Voluntary Compliance in Control Law Urged at Convention Here

He said the balance of power between "wets" and "drys" in Oregon is held by a small group which believes control embodies less evil than prohibition and that for this reason the law will never be liberalized. Declaration that Oregon is the second best regulated state, with Virginia ranking first, was made by George F. Paulsen of the Oregon Brewers' association, who said the proposal to sell beer through state stores was impracticable. Both he and Jack Edwards, spokesman for the distributors' organization, commended the self-enforcement policy of the dispensers' group.

An educational program to counteract the abuses which have led to agitation against wines, is planned by the Oregon wine commission. Arthur E. House, public relations man for that organization, announced.

James Linn of Salem, recounting the history of fermented beverages which he said dates back to 1300 BC in Egypt, declared Oregon was most favorably situated for production of hops and barley, yet too many of the beer consumed here was imported from other states. He urged greater support for the home product.

Charles A. Sprague, republican candidate for governor, as a guest speaker commended the dispensers on their program of compliance with the law and said that judging from his observations in recent travels, Oregon's control system was among the best.

Two More British Ships Are Bombed

Chamberlain promised his critics nothing and awaited the return of the British commercial agent, Sir Robert M. Hodgson, Britain's representative in insurgent Spain, who is expected to bring a conciliatory explanation of such attacks from Generalissimo Franco.

It was possible that mounting British anger over repeated attacks on British shipping today's war the 58th and 59th since the war started—might force Chamberlain to keep Sir Robert at home and restrict the semi-diplomatic relations with Franco.

Some quarters admitted that even Franco might be unable to curb the operations of his German and Italian pilots and planes—men and equipment from two countries which Chamberlain is doing his utmost to "appease."

Rout Canadian Jobless From Vancouver Postoffice

Climaxing a riot staged by 550 unemployed sitdown strikers in Vancouver, B. C., postoffice, Royal Mounted Police and city constables routed the jobless from the building with tear gas. The strikers had occupied the postoffice since May 20 demanding increased relief funds. Battling against eviction, the sitdowners wrecked the interior of the building and smashed every window on the lower floor before they were finally routed. Photo shows one man, overcome by tear gas, lying on the sidewalk. Another is shown being taken from the building. Note the heavy tearproof goggles worn by the constables. Twenty were arrested soliciting contributions.

Election Activity Charge Ruled out

NLRB Examiner Rejects Claim Involving Part in Local Campaign

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., June 27.—(AP)—Employers may support union or non-union political candidates without violating the Wagner labor act, a labor board examiner ruled in effect today.

Examiner George Bokst dismissed charges that the American Rolling Milling company violated the act by campaigning through supervisory officers in behalf of Ashland, Ky., municipal candidates with anti-union sympathies.

"The board does not forbid exercise of citizenship or liberties in violation of the constitutions of the United States and Kentucky," Bokst declared.

Bokst ruled following a vigorous plea from "Donald Richberg, former NRA administrator, that the charges were "flagrantly unconstitutional" and would subject business to "intimidation by the threat of prosecution."

The examiner took under advisement the company's request for dismissal of charges that it engaged in a nationwide conspiracy against collective bargaining and dissemination of anti-union propaganda.

Call Goes out for 49 CCC Recruits

The Marion county relief committee yesterday issued a call for 49 junior CCC recruits. Glenn C. Niles, executive secretary, urged young men interested to apply at the relief office, 357 North High street, as soon as possible. Applicants must be between 17 and 23 years of age, inclusive.

The new enrollees probably will be sent to camps on July 7, Niles said. They are expected to be sent to Camp Marys Creek, near Detroit, and Camp Belknap, on the McKenzie highway.

Swegle School Addition Work Starts Wednesday

Construction of the two-room and gymnasium addition for which the Swegle school voters approved a $12,000 bond issue Saturday will start Wednesday, G. R. Boatwright, district WPA engineer, announced yesterday.

He said that despite the late start of the project an attempt would be made to complete it in time for the opening of school next fall.

Swegle Approves Bond Issue for new School

SWEGLE—The voters on the issuing of bonds for $12,000 for the schoolhouse addition resulted in a 23 yes and 21 no vote. The first bond election was nullified because of a legal technicality.

The request for WPA help in building has been approved and work will start as soon as the bonds are sold. The plans call for a two room addition and auditorium with basement large enough for central heating system and fuel supply.

Federal Fisheries Allocations Made

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—The bureau of fisheries was allocated $1,955,359 by the public works administration today for 78 projects in 39 states, including Butte Falls, $15,000, and Clackamas, $15,000, in Oregon.

Oregon allotments were for repairs, improvements and further development of fish cultural stations.

Water Held Safe In State Building

Secretary of State Earl Snell yesterday received official notice from the Salem water department that tests had proven water in the state office building safe for drinking purposes.

Flushing of the water systems in the office building and the new capitol over the weekend cleared the water in both structures.

State employees were warned last Wednesday not to drink water from the office building system when it was announced by the water department that a cross-connection between the city and a private state system had been allowed to exist at the capitol and that the private system water, unchlorinated, may have reached the office building.

Willamette River Salmon Run Huge

ASTORIA, Ore., June 27.—(AP)—The Willamette river's salmon run is one of the heaviest in years, Hugh C. Mitchell, director of fish culture for the state fish commission, declared today, inferentially contradicting stories of the "lost" Columbia river via the Columbia.

He said the runs on all Willamette tributaries and on the McKenzie and south Santiam were normal or above.

Mitchell feels that pre-season escapement up the Columbia through Bonneville dam was probably large, pointing out that checkers were not established at the dam until the commercial fishing season started May 1.

Account Numbers Sought by Young

More Than One-Third of Applications From Young Workers

More than one-third of the applications for social security account numbers filed during recent months have come from young persons not more than 25 years of age, the social security board announced yesterday in a report released by Ben O. Lipscomb, Salem manager.

Since last December, the report stated, 2,417,983 applications for account numbers have been filed, bringing the total on May 31 to 39,106,331. An analysis of applications since December shows approximately 36 per cent filed by persons not more than 25 years old; of these, about one-third were young women.

At the other end of the age scale an increase was also noted in applications from persons 65 and over. These workers are not included under the old-age insurance system, but account numbers are issued to them for keeping their wage records under state unemployment insurance laws.

In addition to the normal registration of new workers it was said that applications are also being received from persons previously employed in excluded occupations who later take jobs covered by old-age insurance.

Among the exempted groups are farm laborers, domestic servants, employees of non-profit organizations, seamen, the self-employed and a few others.

The advisory council on social security has recently recommended the inclusion of non-profit organizations in the near future. The council and the social security board are also studying ways and means of extending the system to other groups.

McCormick Quest Proves Fruitless

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 27.—(AP)—Search for missing Medill McCormick reached an apparent stalemate today with a complete absence of clues to his fate on storm-blown Santa Fe peak.

Half of a contingent of 120 CCC enrollees were withdrawn tonight from the search for the 21-year-old publishing heir, and all but two or three of a dozen veteran mountain climbers prepared to return to their homes.

An impenetrable as the black clouds shrouding the mountain summits during the day was the mystery surrounding the youth's whereabouts. The rocky cliffs which Friday yielded up the body of 20-year-old Richard Whitmer, McCormick's mountain-climbing companion, disclosed nothing of Medill's fate.

Today's search was hindered by sudden mountain rain squalls.

Bolivia-Paraguay Dispute Renewed

BUENOS AIRES, June 27.—(AP)—A new threat of war between Bolivia and Paraguay over the dismal Chaco wilderness grew tonight, as representatives of six neutral countries struggled to prevent a breakdown in territorial negotiations.

The neutrals are trying to fix a definite boundary to end a century old dispute over the Chaco area, as large as continental Italy, but of doubtful economic value.

Paraguay's aspirations to retain nearly all the territory gained in the three-year war from 1932 to 1935, and refusal to yield Bolivia a port on the Upper Paraguay river deadlocked the conversations.

Democratic Committee Meet Set Week Later

PORTLAND, June 27.—(AP)—The democratic state central committee meeting originally set for July 9 has been rescheduled for July 16, Nadine Strayer, Baker, acting chairman, said today.

School Budget Increase Seen

Expenditures to Exceed Half Million; not 6 per Cent Boost

(Continued from page 1) amounting to $23,479, is offset in part by a $16,011 gain in estimated receipts. Approximately a $4000 increase is necessary to allow for routine increases under the salary schedule giving teachers credit for service, travel and training.

The allowance for capital outlays is raised from $9555 to $15,560 to prove for equipment purchases, alterations and repairs that have been put off in recent years.

Receipts are estimated as follows: Cash carried over, $8641.47, a $1641.47 increase; county school fund, $70,000, a $4500 increase; state school fund, $10,200, a $665 increase; state elementary fund, $30,000; unchanged; vocational reimbursements, $6506.61; an $837.61 increase; non-high school district tuition, $8,000, a $183 decrease; elementary tuition, $506, a $200 increase; rentals, $8800, not in 1937-38 budget.

Wild Contests on Softball Diamond

The Dealers scored once in the second with R. Gentskow drawing a pass, being wild-pitched to second, taking third on Brother Bernie's infield out and scoring on Weisner's dribble to first. They came back with their second in the third, Henry Singer singling, reaching second on D'Arcy's infield out, taking third on Brother Lou's wallop to right and scoring on W. Gentskow's bouncer to Dick at second, the fast double-killing, Shortstop Dunn to Steelhammer, nipped a Dealer opportunity in the sixth.

Crowfoot, though not whiffing his usual number, had the dirt boys hitting "em into the air. First Baseman Steelhammer received credit for 19 putouts.

Transient Killed On Railway Track

A nap on the Oregon Electric rails at the foot of Mission street proved fatal to Jimmy Morris, transient cherry picker early Sunday morning, as a freight train running over him before the train's headlights could pick him out.

Dick Moss, engineer of the train, said it was approaching on a curve and that Morris was apparently asleep.

The deceased was identified by companions of a jungle camp on Owens street, Lee Leford and J. R. Carson. All three had been picking cherries recently on the Christofferson place five miles south of town.

It was said that Morris claimed to have an uncle, John E. Morris, in Dallas, Texas, and a brother working for a cold storage firm there. The body is being held for possible directions from relatives, which had not come last night.

WPA Chief Takes Hand in Politics

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—A WPA leader's appeal to organized relief recipients to "get out and work" to keep "liberals" in control of the government stirred critical interest on Capitol hill tonight.

Senator King (D. Utah) said the speech, which was made by Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, might justify an investigation of WPA by a senatorial committee. There have been frequent charges, in congress and elsewhere, of "politics in relief."

Williams told a delegation of the workers' alliance, a relief labor organization, that "friends" of the jobs should be maintained in power. The Roosevelt administration, he added, had shown "what the government should do" for the unemployed.

Relief Board Reports to Governor 30,676 May Relief Cases

Approximately 29 out of every 1000 residents of Oregon received relief during the month of May, the state relief committee reported to Governor Charles H. Martin Monday.

The report showed a total of 30,676 relief cases during the month or a decrease of 3.7 per cent from April. Of these 37 per cent were direct relief recipients, 45.1 per cent old age pensioners, 5.7 per cent dependent children and 1.4 per cent blind pensioners.

The cost of the state's relief program in May aggregated $624,110. The direct relief load dropped 14.3 per cent from the previous month, old age pensions increased 3.5 per cent, dependent children rose 8.6 per cent and the number of blind pensioners increased 2.1 per cent.

He also said a proposed $100,000,000 deal in Nebraska would be eligible for RFC money. The proposal has been made that three PWA power projects there buy out all the major private utilities in the state.

The chairman said he already had sent an agent to the Columbia river area to investigate the loan prospects. He made it plain, however, that his offer was limited to areas where federal or PWA power developments created a special competitive problem and that he was not inviting municipalities elsewhere to apply.
