Loans on Wheat

Loans which would encourage holding of wheat, thus adding to the surplus, do not find favor with the Pendleton East Oregonian, which keeps in close touch with the wheat deal policies and President Roosituation. As has been noted in this column previously, so long as the wheat is there it depresses the price. The E-O makes a good statement of the problem which is of great importance to its immediate area:

With a new crop soon to be harvested the wheat price becomes of vital importance in Umatilla county for our chief income is derived from wheat selling. One sale of 50,000 bushels is reported as having been made at a price of 60 cents a bushel, which is 40 cents less than the same wheat sold for in early contracting a year ago.

"Immediate interest centers in application of the loan feature of the new farm bill and in the possibility of larger benefit payments in event a loan program is adopted with a view to promoting exports. Under the law the grower is entitled to loans assuring him a certain percentage of the parity price but the law is not definite as to whether this means terminal prices or

"One theory is that if loans are made above the export price the wheat cannot be moved out and will be held here, augmenting the surplus. To offset this a suggestion has been made that moderate loans be made and that in compensation the farmers of the Pacific northwest be allowed larger benefit payments. This is said to be possible and if the plan is adopted would have advantages. The farmer would borrow less than do farmers elsewhere but if he secured larger cooperation payments he would not suffer. The other advantage would arise from surplus disposal. It is not a good thing to let the surplus wheat accumulate. The Hoover farm board did that and it would have been wiser to have moved the wheat out of the country, taking the loss. "It is to be hoped a satisfactory program can be worked out for this year's crop and that a control program for next year can be set up so as to get a closer balance between supply and demand. "The subject is of concern to everyone, not just to farmers."

Squabble in TVA

This much at least is a safe deduction from the testimony in the congressional investigation of TVA; Directors Marvin McIntyre, at a Burkley A. E. Morgan and David Lilienthal do not think much of each other. The testimony presented by each severely scored the work of the other on the commission. Morgan accused Lilienthal of making inaccurate reports, improper and misleading accounting, and cullusion in misadministration. among other things. Lilienthal charged Morgan with being among other things. Lilienthal charged Morgan with being to run, as it did Representative an obstructionist and non-cooperative, and denied the charges Wesley Disney of Oklahoms who against him. The committee will probably wade through a considered at one time contestlot of additional evidence before making its findings; and ing for the seat of Sen. Fimer the public will do well to suspend its judgment.

Current articles in the Saturday Evening Post do reveal the magnitude of TVA's operation. The board apparent cleaning away possible party oply sought to make the world over and had practically un- position for senators ofhers it limited funds to do it with. The move of the schoolboard toward making W. H. Burghardt. present clerk, a full-time comptroller in charge of the business office a tardy move in the right direction. The business affairs of school district 24 have become so heavy that they demand the full attention of a competent person. Burghardt is that. He has handled such matters as school finance and accounts accurately and skillfully through many years; and his broad business judgment fits him well for general business administration. With this accomplished the superintendent will have more time for educational administration which is his primary task.

The supreme court decision holding that income taxes could be collected from employes of the Port of New York Authority will have a far-reaching effect. It may be considered as opening the way for a far-reaching effect. It may be considered as opening the way for general extension of income taxation to state employes, something Bonneville Line hitherto avoided. With so many people now becoming employes of government it is going to be necessary to extend the tax net to include everybody to get in enough money to pay back their salaries.

F. W. Fuller, jr., wealthy San Franciscan who has won fame as an aviator, made the flight of 717 miles from San Francisco to Seattle in two hours 31 minutes, which means his average time was 4.7 miles per minute. The feat seems almost incredible. We allow about seven hours for comfortable driving time from here to Seattle, 250 miles. But in the air a plane is not tied up in traffic, hits no red stop lights, and encounters no freight trucks.

Governor Martin of Washington says there is a movement on to recall him because he hasn't spent enough, but that 20 cents of every tor J. D. The Oregonian says that lobbyists in New Jersey were divided into two classes, "the fishermen and the unredeemed." Until a Methodist preacher tried fishing on Sunday and got away with it the more correct division was between the "fishermen and the redeemed."

Iowa Situation Only One of Several in Which Loyalty Is Issue

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON WASHINGTON, May 27-(P)-Accumulating evidence of an administration intention to dip a finger into democratic primary contests all down the line, whereever any test of loyalty to new sevelt is involved, set off the senatorial explosion over the coming Iowa balloting.

The indications of administration strategy have increased the possibility of a coalition between republicans and anti-admin stration democrats to "ear-mark" lending - spending bill junds against campaign use. The senate outbreak also revives talk of a roving corps of anti-administration democratic orator to go to the assistance of colleagues threatened with administration opposition for renomination

Organization of such a corps was first suggested when hints of administration primary reprisals against democratic senators active in the defeat of the su preme court reorganization bili were voiced last year by such new deal spokesmen as Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania. Senator Gillette, up for renomination in the Iowa primaries a week from next Monday, is the first of the anti-court bill democratic bloc to reach the actual primary rur-
