Two Playgrounds To Start Monday

Recreation Centers for Richmond, Englewood Districts Ready

Richmond and Englewood playgrounds will open Monday it was announced yesterday by Vern Gilmore, superintendent of the city playground program, with Don Reid supervisor at Richmond and Wilbur Traglio supervisor at Englewood. Reid and Traglio, WPA recreation workers, will have charge of all activities.

Children's supervision will be cared for by Ardrey Tabler at Richmond and Marie Morgall at Englewood. A children's room will be equipped in the basements of both schools.

The Highland playground will be opened as soon as personnel can be arranged, Gilmore said. Enthusiastic over the cooperation being given him by the state department of education and WPA, Superintendent Gilmore predicts this summer's program will be the largest and best ever put on in Salem. Inclement weather and delays of preliminary organization have been the only drawbacks to the advancement of program so far.

Complete supervisory staffs for the two major playground areas have been completed. They are: Leslie staff—Gurnee Flesher, area supervisor; Ruth Yocum, girls' and children's activities supervisor, assisted by Mrs. Kitheryn McGinnis; Forbes Mack, pool director, assisted by Dale Smith; Richard Swisher, assistant playground supervisor.

Olinger staff—Harold Hauk, area supervisor; Martha Madsen, girls' and children's supervisor, assisted by Mrs. Ramona Weisner; Tom Drynan, pool director, assisted by George Causey; Mike Glenn and Robert Tiltson, playground assistants; Bob Kuschner, midget softball. Maynard Clark, at present employed as a relief life guard, will be made supervisor of Highland playground when it opens.

Summer Reading Clubs Sponsored

Two reading clubs are being sponsored by the children's room of the Salem public library this summer. The Traveler club is for those who can read books of at least fourth grade difficulty. Each child has a suitcase upon which a sticker is placed for every book that he reads with a setting in either a foreign country of the United States. About 135 children are active members of the club with their suitcases already showing the extent of their travels. A member must read at least 10 books during

Parade Highlight For VFW Conclave

Vets Promise Action for Every Hour of Five Day Convention

There will be "something doing" every hour of the five days and nights of the 1938 encampment of the Department of Oregon Veterans of Foreign Wars, to be held in Salem, July 9 to 13.

The "highlight" of the convention will be the grand parade and review Tuesday, July 12, at 7:30 p. m. The encampment is being sponsored by Marion post 661, VFW of Salem, and the first to be held in Oregon's new capitol.

Chairman William H. Rish and his committee have organized a huge spectacle for the parade which will be under the general command of Grand Marshal Colonel Carl Abrams, and sectional command of Colonel C. M. Irwin, Major B. F. Pound, Captain Miller B. Hayden, Dr. George E. Lewis and Wilbur C. Cavender.

Number one bird will be Salem citizens' appetite for Les Hite and his 15-piece band, which appetite received a whetting when the band appeared here in May.

A steady clamor for the return here of the famous all-negro band plus necessity of raising that $200, led the Cherrians to book Hite and his band for a re-appearance here.

or Portland. Chairman Russell Mudd and Vice-Chairman Phil Ringle have lined up several special "stunt" units and features for the parades and convention. The Military Order of the Cootie will hold forth all day, and most of the night of Monday, July 11, with a big parade on downtown streets winding up with a big "scratch." Another interesting feature, being organized for the entertainment of the hundreds of delegates and guests, will be a children's "pet and novelty" parade for Wednesday, July 13, by Dave Holtzman. Chief among other entertaining features will be the government troops from Vancouver barracks, 171 strong, under command of Captain R. E. G. Ople; several units of the national guard, the Dugout, night dances, and teas and special entertainment for the ladies.
