Wheat Decline Gives Concern

Disparity Between Prices Farmers Pay and Get Are Studied

The current disparity between prices for wheat and prices farmers pay is causing renewed interest in the "parity" price principle which congress has used as basis of agricultural adjustment legislation during recent years. In the case of wheat, parity prices are prices high enough so that a bushel of wheat will buy as much of the commodities farmers purchase as during the 1910-1914 prewar period, extension economists at Oregon State college explain.

bushel at mid-March, according to the latest report on the agricultural situation by the OSC extension service.

Only 72 on Parity In the whole country the average farm price of wheat was 91 per cent of the 1910-1914 average, while the farm cost index was around 126, giving wheat a current purch + ing power of approximately 72 per cent of "par-that wheat was well above parity in price during the World war. This stimulated world production of wheat, export demand fell off, stocks accumulated, and prices remained below parity for 15 years, except for a short period. Export demand is still low, but production in the United States is increasing and stocks are accumu-
