

Marion County Legion Council Will Meet Tonight at Mt. Angel

Dedication Is Slated May 14

Post, Auxiliary Approve 4H Scholarships for Coming Summer

MT. ANGEL—Preparation for the Marion county council to be held here Thursday night, April 21, at the new Memorial building, and plans for the big dedication program, scheduled for May 14, were the topic of discussion at the Legion and auxiliary meetings here Tuesday night.

This was the first chance for many of the members to become acquainted with the fine new memorial building. The imposing outward appearance of the building is belied by its fine arrangement and workmanship within.

A program worthy of the occasion is being prepared for the dedication on May 14. The committee in charge will meet Friday night to arrange details. One feature is to be a banquet, served in the dining hall of St. Mary's school since the memorial building dining hall is not deemed large enough to accommodate the crowd expected.

Thursday night's business sessions will begin at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Elsie Graham, department child welfare chairman, has been invited to address the auxiliary on child welfare. Refreshments and a short program are slated to follow. The lunch will be served in the dining room of the memorial building by the local auxiliary women. Two anticipated numbers on the program will be the news reel of the legion convention at Albany last year and Joe Manolis' junior legion band of Silverton.

Vote Scholarships
Each of the two organizations again voted to offer a 4H scholarship to highest scoring boy and girl of St. Mary's school. Saturday, May 7, has been chosen by the auxiliary to honor the mothers of the legion and auxiliary members. The gold star mothers will be special guests but all the mothers of the members of either organization are invited to attend the luncheon and program at 2:30 Saturday, May 7.

Miss Georgia Webb, poppy poster chairman, said that all posters must be in by Thursday night. They will be judged Friday morning and displayed in the show windows of Kilmer and Bauman store.

The local unit has matched its last year's order of 700 memorial poppies. The flit grocery tablecloth made by the auxiliary is now completed. It will be on display at the meeting Thursday and will be offered as a prize in a campaign to raise funds for the auxiliary. A handmade quilt is being donated by Mrs. Robert Drysdale.

ME Children Give Easter Program

STAYTON—The Methodist church was filled to capacity Sunday to hear the children's Easter program and worship service. "The Garden of Stories," a musical playlet, was presented by the junior department of the Sunday school with the assistance of Mrs. Ross Hughes and Justina Hamby.

Children who took part were Loel Wright, Jerry Boyer, Gwendolyn Lynn Boyer, Ramona Reginald, Margaret Shankle, Shirley Nightingale, Phyllis Bell, Florence Proctor and Theolina Rapp. Justina Hamby, Helen Hughes and Wayne Lierman.

Ethiopian Project Taxing Italian Resources

Although approximately a year has passed since Haile Selassie fled his empire before the Roman legions, Italy is finding that colonization of Ethiopia is considerable of a problem. The job of setting up an efficient colonial government, under Marshal Badoglio, and building roads and buildings has thus far made it impossible to explore the natural resources of the country. Several thousand families have already been settled on the best farming sections, however, and the investment is expected to yield a long-time return in the future. It is also important from the Italian viewpoint because of its proximity to the Suez canal and the fact that it is a strengthening link in the chain Italy is building in the Mediterranean and Near East where Mussolini aims at a modern empire.

District Sunday Schools to Meet

JEFFERSON—E. Clark, president of the Jefferson district Sunday schools, announces that the district convention will be held Sunday, April 24, at the Friends church in Marion beginning at 2 o'clock. The program will be furnished by children of the schools in the district, including those of Jefferson, Marion and Talbot.

Mrs. George Clippell, the new county superintendent of the children's division is expected to be present, as is also Mr. Vickers, American Sunday school worker.

About 70 young people of the churches in Jefferson attended the early sunrise meeting Easter Sunday morning at 5:45 at the Christian church. Aden Chambers announced this program. Easter story by Miss Kreta Callavan; guitar selection, Anita Gilmore and Mickie Thurston; reading, Lawrence Rehfeld; five minute talks, all ministers present, Rev. Cole of Talbot; Rev. Jasper Havens, Rev. F. G. Phillips and Rev. A. P. Layton, all of Jefferson. At the close of the service, breakfast was served at the church.

Drunken Charge Brings $10 Fine

DALLAS—Elmer Fry and George Burbott, arrested Saturday by state police, were taken before Justice of the Peace Elmer Cook at West Salem.
