

Local News Briefs

Flood Map—An army engineers' map of the Ditmars Bend flood control project was filed with the county court yesterday. A statement of formation of a district for the project was presented several months ago. The map shows that a bank right-of-way extending 100 feet back from low water line will be required, that material will be dredged from the Willamette river and used to build up an embankment on the east side. Land owners involved are: Merrill B. Lucas, Thomas A. Ditmars and Carl Francis. The bend is located immediately east of the upper corner of Grand Island.

Old Gravel Case In Circuit Court
Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling yesterday undertook the task of determining to whom Marion county owes $4338.35 for $6,767 cubic yards of gravel taken from the Santum river bed subsequent to January 1, 1931. His determination will be based on trial, which began yesterday, of the suit of Ray Kelley, administrator of the Frances M. Kelley estate, against J. W. Mayo, Bank of Stayton, Mark Skinner, superintendent of banks, as liquidator of the bank, Marion county, and C. T. Taylor.

The judge and the parties to the action early in the day went to view the lands involved, then returned late in the afternoon for trial formalities. The case will be resumed at 10 a. m. today.
A stipulation presented in connection with the action lists the ownerships through which the lands have passed and says they are now owned by the Frances M. Kelley estate, Taylor and Mayo as trustees for the Bank of Stayton.

Mexican Student Tells of Country
In a talk sprinkled with wit, Roberto de la Rosa, visiting student from the University of Mexico, described to Salem Rotarians his country and its customs and invited more friendly feeling and better understanding between the nations.

"In this country," he said, "I find the Mexican often used as the villain in the drama. And in my country our plays often show the American as the villain. We think of your country as full of gangsters and movie stars, divorcees and kidnapers. You think of our country as full of bandits and revolutionaries. We should really get better acquainted with each other."

De la Rosa described the Mexican day, with its siesta period from 12 to 3 p. m., its evening promenade in the park, and told of the customs in courtship. His address was liberally applauded.

Forgers Given Year, Paroled

But Will Face Charges in Lane County; Previous Records Are Cited

Circuit Judge L. H. McMahan yesterday imposed one-year penitentiary sentences, with paroles granted, on Dan Zinavich and Andrew Sedar, when the pair pleaded guilty to forgery at a Lane county charges. The two women companions of the pair, Cleo Zinavich and Grace Nelson, were treated similarly by the court Tuesday.

The two young men admitted they had helped pass four checks for $400 each, three in Eugene and two in Douglas county, but denied similar offenses elsewhere. Officers declared they were wanted at Grants Pass on check charges.

Cleo and Dan Zinavich and Sedar were to be taken by state police to face forgery charges in Lane county. The Nelson woman, not charged elsewhere, was taken back to Seattle by her husband, who came here saying he intended to "hush" her out of her scrape.

Sedar, according to his attorney, Lawrence Brown, left home at the age of 14 because of family difficulties, was sent at 16 to Monroe reformatory in Washington for assisting in a burglary and returned there later for the theft of a case of beer. Zinavich, who was picked up with Sedar on the former charge, declared he was innocent of the crime, for which he received a suspended sentence.

The parents of Zinavich, who operate a restaurant in Idaho, have been in contact with their son by telegraph.

The two men said they would make restitution for the checks cashed in Salem.

Blue Key Talent Night Set Friday

WU Campus Entertainers to Compete; 3 Awards Offered Winners

Friday night has been set as the date for the annual Blue Key talent night to be held in Waller hall on the Willamette university campus. Blue Key, a national service fraternity, sponsors the event and uses the proceeds for its scholarship fund. The event always attracts considerable interest among the students and townspeople are cordially invited to attend.

The program will be made up of musical and novelty acts with Lawrence Morley acting as master of ceremonies. There will be three prizes which are being kept a secret and the winner will be determined by audience applause.

The numbers include the Alpha Psi Delta hillbilly band with several new players and instruments added this year; the Beta Chi trio composed of Mary Virginia Nohl-gren, Elizabeth Savage and Betty Lou Lacey; Kappa Gamma Rho quartet which includes Robert Peters, Winston Bunnell, Ralph Gustafson and Kendall Telsinger, duet number by Helen Woodfin and Betty Starr; solo by Orville Beardsley; chalk talk by Ralph Woodall; magician's act by Willard Wilson.

Mel Viken is president of Blue Key this year. Verdel Ragsdale is chairman of talent night and assisting him are Robert Clarke, program, and Eugene Hill, stage manager.

Jason Lee Plans Cub Scout Group
Owing to the demand of a number of parents for organization of a Cub Scout den, Jason Lee M.E. church, North Winter and Jefferson streets, has decided to sponsor a Cub Scout organization for boys of the ages 9, 10, and 11 years who will meet at the home of one of the mothers, who is known as the "den mother."

This organization furnishes excellent training for all boys of this age. States Jason Lee Pastor Lynn A. Wood in inviting all parents of boys of Cub Scout ages to meet at Jason Lee church tonight at 8 o'clock to organize the unit.

Policemen Sport New White Caps As Spring Near

White caps are soon to make their appearance in Salem.

No, not of the wind-whipped ocean variety—as much as the weather lately threatens to send the old Pacific this far east.

The ones that will be observable on Salem's streets and byways will be the pates of the city police force—that is, all of its personnel who will put out the necessary spot cash to purchase them.

Built on the lines of General John J. Pershing's hat, the caps have an all-white-leather crown, with black bills and black head bands. Snappy!

First purchasers were Patrolmen George Edwards and Lou Burgess—and are they being envied by the rest of Chief Minuto's force!

Pair of Initiative Measures Placed

One Filed Asking Pension, Other Would Provide Financing Means

Two proposed initiative measures, one providing for an old age pension and the other for the raising of revenues, were filed in the state department Wednesday by the Retirement Compensation League, of which J. D. M. Crockett, Portland, is president.

The pension would be administered in cooperation with a federal allotment estimated by the sponsors at $4,000,000 annually. Recipients would receive not less than $30 nor more than $50 a month. The age restriction is 65 years.

Property having a value up to $2000 would be exempted from taxation. Funds for paying the state's share of the pensions would be raised through gross income and severance taxes.

In case a sufficient number of signatures are obtained the two measures will go on the ballot at the November election.

Extension Class Opens new Term

Teaching, Art and English Courses to Be Given in Spring Months

The spring term of the general extension classes in Salem opened Monday night with the organization of a class in principles of teaching under the leadership of W. G. Beattie, associate professor of education in the general extension division.

Tuesday night the class in advanced art appreciation, which is a continuation from last term under Professor Zane of the University of Oregon, held its first meeting of the term.

Only one other course is being offered. This is in English composition and will be taught by Miss Eloise E. Buck of the Oregon Normal school Thursday night at 7:15. This course will carry regular college or university credit.

Miss Buck holds her MA degree from the University of Oregon and is highly recommended as an instructor.

All these classes meet in room 3-K of the old high school building.
