Church Weddings Held Beneficial; Likewise Divorce

NEW YORK, June 2.-(AP)-Science today praised "the Eugenic worth" of a formal church

Church marriages end in divorce less frequently than ceremonies performed by magistrates, the Eugenics Research association was told in a paper prepared for delivery by Dr. Paul Popence, of Los Angeles.

"Since marriages that end in divorce have a very low fertility," Dr. Popenoe said, "it would appear eugenically worth while to pay more attention to promoting the success of desirable marriages by encouraging formal ceramonies."

Another speaker said the institution of divorce "represents a rising of self respect in marriage." "There is ample evidence," said Dr. Ira S. Wile of New York, "that divorce, regardless of personal effects, is socially advantageous, if not actually eugenic."

WU Student Who Returns. Finds no Job, Eligible in Astoria Case

Pursuit of a college career no deterrent to the collection of job insurance under the state unemployment compensation law, provided the student claimant is willing and able to work when he quits school.

This principle was laid down Thursday in a decision by Referee William H. Witt, commission representative presiding over a hearing on a protest of the Lower Columbia Cooperative Dairy association against the claim of Kenneth C. Olsen, Willamette university freshman.

Olsen quit work with the association September 11 to enter Willamette but before leaving his home in Astoria for Salem, worked five days for Columbia Fisheries. Kunze was brought to Bozeman Inc. At the conclusion of the January term, Olsen returned to Astoria and applied for his old job at the dairy association. There was no opening, so he filed claim for unemployment compensation. Is First Such Case

Referee Witt held that Olsen was entitled to benefits from February 22 to April 1, when he left Astoria for Juneau, Alaska, to take a job in a mine. First charge was ordered against the fisheries. but the dairy association account will be charged for benefits earned against it piror to September 11. Olsen's was the first case involving a college student whose school work interrupted his pursuit of a livelihood.
