Demo Internal Crisis Looming

Primaries and Lawmaking Both Playing Part in Political Drama

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON WASHINGTON, May 31-(A)-Step by step the democratic party that in 1936 swept the nation on a scale never before recorded in American political history is moving toward an internal crisis in 1940 no less dramatic than the policy rift in republican ranks in 1912 that ended 16 years of republican sway in Washington.

State by state, the slow-moving and ponderous political machinery of this year's party primaries is sorting out the cast for the big 1940 show. And item by item, 5ill by bil; message by message, President Roosevelt is writing the lines and preparing the issues around which the drama will curn.

That he both expects and welcomes a party showdown then on the social and economic policies that make up the new deal is indicated by every step he has taken or countenanced in the way of administration intervention in state primaries.

1940 Is Real Goal For months, administration political aides-from harmony. minded Postmaster General Fara ley down to the most bitter new deal advocate of lie-hard combat with party foes-have been dismissing the 1938 campaigning as merely a prelude to 1940.

There can be small doubt that, for those in the inner new deal circles, the major interest in the 1938 contests lies in 1940 por-Administration strategists undoubtedly take for greater interest in what the primary may mean in connection with the new deal's possession of the party machinery than in its effect on the holding of the present number of congressional seats.

While they are not disposed to risk loss of working majorities the fact remains that the top-heavy, discord-inviting ma-jorities in both house and senate have proved in fact an embarrassment more than an aid to presidential leadership.

Rule or Ruin, Aim Without question, a considerable loss of seats to the republicans would cause few regrets at fice. And so far as senatorial thrilling dogfights, part of which grounds that lie above. primaries are concerned, a process could be seen from the city beof administration selection is ob- low. along materially toward a 1940

Whatever parallels there may be between the liberal-conservative republican break-up of 1912 and the possible democratic split of 1940, President Roosevelt has a distinct advantage over his distant kinsman, Theodore Roosevelt, who led his Bull Moose followers out of a republican national convention to form the progressive party. Republican old guard organizations controlled that convention through federal and sufficient state power to "steam roller" it into re-nomination of President Taft. It is already clear that the administration is playing in this year's democratic primaries for 1940 convention control to make the anti-new dealers take the walk, if there is to be a bolt. Behing the scenes of every nemocratic primary contest to date that is the real stake, direct or indirect. It tends to make control of the 1940 democratic convention and of the party organization more important in some new dealer eyes that net democratic gains or losses in congressional or state elections next
