would break the shackles imposed by national and international bankers and ease the "backbreaking load" of public and private debt.

He charged that a "tremendous sum" was spent to defeat the proposed public utility district during the recent election in northeastern Oregon. The district, if created, would have distributed Bonneville power through the region. He criticized the Portland chamber of commerce, claiming it wanted to give industry the major benefits of Bonneville power, and accused private power companies of circulating misleading and confusing propaganda.

He praised the efforts of the president to develop cheap power in the northwest and urged the grange to educate the people upon it.

In other parts of his speech Gill attacked reciprocal trade agreements as the "greatest menace" to agriculture; urged taxation of federal and state salaries and asked a better understanding of the problems of labor and the farmer; declared a "tremendously powerful political" machine was being built by the state's operation of the liquor business; declared that corporate farming, a serious threat to the individual farmer, was being developed by chain stores and packers who should be taxed on a staggered basis to protect the little fellow; opined that government operation of railroads might be the best way to prevent isolation of communities through high freight rates. Urged that able bodied men who refuse to work or who use relief funds for drinking or gambling be banished from rolls, and that the rate of pay in the legislature be increased and legislative candidates be elected on a non-partisan basis.

by Collier near the summit of the 9,777-foot peak.

Forest rangers, authorities of two counties, Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., representatives, department of commerce investigators, and newspapermen were in the group following the trail-makers.

The region in which the airliner crashed on a flight from San Francisco to Winslow, Ariz., when adverse flying conditions developed, is one of the wildest in the Sierra Nevada.

Six of the persons aboard the airliner were passengers, and three were crew members.

The passengers were J. Track Dirlam, 22, and his sister, Mary Lou, 18, of Mansfield, O.; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Watts of San Francisco; Hervey M. Salisbury, 34, airways officer of Kansas City; Victory Krause, Lincoln, Neb. The crew consisted of John Graves, 35, pilot; C. W. Wallace, 29, Tucson, Ariz., co-pilot, and Stewardess Martha Wilson of Philadelphia.

Czechs, Germans At Critical Point ever, whether any definite proposals would be headed the Sudeten Germans tomorrow. It might be that the proposed statute by which the government hopes to satisfy the minorities' demands will be kept secret until all the national groups—Hungarians, Poles, Slovaks and Sudeten Germans—have studied it.

BERLIN, June 13.—(AP)—A foreign office mouthpiece warned the Czechoslovakian government today that delay in solving the Sudeten German question "will lead only to a more forcible solution."

The organ, the Diplomatische

Politische Korrespondenz, advised the Praha administration to "impress upon the Czech people 'that they have no supremacy rights or special prerogatives' outside the purely Czech areas of the young republic."

"There is no further excuse for treating the Sudeten districts as occupied territory," the Korrespondenz declared. "Procrastination will lead only to a more forcible solution."

(Pres. Eduard Benes was said in Praha to be ready to open negotiations Tuesday for settling the German minority problem. It was reported he would receive representatives of Sudeten Germans, who ask for autonomy for Czechoslovakia's 2,500,000 German citizens.)

Results of Sunday's local elections in Czechoslovakia, when Konrad Henlein's Nazi-supported Sudeten German party polled an estimated 80.9 per cent of the vote in the German districts, were interpreted here as showing the solidarity of the Sudeten Germans.

On the other hand, communist gains in other parts of Czechoslovakia caused vexation in Berlin.

Governor Returns Tired but Happy

Returning yesterday from a 10-day vacation in the Salmon river country near Rhododendron, Governor Martin remarked he felt "happy as a clam at high tide."

Governor and Mrs. Martin rested in a cabin, the 74-year-old executive stating he spent most of his days in hiking through the mountains and fishing. He did not catch any fish, he declared but "had a fine time and feel built. The vacation did me a lot of good."

Governor Martin said he would go away later in the summer. He appeared to be in the best condition since beginning the recent strenuous primary campaign.

counting postoffice, Portland. Visits to scenic points about Salem will follow.

K. J. Nolan will be toastmaster at the banquet tonight, for which speakers besides Wenrick are scheduled to be Governor Martin, Emmet E. Conzelmann, John E. Cooter, Jesse Simmons, Rep. Nan Wood Honeyman and others.

President of the district league of postmasters is Saphie M. Mitchell, Yachats. Ruby Loundree of Sandy is secretary-treasurer.

Bill to Increase Acreage of Wheat

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(AP)—Congress sent to the White House a bill today for the planting of the 1939 wheat crop.

The bill would fix the maximum acreage which could be planted under the crop control act at 55,000,000. Agriculture adjustment administration experts said that without the amendment the crop control law would hold the acreage down to between 44,000,000 and 50,000,000.

Driver Pays $100 Fine; Hit Salem Woman's Car

McMINNVILLE, June 13.—(AP)—Don Schmidt, Portland, was fined $100 in justice court today, the result of a Saturday night automobile accident in which, Sheriff G. W. Manning said, Schmidt's car sideswiped one driven by Mrs. Julia Webster, Salem, a delegate to the State Business and Professional Women's club convention.

Sentenced to Prison

ROSEBURG, June 13.—(AP)—John L. Sanderson, 25, Portland, entered a plea of guilty to attempted burglary today and was sentenced to five years in the Oregon penitentiary. He confessed attempting to rob the Brockway store on June 6.

side the danger zone designated by the Japanese.

They were above a boom the Chinese constructed in the river to halt Japanese naval vessels. There were some 40 Americans at Kiukiang or the nearby mountain resort of Kuling.

Below Kiukiang, between that point and Nanking, there were no Chinese or foreign ships on the Yangtze.

Admiral Yarnell himself planned an inspection trip up the Yangtze to Nanking, 50 miles short of the danger zone, beginning June 25.

Anking, capital of Anhwei province, fell yesterday before combined Japanese naval and land forces and today the invaders prepared to push on against Hukow, 64 miles up the river.

Warships shelled Chinese positions upstream and troops drove along the banks of the Yangtze for a joint attack on Hukow.

On the north end of the curving front aimed at Hukow, flood waters of the Yellow river and Chinese counterattacks were reported adding hourly to the handicaps against the Japanese efforts to capture Chengchow, junction of the Peiping-Hankow and Lung-chow railways 300 miles north of Hukow.

Relief Committee To Consider Sites

as a separate unit, with separate entrance, in accordance with plans worked out by the relief committee last week.

The committee was forced to seek a new location by recent notice from Hawkins & Roberts to vacate the Chambers building by July 1. The task of finding other quarters was assigned to Ulrich and County Commissioner Roy S. Nelson.

When the move is made, the relief sewing room operated by the WPA will be transferred to another site, now being sought by works progress administration officials.

Pound not Seeker Of Chairmanship

It was reported Monday that Dr. B. F. Pound had declined to be a candidate for chairmanship of the Marion county republican central committee, principal office to be filled when the group's organization meeting is held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the courthouse here. Lewis Judson was the other candidate originally mentioned. There has been some discussion of Cecil Edwards as another candidate.

There also were definite indications Monday that Fred J. Toose, Jr., secretary for the past two years, would be opposed in his candidacy for reelection.

Thrift Is Praised At Banker's Meet

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 13.—(AP)—Governmental priming of the economic pump cannot be substituted for confidence, thrift and self reliance on the part of the American people, Clyde E. Williamson, Albany state president of the Oregon Bankers association, admonished delegates to the state convention today.

He assailed the "loose thinking and habits" which he charged were bred by pump priming policies. This slack attitude, he asserted, puts an increasingly heavy burden on the banker.

"The easy payment plan is the easy way," he said, "but it is time bankers began discouraging debt for everything but necessities. Debt is a millstone that robs the individual and the family of otherwise happy moments."

Hines Sole Entry For Non-Hi Board

Frank Hynes of Silverton route two will automatically be reelected one two member of the Marion county non-high school board next Monday unless a write-in campaign should be staged successfully for some other candidate. He is the only nominee, Mary L. Erikson, county school superintendent, announced yesterday. Time for filing nominating petitions expired Saturday.

Hynes represents school districts in the vicinity of Mt. Angel on the non-high school board. Other members are Ernest Werner, chairman; Michael Weinacht, vice-chairman, Roy Rice and Eugene Finlay.

Chess Club Votes Play Through Summer Months

Although at one time scheduled to close June 1 for the remainder of the summer, the Salem Chess club in last night's session voted to continue indefinitely.

LeRoy Ledgerwood, sterling competitor and habitually near the top in succeeding night play, last night posted a 9-2 score to lead the field. Other scores were: Reay 9-6, Gross 2-3, Rosecrans 7-1, North 7-1, Staton 7-3, Strong 7-2, Ed Ledgerwood 7-2, J. E. Putnam 6-2, Boyington 6-2.

No Girls out yet In Model Contest

Rice Party Tickets Go on Sale at Booths on Streets

"Bowl of rice" party tickets went on sale at a downtown street booth yesterday but no entrants in the contest for the title of "Miss Model Salem," appeared.

Urging young women not to overlook the opportunity offered by the party committee to compete for a trip to New York City and a movie contract, Mayor V. E. Kuhn declared that "the field is wide open and the first young woman to enter will have a lead over the others who are certain to follow."

The party, part of a national program to raise funds to aid civilian Chinese who have been driven from their homes by war, will be given for the general public at Fraternal temple Friday afternoon and night. Chinese rice and tea will be served between a half hourly programs of music, plays and other types of entertainment. The mayor, labor organizations and civic groups are cooperating in the undertaking.

Would-be candidates in the model contest may register at the "bowl of rice" booth set up in front of the First National bank building, with Mayor Kuhn or with H. E. Barker, labor chairman, at the labor temple. Not only their own but the ticket sales of friends, if reported in their names, will count for the candidates in determining the winner, according to W. A. Chambers, publicity chairman.

Committee Okehs New Flood Setup

voiced retention of the principle of local contributions.

The legislation also provides that facilities adapted to hydroelectric development "shall be installed" wherever determined feasible by the army engineers and the federal power commission.

Under the conference committee bill, the federal government would embark upon a national program of flood control without expense to local governments except for purely local works such as flood walls and levees. For these, local governments would be required to furnish property rights.

The bill lists 150 local flood wall and levee projects and 100 reservoirs and dam projects eligible for construction.

Besides project expenditures, the measure proposes appropriation of $10,000,000 for surveys by the war department and the department of agriculture. The power commission would receive $1,500,000 for hydroelectric surveys.

Of the house conferees he would approve the legislation. Previously, the president had favored the measure.

The conference committee's amendment eliminating requirement of local contributions for right-of-way and other costs is of particular importance to the Willamette valley project. The original recommendation called for a large local contribution but earlier drafts of the bill had reduced this considerably. The amendment voted in conference apparently wipes it out altogether.

Steed to Be Head Of Concert Group

Famed String Trio Will Be Brought Here for Next Year

J. Lyman Steed was elected president of the Salem Community Concert association at Monday night's meeting of this organization which is planning its second season of sponsorship of outstanding musical programs in Salem.

At this meeting it was announced in response to a demand for such a program, the Kneisel-Alden-Turner string trio would be brought here January in the series. The others are 25, 1939, as the third attraction Rose Hampton on November 16, Dorothy Crawford on November 29 and the Mostart Boys' choir on February 28.

Mrs. Max F. Rogers, reelected secretary, announced that the season tickets would be mailed to members three weeks before the first concert.

Turner Garden Club Is Sponsoring 4H Champion As Santiam Spree Queen

TURNER.—Turner Garden club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mabel Webb with Mrs. A. B. Webb and Mrs. Aletha Route, assistant hostess. A demonstration of placing flowers in vases, was followed by a guessing contest.

The club voted to sponsor a candidate for Queen at the Santiam spree. The club's choice is La Verna Whitehead, champion 4H club girl. An all-day trip to Silver Creek Falls will be taken July 14 the next regular meeting day.

Clipper Warm up

SEATTLE, June 13.—(AP)—A motion picture camera was installed in the cockpit of the first Atlantic clipper by a Boeing Airplane company test crew today to record instrument board gauges for later detailed study, and the plane's motors were warmed up for stationary and taxiing tests on Lake Washington.

Bogue Appointed Gilmore Manager

Portland Man Is Named to Supervise Branch in Salem Area

George R. Bogue, previously handling special sales work in the branch manager of the Salem territory, officials of Gilmore Oil company announced last week.

After graduating from Stanford university where he was an outstanding football star, Bogue joined the Gilmore concern in Los Angeles. At the end of a year of sales work he was transferred to a special assignment in Portland where his duties included handling sales on auto row also large corporate and political subdivision sales.

Junior Chamber Leader

Prominent in Portland junior chamber of commerce work and football affairs, Bogue was last year, King George the Worst, first king of the "Merrykanna" celebration, a comedy feature of the rose festival. His participation in Portland chamber of commerce football interests brought him to Salem last year as a member of the Challenge day party to Willamette university. Undoubtedly Bogue will carry on his interests in civic affairs in the Salem territory.

Jail Bend Editor On Federal Count

PORTLAND, June 13.—(AP)—Syd D. Pierce, 53, Bend Free Press editor, was held in the Multnomah county jail on $3,000 bond today for federal authorities. Pierce was charged with sending obscene matter through the mails. Deputy United States Attorney Mason Dillard said Pierce told him he lacked knowledge of the federal laws governing printed matter that may be sent through the mails. Pierce remarked to a reporter that "if they convict me for this they'll be taking away the freedom of the press."

"You bet Camel is our choice in cigarettes" say these tobacco planters—and they know tobacco because they grow it!

"I know just what tobacco the cigarette companies buy at the auctions," says Mr. John Durham, Jr., well-known planter. "One year after another, I've seen Camel buyers take the finest grades in the market—the best of my own crops and those of my friends. They took the best part of my last crop too. Better tobacco makes better smoking, as anyone that grows tobacco knows. So, like most other planters, I smoke Camels. I know the quality tobacco that's in them!"

"There's quite a difference between fine tobacco and ordinary grades," says Mr. Calvin Wiggins, who has sold tobacco to Camel for 20 years. "From my own experience, it's Camel who buys the fine, thin leaves that make the nicest cigarette smoking. Camel bought the really fine baskets of my last crop. I smoke Camels, myself. Most of my grower friends do too. I know, and they know, Camel uses costlier tobacco!"

BUSINESS GIRL—1938 MODEL—Office manager Olive Tucker keeps disarmingly calm despite nerve-ragging phones, buzzers, interviews. "If anyone needs healthy nerves, I do," Miss Tucker smiles, adding: "That's one reason why I smoke Camels regularly. They never get my nerves upset." Later—much later—Miss Tucker skips to the roof-top gym for a quick work-out. A shower—a rub—a Camel—and she's off again! Tired? Miss Tucker's answer: "Camels give my energy a refreshing 'lift.'"

CIGARETTES MAY LOOK ALIKE—BUT WHAT AN APPEALING DIFFERENCE THERE IS IN CAMELS!

As a smoker, you'll be interested to read what Miss Tucker, successful young office manager, said to Miss MacGregor about the difference between Camels and other cigarettes (below).

"Olive, do you always serve Camels because you feel that there's a big difference between Camels and other cigarettes?"

WELKER COCHRAN, who has won many important championships at billiards, voices his choice among cigarettes: "Camels give me real smoking pleasure. Under the strain of a championship match, Camels never make me feel jittery or unsure. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!'"

JOE DI MAGGIO, idol of baseball fans, speaks for millions of smokers when he comments on his favorite cigarette: "I'm a steady smoker, and Camels don't irritate my throat. That shows Camels have real mildness all right. Watch the ball players pull out Camels!"
