weeks, is able to be out occasionally now.

The senior class of the high school sponsored an entertainment Wednesday night. Pictures depicting the last days of Pompeii were shown.

With the advent of favorable weather, farmers here are plowing and seeding. The fields are reported sufficiently dry after the winter soaking rains and work is being rushed. People with small tracts to be ploughed, are finding it difficult to secure a farmer who can spare the time from his own work.

Garden Contest Open to Pupils

JEFFERSON—N. C. White of Jefferson is sponsoring a garden contest and offering prizes totaling $15 for the best gardens by students of the Jefferson school. There will be three classes of contestants with three prizes in each class, first prize, $2.50; second, $1.50; third, $1. Each contestant must enter at least three items and not more than five. Garden plots will be judged upon neatness and care of the plot, regularity and strength of growth of plants; choice of plants; general appearance of plot. The awards will be made at commencement.
