

Industry Dazzled In News Spotlight

General Motors Publicity Head Tells Publishers at Medford Meet

MEDFORD, June 17.—(P)—Industry and business now in the news to a degree unprecedented in history, finds the spotlight confusing and bewildering, Kenneth Youel of the General Motors corporation public relations department, told the 51st annual convention of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association at its opening session today.

"News of industry, business and economics interest the public more than ever before," he said. "And a confusion of beliefs has developed. Newspapers are in a strategic position to counteract this confusion and correct many immature views by use of common horse sense."

Because the new trend in public thinking came about suddenly both industry and the press were caught unprepared, he declared. "Being in the news is a comparative novelty for business men and they don't know quite how to deport themselves. Perhaps you have accused some of them of seeking to hide unfavorable facts. It is more probable their intentions are above reproach. Perhaps they just didn't dispatch this new obligation suddenly thrown on them in quite the right way."

Alton F. Baker, publisher of the Eugene Register-Guard, association president, named the following convention committees:

Nominations: E. A. Sonnichsen, Hood River News; L. D. Felsheim, Bandon Western World; C. E. Ingalls, Corvallis Gazette-Times; and E. E. Voorhies, Grants Pass Courier.

Resolutions: Henry N. Fowler, Bend Bulletin; Reuben Young, Gold Beach Reporter, and Fred Schlider, Oregon State College News Bureau.

Resolutions: Frank Jenkins, Klamath Falls Herald; E. A. Brown, Salem Capital Journal, and Eric W. Allen, University of Oregon School of Journalism.

Sixty publishers and guests were registered. Delegates also heard Dr. Phillip W. Buck of Stanford university at today's session. Dr. Buck told the newspapermen "the United States has a slim chance of insulating itself from a first-class war by crawling into a cyclone cellar of neutrality."

He declared the neutrality law had been applied in the far east situation "because the oriental crisis cannot be ignored and because America does not want to seem to be abandoning its rights in the orient."

Chest Board to Meet US Officer

Salem community chest board members will next Thursday, June 23, have the opportunity of conferring with Allen T. Burns, executive secretary of the national community chest committee. It was learned at last night's meeting of board members at the chamber of commerce, Vancouver, Wash., chest executives will also be at the conference which will be held at 10 a. m., at the Mullnomah hotel, Portland.

Elph Reed, secretary of the Portland community chest, spoke to the members of the one-year-old Salem organization. He outlined the origin of social agencies and the story of their grouping under one agency—the community chest.

He stressed the importance of the budget committee saying that it should be made up of persons who are social-minded, sincere, patient, fair and business-like, and that each division of the chest should receive a thorough study.

Toledo Mill Union Rejects Wage Cut

TOLEDO, June 17.—(P)—Declaring that wage cuts are not the cure for the lumber industry's difficulties, the Industrial Employees union local at the C. D. Johnson Lumber Co., voted yesterday against accepting a 15 per cent reduction.

"Lumber buyers are waiting for sawmills to reduce wages in order to force market price," said L. G. Carroll, Portland, field officer of the IEU. The company claimed a wage cut for the second half of the year was necessary for regular employment of the 500 men affected.

Hood Snowed on Government Camp, Ore.

GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore., June 17.—(P)—Mount Hood got another snow covering today. Timbers reported a four-inch blanket. Snow fell here but melted as fast as it struck the ground.

Radio Weak on Developing new Entertainers

One accusation which can justly be leveled against the radio world is that it has produced few new and original stars. All of which suggests that possibly the broadcasters might well take a tip from the legitimate stage and establish something similar to the summer theater where new players and ideas are tested much as in a laboratory. Radio goes into a summer slump each year but fails to capitalize on this as a testing period for new talent. In only one field have the airwaves contributed to building up the ranks of entertainers, and that is among vocalists. Dorothy Lamour, Harriett Hilliard, Margaret Johnson and Jessica Dragonette are among the comely singers who got their start in front of a microphone. Both Miss Lawrence and Miss Hilliard are also in movies now.

Farmer not Sure That Government Can't Do Wrong

PORTLAND, June 17.—(P)—Deputy Federal Attorney Mason Dillard argued yesterday that the "government could do no wrong" but J. A. Burleigh, Enterprise stockman and attorney, voiced contradiction. Federal Judge Claude C. McCulloch leaned toward Burleigh and suggested perhaps the rule should be relaxed. Federal agencies have entered so many business fields lately there is just a chance they might make a mistake once in a while, McCulloch asserted.

The government sued Burleigh on a $1000 note. He claimed government representatives induced him to give a note for stock in the Agricultural and Livestock Credit corporation. He charged the concern's financial status was misrepresented, which voided the transaction.

Clerk Who Took Dollar From Mails Sentenced To Year on Probation

PORTLAND, June 17.—(P)—Federal Judge James A. Fee decided today that the loss of his job was sufficient punishment for William N. Robins, 40, former postal clerk of Lebanon.

Robins was accused of taking $1 from the mails. Judge Fee sentenced him to a year and a day and placed him on probation for 5 years.

Attack on Flank Ends War for Guard Private

CAMP CLATSOP, Ore., June 17.—(P)—Private Ray T. Baxter, Oregon National Guardsman from Klamath Falls, was helping to repulse an imaginary enemy yesterday and backed into an actual one. Baxter, member of Battery D, was doing his bit toward winning the war by clearing brush that obscured an observation post.

In the brush was a hornet's nest. Baxter is in sick bay today with a swollen face.

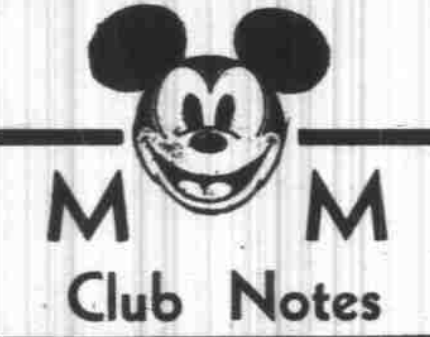

Baker Defeats Howard For Typographer Head

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17.—(P)—The board of electors of International Typographical union announced tonight Claude M. Baker of San Francisco had defeated Charles P. Howard of Chicago, incumbent, for international president of the union by almost 14,000 votes.

The final count from the 807 local's was: Baker, 37,229; Howard, 23,344.

Lawmaker Wants Army to Eat NW Eggs Every Day

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(P)—Senator Schwelienback (D-Wash.) wants to force Uncle Sam's fighting men more Pacific northwest eggs.

He proposes to do it by a revision in present regulations, which, he contends, discriminate against egg producers of Washington and Oregon.

In a letter to the secretaries of war and navy, the senator asked producers be permitted to submit bids for egg contracts on the basis of point of shipment, rather than delivery at San Francisco.

"I realize the purpose of adopting the present system is because eggs are of a perishable nature and it is your desire that they be delivered at their destination in the very best of condition," Schwelienback wrote. "I am sure, from the information I have received, the shippers of the northwest will furnish eggs at delivery points in first class condition if the change I request is ordered."

DEPOE BAY, Ore., June 17.—(P)—Dick Pitts dropped his glasses over a cliff near here. A few days later a tourist found a starfish entwined around them. The spectacles, identified as Pitts' were undamaged.

Three Throw Crackers

PORTLAND, June 17.—(P)—Three men, arrested yesterday on charges of throwing firecrackers into lobbies of two "struck" hotels, were being held today for the district attorney.

Lost Portlander Still Unreported

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—(P)—Eight days after he drove away from a lumbermen's meeting at the Portland Golf club enroute to his home in Portland's Garthwick district, Forrest Collier (Fritz) Burrill, Ralph L. Smith Lumber company superintendent, was still missing today.

A $500 reward for information resulting in locating him has been mailed to law enforcement agencies throughout the country. Burrill, 39, is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, has brown eyes, slightly wavy, light brown hair and wears horn-rimmed glasses.

Centenarian Says 100 Is Good Age

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—(P)—Martin Van Buren was president and Abraham Lincoln was a bachelor lawyer in Springfield, Ill., when Captain John W. Cullen was born in a log cabin on Stillwell prairie, La Porte county, Indiana. Tomorrow Cullen will attain his 100th birthday anniversary and will be entertained here by the Sons and Daughters of Indian War Veterans of the north Pacific coast.

Asked how it feels to be a hundred, the resilient patriarch of the redskin campaigns retorted: "It feels all right—when a man behaves himself he feels just as well at 100 as he did at 50."

Cullen was the youngest member of Captain Goudy's company that was raised in Olympia in 1855 and distinguished itself in the Indian wars. During the Civil War Cullen joined the first Oregon volunteer infantry and commanded a little camp midway between Boise and Salt Lake City. Cullen says that "as a boy I saw them set the first type on the Oregonian and later worked as a printer on the Olympia Pioneer and Democrat."

Laundrymen Send China Ambulances

Four American ambulances, bought by Chinese laundrymen in New York, recently arrived in Hong Kong, aboard the steamer Greystoke Castle, for use by "China's heroic defenders." When the vessel reached Manila, Chinese there added two more ambulances to the cargo, as well as 15 huge containers of American aviation products, reported to include 15 warplanes. Photo shows one of the ambulances as it was loaded onto the Greystoke Castle in Los Angeles harbor.

Project Boosters Happy at Results

(Continued from page 1) immediate start on one or more units. These might include one of the seven dams called for in the program or the $2,500,000 navigation locks planned at Oregon City, McKay said.

That task will be undertaken when the committee answers a call to meet in Salem next Friday. Steps toward securing starting funds from the president's huge lending-spending bill will be discussed at this meeting.

"It is fine to get the whole project authorized at once," McKay commented. That, he indicated, was more than had been hoped for so soon.

As sent to the White House, the flood control bill provides that the federal government shall pay all cost of land damages in construction of flood control dams, reservoirs and channel improvements, except for rights of way for levee and floodwall construction.

The floodwall and levee rights of way necessary in the Willamette valley will cost approximately $1,000,000, to be paid by the state or other local units, according to engineering estimates reported from Washington by The Associated Press.

In the case of the three small bank protection projects now under construction above and below Salem, the adjacent property owners have furnished the necessary right of way easements.

Giannini Predicts Better Business

TACOMA, June 17.—(P)—A. P. Giannini, chairman of the board of the Bank of America, today predicted "business should be humming by the end of summer. In an interview, Giannini, here as a witness in a federal district court case, said: "I look for a good fourth quarter (in 1938). There is plenty of money in this country. There is every reason, except confidence, for business to be better. Confidence is being restored and business will get better. Present fears are being dissipated, and by the end of summer, business should be humming."

He declined to comment on the national political situation.

Hopmen Counter Brewer's Effort

(Continued from page 1) ever, in the main growers seem hopeful that the agreement will be approved, with revisions as the three coast hearings dictate, by the AAA.

Under the proposed agreement, the allocation committee of the industry will give each grower a salable percentage certificate, and presumably the production will be reduced through the law of supply and demand.

Besides Brooks, AAA representatives directing the hearings are E. M. Graham of Washington, D. C., senior marketing specialist, and C. A. Nabstoll of Portland, field representative.

Norman J. Morrison of Washington, D. C., is appearing as attorney for the eastern dealers and James O'Connor Roberts of Washington for the United States Brewers' association. Robert M. Kerr, Portland, is representing the coast hop growers.

The hearing here is the second on the coast, and will be followed next week by a hearing in Yakima, Wash.

Paris Threatened By General Strike

PARIS, June 17.—(P)—Unorganized government employes threatened a general strike tonight as a result of Premier Edouard Daladier's abrupt adjournment of parliament and the extension of his cabinet's dictatorial decree rule until November.

The dismissal of the legislators, stifling debate on public service workers' demands for increased pay, brought into the open a smoldering quarrel between the government and its employes.

The strike threat, coming at a time when the cabinet is preparing elaborate demonstrations of internal solidarity and for a state reception for King George and Queen Elizabeth of England, June 28 to July 10, placed the government employes in a strong position to force concessions.

The strike not only would affect clerks in government offices but would tie up railroads, postal, telephone and telegraph services, all of which are state operated.
