Smith to Resign As Stayton Mayor

STAYTON—George A. Smith will resign this month as mayor of the town of Stayton and ask the appointment of Mayor-elect W. A. Weddle. The pressure of business at this time necessitated his resignation. Smith has had more than 20 years experience in city administration. He has served on the council and as mayor. Some of the things accomplished during his administration are: Construction of a new city hall, the improvement of the new city park, and the construction of sidewalks throughout the residential sections of the town.
