In the Valley Social Realm

LEBANON—A wedding of interest to many friends was solemnized Thursday night when Miss Dana Oldham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Oldham of Lebanon and Dr. Floyd Dunnaven, son of Mrs. G. H. Dunnaven of St. Paul, Minn., took their marriage vows before an altar banked with regal lilies in the Presbyterian church.

The wedding march was played by Charlotte Bohle who also accompanied Mrs. Harold Irving who sang: "I Love You Truly" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" preceding the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an empire dress of white jersey silk and a circular finger tip veil with lace cap. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Whelan who wore a shell pink gown and carried blue and pink forget-me-nots and sweet peas.

The little flower girls, nieces of the bride, Laura Sturges of Washington, D. C. and Margaret Howe, wore pink Anne Hathaway frocks and carried forget-me-nots.

Dr. H. J. Whelan was best man and Mr. Frank Groves and Mr. R. D. Waddell were ushers. At the reception following in the social rooms of the church Mrs. S. M. Garland, Mrs. N. M. Newport, Mrs. S. I. Stewart, Mrs. Walter Golden and Mrs. C. M. Cheadle, presided at various times at the punch bowl. Cakes were served by Mrs. Homer Dowd and Mrs. Ralph Reeves. Misses Doris Loftin, Kee Buchanan, Virginia Hall, Frances and Viola Noyes, Marilyn Scroggin and Marian Michelson assisted about the rooms.

On the return of Mr. and Mrs. Dunnaven from a trip to Oregon beaches, they will be at home in the Normandie apartments, Riverside drive, in the Evergreen Highland district of Vancouver, Wash.

Mrs. Dunnaven, for a number of years on the school faculty of Lebanon, attended Monmouth normal and George Washington university in Washington, D. C.; Dr. Dunnaven attended the University of Minnesota and the university medical school.

"Everything's ready—but now there's no room for the cards!" What with candy, nuts, ashtrays and iced drinks to ease the hours of bridge, this is apt to happen. But for the occasion—especially for a dinner or bridge as an "occasion," here are two frocks that rise right up to meet it. A starched white Venise lace shoulder yoke frosts the black silk dress down to the end of a long pointed V. White pleats, starting below shoulder and crossing over to hem, front for the chic black and white idea on the right.—Copyright, 1938, Esquire Features, Inc.

Estimate on '38 Hop Crop Is Low

Outlook now is for 85,000 to 90,000 Bales, as Against 110,000

Pacific coast hop markets were dull and inactive during the week ended June 29, reflecting slow demand from domestic dealers and industries and moderate to light offerings by growers, according to the Weekly Hop Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Quotations to growers were nominally unchanged from those for the previous week, with lack of selling pressure providing a steady market influence.

Domestic consuming interests were reported supplying current needs from deliveries on contracts and foreign demand was negligible, making for generally quiet situation in the spot market. The trade generally was awaiting further developments regarding the Hop Marketing Agreement and 1938 crop prospects before making commitments.

Oregon Hop Markets Quiet Oregon hop markets were quiet and inactive. Sales by Oregon growers consisted of occasional small lots at prices about unchanged from other recent weeks, the current market being reported at around 11c to 13c per pound, net growers, for 1937 supplies. Latest trade surveys of the 1938 crop prospects in this state indicate the crop has not progressed as favorably as was estimated earlier in the season.

Yields are now expected to be materially below those of a year ago in many yards and while it is too early for accurate estimates of the output this season, a production of 85,000 to 90,000 bales as against around 110,000 bales harvested in 1937, in Oregon.

No contracts were reported written in Oregon during the past week and no interest was shown in 1935 or 1936 crop hops, values of which were only nominal.
